PRESIDENT PAYS CLARK TRIBUTE AT MEMORIAL

Speech Lauds Spirit of Pioneers.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Picture on Back Page.)

ABOARD PRESIDENTIAL SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today expounded another lesson in history in which he made a carefully calculated appeal for New Deal votes on a further pitting of class against class.

Pausing on his way back to the White House from a series of political speeches which advance notices said would be purely historical, Mr. Roosevelt dedicated a towering limestone memorial on the banks of the Wabash river to George Rogers Clark, conqueror of the northwest.

In the dedication he returned to the theme he developed in his speech Friday at Dallas and assailed those whom brain trusters believe have more than a just share of the world's goods. He added an epithet to those coined in the past week and called them "moral defectives."

Asks Religious Tolerance.

"We do not change our form of free government," he said, "when we arm ourselves with new weapons against new devices of crime and cupidity."

In another breath to take the stigma of political campaigning on the Sabbath from his address he made a plea for religious tolerance. This, too, he rooted in history by pointing to the religious freedom clause of the ordinance of 1787.

The President arrived in Vincennes and put his foot on the politically doubtful middle west at 10 o'clock Chicago time, cutting across the southern portion of Illinois in early morning. He drove through lined streets to the memorial, where 30,000 persons were gathered on a landscaped lawn.

The first radio voice of the land appeared to be worn by the two major and many minor talks of the past week.

Police Shatter Picture Plate.

In leaving the historical shrine an incident marred the solemnity of the occasion. Mr. Roosevelt had been forced to take to a wheel chair to make the rising ascent to the memorial's pillars. The ascent was screened from the public by walls of canvas on either side of the winding ramp.

In the descent a photographer snapped a picture of Mr. Roosevelt leaving his chair. A half dozen secret service men went into action and ordered confiscation and destruction of the plate. Over the photographer's protests state police shattered the plate.

The memorial stands on the site of Fort Sackville, which the 26 year old Clark heroically wrested from the British to enable the United States to win title to the northwest. After lauding Clark and two of the men who aided him, Father Gibault and Francis Vigo, Mr. Roosevelt said: "In his day among the pioneers there were jumpers of land claims and those who sought to swindle their neighbors though they were poor in this world's goods and lived in sparsely settled communities. Today among our teeming millions there still are those who by dishonorable means seek to obtain the possessions of their unwary neighbors.

Scores "Moral Defectives."

"Our modern civilization must constantly protect itself against moral defectives whose objectives are the same but whose methods are more subtle than their prototypes of a century and a half ago. We do not change our form of free government when we arm ourselves with new weapons against new devices of crime and cupidity."

The President went on to a defense of the AAA subsidies to farmers, soil conservation, reforestation, and preservation of wild life. This he did in a series of challenging questions, each of which bore on the activities of an alphabetical unit and were dovetailed into history only by the statement that the pioneers little knew what their wrestling of nature's bounties would do to the country.

From Vincennes Mr. Roosevelt went on to Elizabethtown, Ky., where he entered an automobile and drove eleven miles to Hodgenville and the memorial housing the cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born. Mr. Roosevelt left Elizabethtown at 6 o'clock for Washington.

G.O.P. Chief Swats Farley 'Grab Gang'

HAMILTON CITES BROKEN FAITH OF DEMOCRACY

New Deal Afraid of Landon, He Says.

BY PARKE BROWN.

"Mr. Farley is of course both frightened and disappointed. He is clearly dissatisfied both with the Republican candidate for the presidency and with the Republican platform. That was one of the purposes of the Cleveland convention."

Those were a few of the words used yesterday by John D. M. Hamilton, the new chairman of the Republican national committee, to set James Aloysius Farley back on his heels. The Democratic generalissimo who does the rough work for the present administration was told succinctly that if he likes that kind of stuff that's what he'll get.

A Thought for "Big Jim."

The red headed young Kansan who managed the Landon pre-convention campaign and was promoted to head the G. O. P. for the November battle took his first opportunity to tell "Big Jim" that he and his friends probably couldn't understand the Cleveland platform and some of its wording such as "private honor and public faith." He said the country's problem was in getting rid of the Democratic "grab bag gang."

On the way from Cleveland to Chicago by plane yesterday he read newspaper accounts of a statement attributed to Farley. As he stepped from the plane at the Municipal airport for the few hours intervening before he resumed his journey homeward to Topeka, he manifested an anxiety to get at Mr. Farley at once.

"I'm going to the Palmer house," he said, "and 20 minutes after I get there I'll have something to say about Farley."

Text of His Statement.

His statement, except for the first paragraph quoted above, was as follows:

"Mr. Farley has been trying for months to prevent the nomination of Gov. Landon. He seems irritated that the party did not accept his impartial advice, and he expresses his irritation in his usual intemperate language.

"I am not particularly anxious to indulge in a battle of statements with Mr. Farley, but if he desires to continue during the coming weeks to misrepresent everything which is too honest for him to understand, I am perfectly willing to take issue with him. I shall, however, always feel some confusion during this campaign in answering Mr. Farley. If I knew whether he was making his statement as the postmaster general or the chairman of the Democratic national committee or the chairman of the New York state Democratic committee, I could probably answer him more effectively.

Admission by Silence.

"The Republican platform contained certain hard truths about the record of the New Deal which Mr. Farley does not seem to want to answer. By his silence I assume he admits that the entire indictment is true. As a matter of fact, he admits this by more than silence when he agrees that there are crucial domestic problems pressing for solution. There is a crucial domestic problem, and that is in getting rid of the present 'grab bag gang' in Washington.

"Mr. Farley says, 'The great game of deception will soon be under way.' The citizens of this country, including many of those who once belonged to the apparently defunct Democratic party, had thought that the game of deception had been going on at a high rate of speed for the last three and one-half years.

Not Surprised at Farley.

"I am not surprised that Mr. Farley should have seen fit to refer to Gov. Landon's interpretation of the monetary plank as a hazy one. For I know that anything having to do with a sound monetary system is hazy to Mr. Farley, and it is quite comprehensible that he should not have understood either Gov. Landon's interpretation or the platform which

Terror Drive Against Nazi Aids Reported

PARIS, June 14.—(AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Paris-Soir said in a dispatch tonight that a secret organization of the followers of Capt. Ernst Roehm, Brown Shirt leader slain in the Nazi "blood purge" of June, 1934, is waging a terrorist campaign of murder and threats against Nazi officials.

Even Reichsfuehrer Hitler, the report said, and other Nazi chieftains have received threatening letters from the "Roehm Racher" [Revenge Roehm] organization.

Initials Scrawled on Chest.

It was stated further that the bodies of many murdered Schutzstaffel [hand picked Hitler guards] and Storm Troop members have been found in isolated spots with the initials of the secret group "RR" scrawled over their chests in chalk.

Roehm had 20,000 Brown Shirt followers who swore to avenge their chieftain after the "blood purge," the dispatch declared. The Storm Troop officer was slain at Hitler's order in the 1934 "cleanup."

Because the high Nazi chiefs are too well guarded, the "Roehm Racher" has waged war on those factions of the Schutzstaffel and Storm Troop organization, which took leading rôles in the assassinations, the Paris-Soir reported.

Guard Against Riots.

A strict censorship has been imposed, making it impossible to estimate the number of men slain in the terrorist campaign, the newspaper added.

The reich government, badly worried, has taken special precautions against riots which may be led by the "Revenge Roehm" ring on the anniversary of the "blood purge," the dispatch said.

Berlin Ridicules Report.

BERLIN, June 14.—(AP)—A spokesman for the propaganda ministry said tonight a Paris newspaper story that Storm Troopers had been killed by followers of the late Ernst Roehm and that Reichsfuehrer Hitler had been threatened was "nonsense."

The ministry denied the existence of any "Roehm organization," adding "there never will be any."

He said such stories doubtless came from a book published in Switzerland by a German immigrant called, 'I Can No Longer Keep Still.'"

CHICAGO WOMAN DONS NATTY DIVING SUIT AND WEDS UNDERSEAS

Seattle, Wash., June 14.—(AP)—The bridal couple nearly suffocated and the minister's diving suit leaked, but the undersea wedding of Capt. John C. Benson, 73, San Francisco, and Mrs. Elizabeth Pardee, 57, Chicago, was accomplished at a beach here.

The bridegroom, attired in a natty diving suit, descended first to the ocean floor and Mrs. Pardee, similarly arrayed, was about to follow when the air pump jammed. A crew hauled Benson to the surface. Benson went down again after the pump was repaired. The lady followed. Once more the pump jammed and the crew yanked the couple out. Eventually the crew tinkered the pump into working order and lowered the couple to the ocean floor.

The Rev. Jess D. O'Powers, connected to Benson and Mrs. Pardee by telephone wires, went overboard. Quick yanks on his rope indicated he wanted to come up.

While Benson and Mrs. Pardee waited under water the crew lifted the preacher out and discovered his diving suit was leaking in one arm. Patching stopped the leak and he submerged and the ceremony went forward.

50 YEAR ROMANCE ENDS IN A GAS FILLED COTTAGE

Behind the locked doors of a gas filled cottage at 2836 Arthington street, Marquette police last night found the end of a 50 year romance in the deaths of Edward Barnes, 75 years old, and his wife Katherine, 74 years old.

Since retiring as a jeweler for a mail order house several years ago, Barnes suffered severe financial reverses, according to neighbors, but managed to eke out a bare existence repairing clocks. The devoted couple refused to accept relief, but had applied for and been granted old age pensions.

Recently Mrs. Barnes became ill. The aged couple were last seen Thursday. When police summoned by neighbors broke into the house last night, their bodies lay side by side on a bed. Mrs. Barnes had died three days ago of her illness. Barnes had committed suicide by connecting a rubber hose to an open gas jet and inhaling the fumes.

Chesterton, Noted British Author, Dies

BEACONSFIELD, England, June 14.—(AP)—Gilbert Keith Chesterton, 62, distinguished English author and critic, died today of a heart attack after a week's illness.

"G. K.," as he was generally known, became ill when he returned from a holiday in France. His wife was present when he died. The funeral will be Wednesday.

Chesterton, whose original ambition was to be an artist, was born in Kensington, London. He left St. Paul's school to study art, but found, through writing art criticism for "The Bookman," that his talent lay in literature. "The Wild Knight," a volume of poetry, was published in 1900, after which he became a regular contributor to liberal journals.

Published His Own Weekly.

His writings gained popularity until fifteen magazines and newspapers in London used them, including his own G. K.'s Weekly of literary and political discussion established in 1926. Chesterton was versatile, writing fiction, verse, artistic criticism, and essays. Among his more than half a hundred books were "The Ballad of the White Horse" "The Napoleon of Notting Hill," "The Ball and the Cross."

Chesterton loved to write something incongruous and was called "prince of paradoxes." Combative, unconventional, and dogmatic, his was a distinctive style. His outspoken criticisms in addresses and writings frequently led to controversies. He visited the United States several times and prohibition drew barbed shafts from him.

New York "Terrifying."

After his last visit in 1931 he called New York "terrifying" and said:

"I've been in Tennessee where, if a man insults you, you are expected to shoot him with a gun or you're not considered a gentleman. Call it barbarism or chivalry, it's the feudal spirit full of feud."

[When in Chicago in 1930 Chesterton advocated women's return to their duties as housewives and their escape from the "slavery" of industry, politics, and the professions.]

Converted to Catholicism in 1922, Chesterton became an outstanding champion of that church. One of the weightiest men in literature in a physical as well as a mental sense, Chesterton often joked about his bulk.

Holdup Killing Confessed by Two Brothers

Max Johnson, 17 years old, a baby faced gunman, confessed last night that he shot and killed Frederick Engberg, 38 years old, 2522 North Lotus avenue, a WPA worker, early Friday morning during an attempted robbery in which Johnson's older brother, Russell, 24 years old, also took part.

As soon as his brother confessed, Russell Johnson admitted his part in the murder. Both then named their cousin, Thomas Dinwiddie, 16 years old, 3844 Wrightwood avenue, as their accomplice in another shooting, but said he was not with them the night of the Engberg murder. Dinwiddie, a sophomore at the Carl Schurz High school, was arrested and confessed.

Seized Through an Error.

The brothers made their confessions 20 hours after Sergt. William Cox arrested them in their first floor flat at 2234 North Springfield avenue. Sergt. Cox had gone to the building in connection with another investigation and rang the Johnson bell by mistake.

Seeing a blood stained bandage about the head of Russell, Sergt. Cox decided both boys warranted questioning.

Russell soon began confessing a series of robberies, apparently in an effort to shield his younger brother. The wound in his head, Russell said, was made by a police bullet early Saturday in a chase after he had staged a dozen robberies.

Confesses 400 Crimes.

Last evening, the younger Johnson cracked under repeated questioning and admitted taking part with Russell in nearly 400 crimes since April 19.

When the brothers were identified by two men they robbed early Friday near the time and place of the Engberg murder, Sergt. Cox felt he was near a confession. These robberies were of Sam Elman, 5255 School street, at 4:30 a. m. at his news agency, at 2658 North Austin avenue, and of two street car conductors at Austin and Grand avenues at 5:10 a. m.

Engberg was slain at Lavergne and Fullerton avenues at 4:40 o'clock that morning. This is a short distance from Elman's office.

"Sure I Killed Him."

"Sure I killed him," said Max finally, without a trace of emotion. "Russell stayed in the car while I walked Engberg into an alley. He said he had no money, and as he started to take off his wrist watch he grabbed for my gun. I pulled the trigger. He said 'O!' and fell down."

The shooting in which their cousin took part was that of Eugene H. Nelson, 2152 North Le Claire avenue, on May 31.

Mrs. Lillian Lamberton, mother of the Johnsons, was taken into custody, but Sergt. Cox said he believed she had no knowledge of their crimes. In a basement at the home, he found two pairs of brass knuckles and two revolvers, one of which was used in the Engberg murder.

VETERANS GET $267,500,000 IN CHICAGO REGION

Arrange Quick Cash for Today's Bonds.

WHERE TO GO

A list of postal stations and special bonus postal units at which veterans may have their bonds certified for immediate payment will be found on page 2.

Delivery of $267,500,000 in bonus bonds and checks to 500,000 world war veterans in the Chicago [seventh] federal reserve district began early this morning. According to C. P. Scheel, superintendent of registry at the Chicago postoffice, all the bonds and checks were sent before midnight to postal substations and to special bonus postal centers in armories and schools throughout the city, and every detail was ready for handling the distribution without a hitch.

The Chicago postoffice has dispatched the bonus envelopes to all recipients in the seventh federal reserve district, which embraces all Iowa and most of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan. The southern parts of Indiana and Illinois are in the St. Louis district and the northern stretches of Wisconsin and Michigan lie in the Minneapolis district.

150,000 in City to Benefit.

Of the 500,000 bonus recipients in the Chicago reserve district, Mr. Scheel estimated that 150,000 live in Chicago, 50,000 in the remainder of Cook county, and 40,000 in the downstate portion of Illinois which lies in the seventh district.

Since the average bonus is $535, it is computed that this postoffice will distribute a total of $267,500,000, of which $107,000,000 is to go to Cook county's 200,000 ex-service men.

At midnight last night the last batch of bonds and checks was sent out to second and third class postoffices in the seventh federal reserve district. The first class postoffices and all substations and special postal units in the Chicago area already received their consignments earlier.

Deliveries Start at 7:30 a. m.

Letter carriers of the Chicago postoffice, which serves all the city and Cicero, are taking the bonus envelopes out on their regular 7:30 o'clock deliveries this morning.

The postman is permitted to turn over the veteran's envelope only if he knows him, or if some one known to the carrier identifies the recipient.

The delivery will continue all day and tomorrow and a special delivery will be made tomorrow night for those who do not receive their bonus on the regular deliveries. The evening delivery is necessary because the registered mail envelopes must be delivered to the veterans in person.

Arrangements vary for delivery in the suburbs. Many will make a special evening delivery tonight—namely: Berwyn, Chicago Heights, Des Plaines, Evanston, Glencoe, Oak Park, Park Ridge, Riverside, Waukegan, Wilmette, and Winnetka. Downers Grove will follow the same procedure as Chicago.

Veterans Asked to Call.

In most of the smaller suburbs the postoffices will be open this evening and the veterans are requested to come in to get their envelopes. Among these suburbs are Barrington, Harvey, Highland Park, Lake Forest, and North Chicago. In other suburbs—among them Blue Island, Elmhurst, and La Grange—delivery will be made at American Legion meetings tonight. La Grange letter carriers will take non-Legionnaires' missives to their homes.

At Hines Memorial hospital 1,750 veterans will receive their bonuses by special delivery this morning.

The bonus is being paid in $50 bonds with odd amounts in negotiable checks. The bonds, which draw interest at 3 per cent a year until their maturity in 1945, are non-negotiable but arrangements have been made to enable the recipients to convert them into cash within two days.

How to Get the Cash.

The first step in cashing the bond is to have it certified. This is to be done at the nearest postal substation or the one at which the veteran can be easiest identified. There are 44 substations in Chicago. The certification can be handled also at special postal units established in 18 schools and armories throughout the city, and additional postal units will be created in large business firms for the benefit of employés and at many American Legion posts.

The veteran will then leave his bonds at the substation or postal unit, which will forward them to the central bureau in the new Chicago postoffice. Within a day after the certification the veteran will receive a check for the amount of the bonds. At the Hines hospital the patients may have the bonds certified immediately on receipt.

Keep Bonds, Legion Urges.

L. R. Benston, department service officer of the American Legion in Chicago, announced that more than five hundred Legionnaires will be stationed at the subpostoffices and other certifying offices to aid in identification of veterans. Benston said the Legion was urging every veteran to retain all of the bonds possible because each $50 bond will be worth $63.50 if not canceled before 1945.

"A great portion of the public seems to believe that the average veteran will get little good out of his bonds or that many veterans will squander the proceeds," Benston said. "It is well to point out that records of the Veterans' administration show that more than 74,000 veterans had not made application for the original certificate until the passage of the recent law.

Expects Prudent Use of Funds.

"The records further show that more than 300,000 veterans never borrowed on their original certificates, although they could have. We believe most of the veterans will use their bonds for legitimate purposes and where they will do the most amount of good."

During the last few days Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen of Chicago has been answering many questions arising out of the bonus distribution. One query is whether a veteran who has moved since he made his bonus application will have his bonus forwarded if he has left an address with the postoffice but not with the Veterans' administration. Kruetgen said that if the veteran still resides within the delivery limits of the Chicago postoffice the bonds will be forwarded, but if he has filed a change of address to another city, the bond will be returned to the treasury department at Washington.

The Matter of Identification.

All bonds will be held at the postoffice for thirty days before being returned to the treasury department and the veteran can obtain them at any time during that period. Wives and neighbors can identify the veteran if they are known to the letter carrier making the delivery.

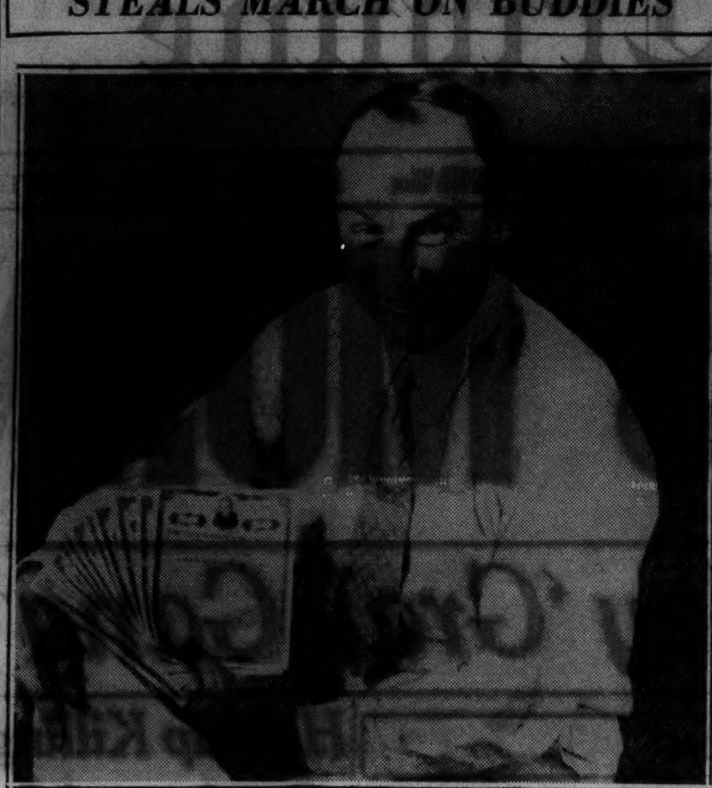
JEWS HERE PLAN STUDY OF LARGE SIBERIA COLONY

Preparations for sending a delegation of three persons to survey the Biro-Bidjan Jewish colonization project in far eastern Siberia, were made last night by Jewish groups of Chicago and vicinity, at a dinner at the Hotel La Salle and at a mass meeting at the Hotel Sherman.

The Biro-Bidjan area, covering some 6,250,000 square miles of bleak territory just north of the Manchukuan frontier on the Amur river, is to become an autonomous soviet Jewish state in 1937.

Among speakers who favored the project last evening were Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court and Rabbi George Fox of the South Shore congregation.

STEALS MARCH ON BUDDIES



L. O. Powell, war veteran, in Augusta, Ga., yesterday with bonus bonds which he received two days ahead of schedule. The premature arrival was attributed to a mistake. Powell is expecting to become a father within a few days.

2,670,000 BONUS LETTERS IN MAIL FOR VETS TODAY

First Bonds Will Go to Hospital Patients.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—At midnight tonight 2,670,000 envelopes containing cashable bonus bonds will begin moving through the mails to all parts of the United States and veterans in the larger cities will receive their bonuses by tomorrow night.

The first delivery will be made to a veteran, as yet unselected, at the Walter Reed hospital here, with treasury and postoffice department officials participating in the ceremony tomorrow morning.

Treasury Force Busy.

Employés of the division of loans and currency of the treasury department worked most of last night and again today preparing the envelopes for distribution of the bonds. It was announced that nearly 3,000,000 applications have been approved to date and that 3,517,000 veterans are entitled to payment, which will reach 2 billion 237 million dollars.

The bonds will be mailed from Washington and from eleven federal reserve bank cities, with the fastest means of transportation. However, postoffice officials said it would be Tuesday or Wednesday before many of the bonds could be delivered and urged veterans to be patient.

Night Deliveries Planned.

Night deliveries are being planned for many of the larger cities and veterans are asked to stay at home if the bonds haven't arrived by evening.

The ceremony at Walter Reed hospital will signify the end of a 17 year legislative battle for payment of a bonus to the veterans of the war of 1917-'18. The payment puts an end to a political issue that has been dramatized by "bonus marches" and presidential vetoes and puts a huge hole in the treasury, running this year's deficit up to approximately 6 billion dollars.

SPRECKELS HEIR, 11 OTHERS HURT; BOAT HITS CROWD

Racer Leaps from Water; Plows Into Spectators.

Seattle, Wash., June 14.—(AP)—Adolph Spreckels, wealthy sportsman, was injured seriously today when he lost control of an outboard motorboat and the craft raced up the beach of Green lake, hurtled through a crowd of spectators and crashed on top of a sound truck. Eleven spectators also were hurt.

Spreckels was thrown high in the air against a telephone pole, where he hung suspended by an arm from one of the climbing steps until removed by spectators and rushed to a hospital.

Automatic Throttle Jams.

The young sportsman, formerly of Seattle but now of Eugene, Ore., had finished one heat of a race and was headed toward the landing float when the automatic throttle on his boat apparently jammed. The boat raced for the beach, leaped high as it struck the land and catapulted Spreckels into the air. The boat skidded along the ground and finally bounded upon the truck.

None of the spectators was believed seriously hurt, with the possible exception of Ord Lockhart of Seattle, who was watching the races from a wheel chair. He was taken to a hospital. Attendants said the extent of his injuries probably would not be fully determined for some time.

Member of Sugar Family.

Spreckels is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Spreckels II. and the grandson of the late John D. Spreckels, of the California sugar family.

Long prominent in outboard motorboat racing circles, Spreckels recently announced he was "through with racing," but borrowed a boat from Finley Webb, Wenatchee, Wash., driver, to enter the regatta.

Others injured included Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Syrygen, cuts and bruises; George Shogren, 11 years old, cut on head; his mother Mrs. S. K. Shogren, cuts and bruises. All are Seattle residents. Many of those struck by the careening boat were treated at the lake for minor hurts.

DR. CHAS. GARTIN DROWNS IN LAKE OFF GARY BEACH

Dr. Charles Gartin, 5000 South Ashland avenue, was drowned in Lake Michigan off Carr's beach, Gary, last evening. He had gone out to swim with some friends who were visiting his summer cottage there. He failed to return to shore and his companions started a search for him. They discovered his body. Dr. Gartin was about 50 years old. He was a graduate of the Loyola university medical school and was formerly chief surgeon for Wilson & Co., packers.

AGED AUTO HITS MOTHER AND HER BABY; RUNS AWAY

2 Occupants Quit Car, but Are Captured.

Two men who fled in an ancient automobile without license plates after striking and seriously injuring a mother and her 6 month old child at Colvin street and Western avenue last night, were arrested later when they went to the Hudson avenue police to report the car stolen.

The victims of the fleeing driver are Mrs. Helen Tillwach, 29 years old, 2312 Altgeld street, and her daughter, Grace. Both were treated at the County hospital and taken home. The accident was witnessed by Mrs. Tillwach's husband, Fred, and their two older children.

Fugitives Leave Machine.

Edward Kicinski, 2426 Coyne street, pursued the fugitive car. When he neared it at Lyndale and Powell streets the men abandoned the machine and ran away. The police traced the car by its motor number to Tony Farina, 1815 Clybourn avenue.

He said that he had lent the automobile to his son, Carlo Farina, 22 years old, and Louis Siracusa, 23 years old, 924 Cambridge avenue. He added that they had gone to report the theft. When they were seized young Farina admitted that he had been drinking and that he was driving when the accident occurred.

Woman Injured in Crash.

Mrs. Anna Vesely, 58 years old, 5013 31st place, Cicero, was seriously injured yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another at 18th street and Wesley avenue, Berwyn, and turned over. Her son, George Vesely, 33 years old, 5332 30th place, Cicero, and two of his children, who were in the car, suffered slight hurts. The second car was driven by Mrs. Emily Cook, 37 years old, 1614 Highland avenue, Berwyn, who was not injured.

Mrs. Suzanne Skokan, 66 years old, 726 North Hamlin avenue, was taken to St. Mary's hospital last night after she had been struck by an automobile at Milwaukee and Maplewood avenues. Physicians said her right leg was fractured and that she was cut and bruised. Mrs. Mary Provenzano, 34 years old, 5236 Parker avenue, driver of the car, was charged with driving recklessly on a complaint signed by Mrs. Skokan's daughter, Mrs. Martha Chirempes, of the Hamlin avenue address, and will be arraigned in the jury court today.

George Walters, 67 years old, 8519 Arnold street, River Grove, died yesterday in the Oak Park hospital from injuries incurred Thursday at River road and Grand avenue, River Grove, when he was struck by the automobile of Arnold Musolf, 1437 North Lorel avenue.

The number of persons killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1 stood at 448 at 4 p. m. yesterday. In the same period within the city limits 350 were killed and 7,452 injured.

TWO YOUTHFUL SWIMMERS DIE IN QUARRY POOLS

Two youths were drowned yesterday in quarry pools near Chicago.

Edwin Sidradzki, 16 years old, 5132 South Bishop street, lost his life when he was attacked by cramps in the pool at 125th street and Western avenue, Blue Island. Five companions who had gone swimming with him were unable to reach him before he sank.

The second victim was Henry Smith, 18 years old, 345 Harlem avenue, River Forest. He sank after starting to swim across the pool in Torrode's quarry south of Elmhurst.

Policemen of the Willow Springs highway station yesterday recovered the body of Joseph Lhotack, 28 years old, 5231 South Fairfield avenue, who was drowned Saturday when he fell, while fishing, in the Walker quarry pool at Lemont.

JURY TO HEAR TRAGIC STORY OF 2 SUICIDES

Boy Star's Injury in Grid Game Is Blamed.

The story of a tragic football game which brought two years of mental anguish and ultimately death to a father and a son, will be heard today by a coroner's jury which will hold an inquest on the suicide Saturday evening of Owen Alexa, 18 years old, 610 South Prospect avenue, Park Ridge.

The youth was found dead, just at sundown, on the grave of his father, Adolph Alexa, in the Town of Maine cemetery, Dee road and Touhy avenue. Beside him lay a new .22 caliber rifle with which he had shot himself in the head. The boy's father died on April 7, in the County hospital from the effects of self-administered poison.

Relatives yesterday recounted the events leading up to the tragedy.

Honor Student and Athlete.

It all started in 1934, when as an honor student and star athlete at the Maine Township High school, the boy was the pride of his father's heart. That fall young Alexa played on the school football team and suffered a fracture of the skull while in one of the season's closing games.

At first it was believed the injury would be fatal but Owen was sent to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., and physicians there succeeded in saving his life. The boy's health was shattered, however, and he became subject to convulsions and fits of melancholia. He turned from his friends and, according to his sister, Mrs. Adra Kiel, with whom he lived, his condition gradually became worse and the convulsions more frequent.

Father Driven to Despair.

His father, who was 57 years old, was driven to distraction by his son's suffering. When he noted the changes in the boy he lost interest in life and swallowed poison on March 31. His death followed seven days later.

The death of the older man preyed upon the mind of the sickly boy. He remarked to his sister that he had been responsible for his father's suicide and for months of suffering preceding it. On Saturday he purchased the rifle and killed himself.

HURT WHEN RAILING BREAKS.

William Zintek, 60 years old, was taken to the Belmont hospital with a skull fracture after falling from the second floor of his home at 3055 Eldridge avenue when a porch railing gave way.

YOUNGEST GIRL PILOT OF FORT WORTH, TEX., DIES IN PLANE CRASH

Fort Worth, Tex., June 14.—(AP)—Fort Worth's youngest airplane pilot, 17 year old Reba Dee Gunn, died in the crash of her private plane at an emergency landing field three miles from the municipal airport today.

The girl was dead when motorists who saw the yellow monoplane suddenly dive to the ground, from a height of 200 feet, reached the wreckage.

A. W. Meadows, department of commerce inspector, said low flying and rough air were responsible.

'Chute Fails; Pilot Dies.

Aberdeen, Wash., June 14.—(AP)—Leland Pinkham, 30 years old, of Aberdeen, fell to his death here today when his parachute failed to open after he bailed out of a spinning airplane. Pinkham was flying at an altitude of 4,000 feet when the plane developed motor trouble. He maneuvered it away from the residential district and bailed out, but was too close to the ground for his parachute to open.

Student Pilot Hurt in Crash.

Portsmouth, O., June 14.—[U. P.]—Fred Rodgers, 25 years old, a mechanic and student pilot of Monongah, W. Va., was injured seriously late today when the plane he was piloting went into a spin at 1,000 feet and crashed in a cornfield. He was unable to account for the accident.

SPIRIT OF WEST ENLIVENS G. O. P. AS FIGHT BEGINS

Control of Party Passes from East.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—The talk of the east is the passing of control of the Republican party to the west. Every one in this region is theorizing on the causes and the implications of the phenomenon.

Both Gov. Landon, the candidate for President, and Col. Knox, the candidate for Vice President hail from the west. The platform is conspicuously flavored with the liberalism of the west, stemming from the progressive doctrines of the Bull Moose party of 1912 with which both candidates were affiliated. The mills of the gods ground so slowly that it took a quarter of a century for the party revolt led by Theodore Roosevelt to prevail.

Only Remnant Remains.

Most of the Old Guard who steam rollered Theodore Roosevelt at Chicago in 1912 are dead or retired to private life. More of them fell at Cleveland and only a ragged remnant of the veteran stalwarts remains on the national committee. New and younger men have come to the fore, among them 44 year old John Hamilton of Kansas, the new chairman of the national committee, who will direct the Landon campaign with a group of predominantly western men from headquarters at Chicago.

The spirit of youth and of the west pervades the campaign the Republicans are entering upon under the captaincy of their 48 year old candidate for President, a western farm town man. Like William Henry Harrison's log cabin and hard cider campaign of 1840 the Alf Landon canvass will breathe the philosophy and statesmanship of the rural west. Already making their appearance are the symbols of the Landon campaign, the oxen drawn prairie schooner and Stephen Foster's song, "Oh Susannah," which the '49ers chanted on their way to the promised land.

East Takes Back Seat.

The east has taken a back seat to the "typical prairie" states in the management of this campaign of the small town Kansan to unhorse the squire of Hyde Park, not, however, without mental reservations that if the west should fail in this high endeavor the east will have a valid claim to resume its sway of the party four years hence.

The chief rôle of the east this year is to be that of liberal contributor to the Landon campaign fund. In fact the contributing already has begun. Mr. Hamilton passed the hat among New York industrialists and obtained a generous portion of the $100,000 expended in the Landon campaign for the nomination. But none was allowed to give more than $2,500.

College Mates Contribute.

The first contributions came from college mates of the governor's, Missouri and Kansas newspaper men and political associates. They chipped in money or time to get the Landon canvass going with headquarters in a Kansas City hotel bedroom.

When John Hamilton, the Kansas national committeeman, and Roy C. Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star, decided that Mr. Landon had the proper equipment to contend for the nomination of 1936, he was literally unknown outside his small plains state.

From the moment the Kansas syndicate of editors and politicians decided that what they had intended as a bypath to the senate might be the winning road to a national convention, the greater design occupied them to the exclusion of everything else.

Mr. Landon was one of a handful of Republican governors or senators who had survived the crushing party defeats of 1932 and 1934. His family had made him geographically sound for the purposes of 1936 by removing in his youth from Ohio to Kansas. His business as an independent oil producer had the romantic flavor and offered the proper contrast to the moneybags of the big petroleum companies.

Fortunate in Friendships.

Fortunate in his emigration, his business and the friendships he had made at the State university, Mr. Landon was also fortunate in his predecessor as governor. Mr. Woodring had led a losing fight for a constitutional amendment to require all Kansas political divisions to live on a cash basis, as the state was required to do by a constitutional provision, dating from the last century.

Mr. Landon won this fight by advocating a statute to require it.

Although Kansas has shared more than 200 millions of the New Deal's bounty, and the governor himself once made a successful visit to Washington to get money for drouth relief, it was politically feasible to represent him as the incarnation of a budget balancer. This, joined to his modest mien, his average attainments and his willingness to avoid controversial expressions while his boom was in the making, enabled his cabinet to offer to the country an absolute contrast to the President.

Publicity Flowers.

Publicity flowed from Kansas, and flowered daily in the Kansas City Star. The attention of William Randolph Hearst, in search of a candidate against President Roosevelt, was attracted. He, with members of his staf, was an early pilgrim to Topeka and came away with praise on his lips. From the east came travelers, Ogden L. Mills, Eugene Meyer and many others, and they returned home enthusiastic over the campaign prospect if Mr. Landon were nominated.

At that stage of the absorbing game Republican defeatism was in the air. By general agreement the two leading men of the party could not get the nomination—Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mills. Senator Vandenberg, feeling then that 1940 was the first successful Republican presidential year in sight, discouraged efforts to promote his candidacy which would probably have been successful.

Senator Borah waited until the Landon movement had become strong before making his move, which from the first was strategy to control the platform. Col. Knox's hearty aspiration was set down as hopeless from the start, though possibly leading to a vice presidential nomination.

Bow to Inevitable.

Eastern Old Guard leaders started out to oppose Landon but they bowed to the inevitable when their constituencies uprose for the Kansan. Mr. Hoover had evinced a certain coolness toward the governor's candidacy and the Landon managers were a bit fearful that the former President would do or say something in Cleveland that would hurt their cause. The Landonites who were in control of the convention outdid themselves to cultivate the good will of Mr. Hoover. They helped to prolong the extraordinary ovation for Mr. Hoover when he appeared and they sent him away very happy. He made no trouble for Landon.

Likewise the Landonites courted Senator Borah. They deferred to him conspicuously in the writing of the platform. For the better part of two days William Allen White, Landon spokesman on the resolutions committee, was trotting back and forth between the committee room and Borah's room conducting the negotiations. Borah got pretty nearly everything he wanted and went away substantially satisfied. Though he had threatened to attack Landon at Cleveland he kept the peace and eventually withdrew in favor of Landon.

FAMOUS YUKON RIVER STEAMER HITS ROCK; SINKS

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory, June 14.—(AP)—The river steamer Klondike, once pride of the upper Yukon rivers, tonight was a shattered wreck on the bottom of the Teslin river, ninety miles north of here. The stern wheeler struck an uncharted rock Saturday and foundered in a few minutes. It was en route to Dawson.

Capt. C. M. Coghlan, master of the ship, said he believed it was a total loss. The keel and part of the planking was torn away. He placed the loss, including a heavy cargo, at $30,000.

Quick action of Capt. Coghlan in ordering the boats away as his ship struck and listed heavily saved the lives of the thirty passengers and the crew. The only casualties were two horses, stowed below decks.

She is wanted in California on a mayhem charge in connection with the sterilization of her daughter, Ann Cooper Hewitt.

DESERT HOMES AS STORM HITS FLORIDA COAST

Jacksonville, Fla., June 14.—(AP)—Many beach residents at resorts on the Florida central and lower west coast evacuated their homes tonight and moved into cities as a moderate tropical disturbance approached.

The weather bureau said the storm, which poured torrential rains over the coastal area, would pass inland in the vicinity of Fort Myers around midnight. The latter city reported a falling barometer with torrential downpours. The two of Everglades was cut off from communication.

Beach residents at Fort Myers, Sarasota, St. Petersburg, and other points moved to cities as the storm approached. At St. Petersburg yachts and other small craft left the yacht basin for protected harbors.

Driven to Second Stories.

Fort Myers, Fla., June 14.—(AP)—Sherif Bob King said tonight he was informed by telephone from Bonita Springs that the 400 residents there were driven to upper stories by the swollen waters of the Imperial river. The river was rising at the rate of an inch every five minutes. He said he was asked to have a drawbridge opened to allow waters to pass through a high embankment. Shortly afterward telephone communication with Bonita Springs failed.

At Naples, 40 miles south of here, it was reported the center of the storm had passed there. The wind was moderate, but the town is flooded by the terrific rain.

EXPECT LANDON WILL OPEN HIS DRIVE IN EAST

Chicago and New York Speeches Planned.

Topeka, Kas., June 14.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf Landon probably will open his campaign for the presidency of the United States by an early swing through the eastern part of the country, according to the tentative plans for the campaign revealed here by a spokesman close to the governor.

Under questioning the authoritative source defined "early" as the middle of August. No definite date for the beginning of the campaign can be set until the governor has conferred with advisers due to arrive from the east today and tomorrow.

The plans as they now stand call for speeches in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, with other centers to be added to the list later.

Dates to Be Determined.

"Dates for the trip have not even been considered as yet," the spokesman said. "It has not been decided where the first speech will be made, nor how much time will elapse between speeches."

Visitors from the east have been urging the governor to invade the enemy strongholds there with a fighting attack on the New Deal. Gov. Landon has been told that Chicago and New York demand a chance to see the man whom the Republicans called out of the middle west to lead the party to victory in November.

Local advisers feel that the governor's greatest chance for success in the campaign fight lies in the personal impression he makes on all those who meet him. It is as a man as well as a candidate that the voters should see the governor, his local advisers say.

Air of Determination.

The rugged jaw of the Republican candidate has taken on an even sturdier set since he received the nomination. The watchful waiting practiced by the governor during the trying days of the convention has given way to a new air of purposefulness and determination.

Gov. Landon has repeatedly reiterated his determination to make a vigorous, slashing attack on the New Deal forces now entrenched behind the money bags in Washington.

More definite plans for the attack will be made in the next two days in conferences with Republican leaders. No word has been received yet as to when Vice Presidential Candidate Frank Knox will arrive, although he is expected in not later than Tuesday.

John Hamilton, the national committee chairman, undoubtedly will arrive sometime in the morning. Formal conferences on the campaign plans, however, are not scheduled to begin until Tuesday. There were indications today that Hamilton's headquarters will be moved to Chicago.

Landons Attend Church.

The First Methodist church was crowded today when Gov. and Mrs. Landon arrived fifteen minutes before the services began at 11.

The governor drove his coupe from the executive mansion to a parking space a half block from the church. Friends crowded around to greet the Landons as they walked the remaining distance to the church.

Mrs. Landon wore a two piece silver gray net dress, a rose colored straw hat, matching shoes of gabardine trimmed with suede, and biege gloves. She appeared to be well rested after the strain of the last few days.

The governor repeatedly raised the new straw hat, presented to him yesterday by his friends from Independence, to the many who called a greeting. He wore a white linen suit [Mrs. Landon remarked that it came from New York], white shirt, a polka dot white tie, and brown and white shoes.

Daughter Rests at Home.

Peggy Anne, the governor's oldest daughter, did not attend church with her parents. She remained at home resting after the strain of her trip to the convention, as did her grandfather, John Landon. The two younger children, Nancy Joe, 3 years old, and John Cobb, 2 years old, have not yet reached an age when they may attend church.

As the Landons entered the church the governor paused on the top steps to say a "hello, boys" to the correspondents gathered there.

"I'm glad to see that so many of you have found your way to church this morning," he remarked with a twinkle in his eye.

Gov. and Mrs. Landon were ushered to the fifth pew on the center aile, one-half of which they occupied alone.

No Photographs Taken.

Photographers acceded to the request of the governor and the Rev. Harold C. Case, pastor of the church, that no pictures be taken today.

Both Gov. and Mrs. Landon took an active part in the service. They sang together the opening hymn of "Come Let Us Tune Our Loftiest Song."

During the pastor's prayer that followed the governor sat with folded arms and bowed head, raising his head only to join in the Lord's prayer.

Most of the women in the church vigorously waved the fans that are provided everywhere in this hot region, but Mrs. Landon did not use one. She appeared to be cooler than any one else in the church, though the governor occasionally found it necessary to wipe his brow.

"We ask thy blessing for those who are called to the posts of highest importance," the Rev. Case said in the prayer following the singing of the anthem, "Matins."

The scripture lesson was read from the 12th chapter of Paul's Letter to the Romans, taken from the Weymouth translation of the Bible.

Services of the First Methodist church are broadcast every Sunday through a Kansas City station.

The governor and Mrs. Landon joined in the singing of the hymn "Are Ye Able," which closed the services.

Dr. Case personally congratulated the governor and Mrs. Landon as they passed through the vestibule of the church on their way out. An urchin in overalls was the first of the crowd waiting on the steps of the church to shake hands with the governor.

For the next ten minutes the governor and his wife stood in the broiling sun greeting friends and visitors. As the crowd gradually cleared away the Landons strolled up the street to their car.

The governor declined to schedule any press conferences for today, contending that he should be allowed his day of rest.

"I'm not going to move out of the house all day," he told reporters who crowded about his car.

OTTO WADSTED.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The sacred heritage of liberty, safeguarded in the constitutions of both their countries, is the greatest bond linking the Danes and the American people, Otto Wadsted, minister to the United States from Denmark, told 4,000 Danish-Americans yesterday at a gathering in Ehrhardt's Grove, Park Ridge.

The occasion was the 87th anniversary of the adoption of the Danish constitution which has been observed by Danes for several weeks throughout the United States. Minister Wadsted arrived in Chicago Saturday, and will return here Wednesday en route to Detroit and Washington, after a visit tomorrow to the Danes at Racine.

"The conception of liberty here which permits the foreign born to cherish the memories and institutions of the countries of their birth has more than anything else firmly joined my countrymen with the American people," said Mr. Wadsted. "The liberty rights in the Danish constitution are essentially the same ones embodied in the American constitution and have been the basis of the Danes joining their life so completely with the American people."

U. S. TO BUILD TOWN IN PORTO RICO NAMED ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 14.—(AP)—Porto Rico's next town is to be named "Ciudad Eleanor Roosevelt." The new town, a reconstruction project of the federal government, will be built on a 200 acre tract about three miles from San Juan, officials announced today.

It will have a population of 20,000, drawn chiefly from San Juan, and will be completed with churches, schools, and theaters before its 4,000 model concrete, stormproof houses are occupied, officials said.

Manuel Egosque, chief of the slum clearance program, estimated "Ciudad Eleanor Roosevelt" would cost $5,000,000. Money for the project has not yet been obtained, but reconstruction officials expect to begin construction anyway as soon as detailed plans are completed.

Guest of Secretary.

Grayville, Ill., June 14.—(AP)—This little town of 1,954 men and women today felt itself the most important spot on the country's map. Dressed its Sunday best, it was hostess to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt was the house guest of her social secretary, Mrs. James M. Helm, widow of Rear Admiral Helm, who has a summer home here.

Banners were strung overhead along the main street. In the middle was a large one reading "Welcome," which greeted Mrs. Roosevelt as she arrived with Mrs. M. T. Scheider, her personal secretary, and Mrs. Helm.

Mrs. Roosevelt had left the President's party at Vincennes, Ind., for a three day visit here.

The town folk assembled in groups on the corners opposite Mrs. Helm's two story white home. Smiling, they watched Mrs. Roosevelt being greeted with baskets of pansies.

Mrs. Roosevelt had only time to change her suit before she was driven out to the 694th company camp, Grayville CCC, where she was a luncheon guest.

DOCTOR REPORTS WIDE SUCCESS OF DRUG FOR BURNS

Washington, D. C., June 14.—(AP)—Outstanding success during the past year in use of a new drug for the treatment of burns, chronic ulcers and other non-healing wounds was announced today from the United States department of agriculture.

Dr. William Robinson, scientist who brought the chemical known as allantoin into wide use after discovering its curative properties, said that remarkable results have been obtained by physicians and surgeons throughout the country.

Speaking cautiously lest the drug might be regarded in the class of alleged cure-alls, Dr. Robinson said that results thus far have led the members of the medical profession who have used it to extend the application of allantoin to the treatment of other external wounds which have failed to heal under other treatment. These have included infections of the mouth, diabetic ulcers and the bone disease known as osteomyelitis.

W. C. Fields Improving, Reports Actor's Doctor

Riverside, Cal., June 14.—(AP)—W. C. Fields, screen comedy star, was "holding his own with a slight improvement" today, Dr. Jesse Citron reported as the veteran trouper for the third day resisted a pneumonia attack in a hospital. "He is still in the oxygen tent," the physician said.

NEW G. O. P. CHIEF SMITES FARLEY 'GRAB BAG GANG'

Assails Broken Pledges of the Democrats.

provided for 'a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards.'

"Mr. Farley, like his chief, has conveniently forgotten that these words were included in the Democratic platform of 1932. But the reaction of the country showed that in one brief telegram, which took two minutes to read, Gov. Landon made his stand on money clearer than Mr. Roosevelt has ever been able to do through three years of administration as chief executive.

"We can all have a great deal of sympathy for Mr. Farley. His political creed does not include the possibility of a party united by anything except patronage. His experience with platforms and pledges is limited. Gov. Landon's telegram to the convention was in direct contrast to Mr. Roosevelt's action on the 1932 Democratic platform. Mr. Roosevelt was so eager for the nomination at any price that he flew to Chicago to accept the platform 100 per cent, and, so far as the country knows, never glanced at it again. Gov. Landon's action was different. I said on Thursday night that their characters were different. Every action bears out my statement.

"There is another line in the Republican platform which Mr. Farley and his friends probably will not understand. I refer to that which mentions 'private honor and public faith.'"

Chicago to Be Headquarters.

After issuing his statement Chairman Hamilton told interviewers that he would be in Chicago at least 60 per cent of the time until the election, therefore this city will be, in effect, the chief headquarters of the campaign. There are many activities of a presidential campaign that are national in scope and cannot be handled out of any one headquarters, he explained, but moving picture, radio, and outdoor advertising will be directed largely from Chicago.

Mr. Hamilton said he did not know whether the present headquarters in the Palmer house would be enlarged. It's a question of space accommodations and cost, he said.

Campaign work that can be handled outside the headquarters. such as preparing and mailing literature, will be conducted from some place where the rents are not so high—probably in some warehouse space, he said.

No Plans In Advance.

"I have been in politics twenty-two years and I know a campaign can't be planned in advance, except as to the personnel," he said when asked about campaign plans. "Anything else is subject to change to meet issues and changed conditions.

"I expect to have the division heads appointed and at work by July 1. That will be two months earlier than is customary. I haven't anything to announce right now as to appointments.

"One thing I want to say is that there is no 'Before Cleveland' with us. [The Roosevelt Democrats in the last four years were divided between those who were with Roosevelt before his nomination in Chicago and those who supported him after his nomination.] No one is to be punished and we want every Republican in the picture.

"The Republican nomination in Cleveland and the Democratic nomination that will be made in Philadelphia will be different in one way. Ours was unanimous through enthusiasm; the Democratic nomination will be unanimous through fear. There were no patronage considerations at Cleveland."

Accompanied by Goodspeed.

Chairman Hamilton declined to be specific when asked to confirm well founded reports that Charles Barnett Goodspeed, prominent Chicagoan, will be made treasurer of the Republican national committee. "I have requested Mr. Goodspeed to ride with me to Topeka and I expect to talk to him all night," said Mr. Hamilton. They left on a Santa Fe railroad train at 10:15 p. m. Chicago time.

Mr. Goodspeed has been assistant treasurer of the party for the last two years, serving under George Getz, but because of Mr. Getz's absence in Europe for several months he has been acting treasurer. Mr. Goodspeed said his authority ended with the selection of the new national committee and at present there is no one with authority to sign checks with which to pay the 250 present employés of the national committee.

"Barney" Goodspeed, as he is called, was formerly in the steel business. He is on the board of trustees of the University of Chicago, and is often confused, he said, with Clarence Goodspeed, "the man who rewrote the Bible."

Other Members of Party.

Chairman Hamilton's party included J. Kenneth Bradley of Connecticut, reëlected last Friday as president of the National Young Republican federation; James L. E. Jappe, secretary of the Cleveland convention committee, and Arthur L. Schultz, a Topeka newspaper man.

Except for the invitation for Goodspeed to accompany him to Topeka, the Kansan had sent no word of his visit to Chicago. He said there was no need of his seeing Frank Knox, the vice presidential nominee, during his brief visit as they will meet at Topeka on Tuesday.

Col. Knox, who had asked that newspaper men allow him a day of rest, spent the morning playing golf, had a few friends as dinner guests, and occupied himself with personal matters for the rest of the day. He plans to go to Topeka this evening.

CONGRESSIONAL VOTE MOST IMPORTANT, IN OPINION OF COUGHLIN

Boston, Mass., June 14.—(AP)—Father Charles E. Coughlin tonight declared the election of congressional members is the important feature of the forthcoming national election, and beside that "neither of the presidential candidates is worth a nickel," not even "a plugged nickel."

The Detroit priest made his statement in an interview with newspaper men after he had said in a radio interview that he believed President Roosevelt would be reëlected, but that it would be the "last Democratic administration for some time."

Father Coughlin told newspaper men he would not make any statement now on his political platform, but that on next Friday in New York he would deliver a radio speech which "would startle the nation."

Porto Rican Democrats Expect Statehood Plank

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 14.—Porto Rico's delegates to the national Democratic convention are due to reach New York tomorrow. They expect more luck in getting the island status plank in the party platform than the Republican delegates, who failed in their statehood efforts at the Cleveland convention. The regular Democratic delegation wants the statehood plank of 1932 reinserted in the platform. The contesting delegation proposes outright independence.

MINNESOTA GOES TO POLLS TODAY IN PRIMARY VOTE

Three Parties in Field; Campaigns Quiet.

St. Paul, Minn., June 14.—(AP)—One of the quietest political campaigns in recent years in Minnesota ended tonight and voters prepared to nominate candidates for three major parties in tomorrow's state-wide primary.

Gov. Floyd B. Olson, the nation's only Farmer-Labor governor, seeks nomination for the United States senate now held by Elmer Benson, whom he appointed last December to succeed the late Thomas D. Schall, Republican. Olson's opponent is Carl E. Taylor.

Schall's Widow in Race.

Schall's widow filed for the Republican nomination and is opposed by Representative Theodore Christianson, a former governor.

The Democratic candidates are Patrick J. Delaney and Beldin H. Loftsgaarden, both of St. Paul.

While most of the senate seekers waged fairly active campaigns, Gov. Olson confined his efforts to a few speeches. He has been recuperating from a stomach operation at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

The governor was a bitter foe of the late Senator Schall and had made plans to campaign against the blind senator had the latter lived.

Vigorous Critic of Olson.

Mrs. Schall filed for the Republican nomination soon after her husband was killed by an automobile. She has been a vigorous critic of Olson.

Senator Benson, whose term expires in January, is running for governor on the Farmer-Labor ticket, with three opponents: Magnus Johnson, former senator; Edgar B. Bernard, and Adolph W. Olson.

The Republican ballot carries two candidates for governor—Martin A. Nelson, who was defeated for the office two years ago by Gov. Olson, and Arthur B. Gilbert. Fred A. Curtis and E. E. Novak are the Democratic candidates.

Candidates for congress, state offices and legislature, also are to be nominated.

Jeweler and Girl Robbed of Automobile and $8

Three men leaped on the running board of the automobile of Harry Weiss, 3919 Fillmore street, a jeweler, at Ogden avenue and Taylor street, took $8 from Weiss and his companion, Miss Maxine Martin, 23 years old, 820 East 79th street, and fled in the car.

MILLION SPENT BY VISITORS IN G. O. P. HOST CITY

Convention Is Boon to Cleveland Trade.

Cleveland, O., June 14.—(AP)—Cleveland merchants, hotel men and others who cash in on conventions, looked over their records and figured today that probably a round million dollars was left in Cleveland by delegates and onlookers at the Republican national convention.

Some "soda jerkers" in corner drug stores and waitresses in run-of-the-mine restaurants said business had not shown any great pickup during the four days of the convention.

But William B. Gray, manager of the Cleveland Retail Credit Men's company, estimated a million, at least, had gone directly into money tills in the city as a result of spending by thousands here for the Republican assemblage.

"Of course," Gray added, "that money turned over a lot, and the indirect financial benefits were even greater."

He said, however, it would "take a better mathematician than I am to figure it out in dollars."

Hotels, jammed to overflowing in the downtown area, did a booming business. So did liquor stores and night clubs.

Gray estimated that the average person who came to watch the convention name Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Frank Knox of Illinois, spent $12 a day.

Many individuals, he said, came in from nearby cities for a single day. He declined to estimate the total number attracted to the city by the convention.

The men who keep books for the state liquor stores figured that sales of intoxicants showed at least a 10 per cent increase during the convention period.

One liquor store manager declared: "They came in and named a famous bonded and aged item and then asked: 'Is this fit to drink?' You can tell by that they're not old time drinkers."

Two Seized, Admit Theft of $10,000 Money Orders

Thomas Quinn, 26 years old, and William E. Hollar, 30 years old, both of 1640 North Clark street, were arrested yesterday at Clark street and North avenue by Sergt. Andrew Kiernan. They admitted stealing $10,000 from a Cleveland postal substation two weeks ago. Since then the pair had been cashing the orders at north side currency exchanges.

3 PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATIONS LEAVE CHURCHES

Walk Out When Pastors Are Dismissed.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—(AP)—Members of three Presbyterian congregations joined their banished pastors today in defiance of the presbytery of Philadelphia.

The demonstrations climaxed a series of incidents marked by establishment of the Presbyterian Church of America by a group of conservative clergymen and laymen breaking away from the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A.

At the Central North Broad Street Presbyterian church, less than 100 persons were in their pews while more than 700 others attended services arranged by the Rev. Merril T. MacPherson two blocks away.

Smaller walkouts occurred at the Grace Presbyterian church and the McDowell Memorial church.

Three Pastors Read Out.

Ministers of all three churches were dismissed from their pulpits by the presbytery for refusing to withdraw from the independent board of foreign missions, regarded as a conservative organization.

Since then, the Rev. David Freeman of the Grace church, and the Rev. Theodore J. Jamsma of the McDowell church, joined the new Presbyterian Church of America, founded here Thursday.

Dr. MacPherson has indicated that he will form an independent church modeled after the Moody institute church of Chicago, Ill.

At the church he abandoned Dr. Weaver K. Eubank, chairman of the presbytery's committee on vacancy and supply, read the order dismissing Dr. MacPherson. Dr. Acquilla Webb, president of Washington college, Washington, Tenn., replaced him in the pulpit.

80 of 105 Depart.

Eighty of the 105 worshippers at the Grace church followed the Rev. Mr. Freeman from the building when he called upon them to support him as the morning service opened.

They marched three blocks to the dwelling of Mrs. Eugene Hollenbach, where services was conducted, Mr. Freeman in charge.

Seventeen members, including two trustees, walked out with Mr. Jamsma, who was at the pulpit fully an hour before the service was scheduled to begin, his head bowed in prayer.

HUNT FOR GIRL'S SLAYER TURNS TO WISCONSIN

Sherif Albert J. Campmeyer of Kane county turned to the southern resort region of Wisconsin yesterday in his search for Rinaldo Di Pietro, 55 years old, suspected as the slayer of Miss Nella Panunzi, 23 years old, St. Charles tea room manager.

L. L. Rush, of Rockford, told Sherif Campmeyer he recognized a newspaper picture of Di Pietro as the hitch-hiker to whom he gave a ride Saturday night from Rockford to Rockton, which is a few miles from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line. Rush said his passenger was nervous and refused to answer any questions about himself.

Miss Panunzi was found shot to death Saturday morning alongside Dunham road near St. Charles. She had gone riding the previous evening with Di Pietro, a rejected suitor.

NEW YORK CITY POPULATION IS SET AT 7,363,624

New York, June 14.—(AP)—The present population of New York City is estimated at 7,363,624 under a new system devised by the United States bureau of census.

The new figures and the system under which they were arrived at by statistical experts of the bureau of records will be published tomorrow in the department of health quarterly bulletin.

In former years the department of health has merely estimated the increase in population after the government census of every ten years by merely adding the average annual increase of the preceding ten years. This would give New York City a population of 7,722,712 today as compared with 6,962,305 in midyear 1930, when the last census was taken.

Estimated populations of the New York boroughs are: Brooklyn, 2,739,585; Manhattan, 1,729,533; Bronx, 1,441,532; Queens, 1,280,805; Richmond, 172,169.

45,000 ATTEND ANNUAL GERMAN DAY PAGEANTRY

Dances Dominate Fete in Soldiers' Field.

Forty-five thousand German-American citizens of Chicago gathered in Soldiers' Field yesterday for the 31st annual German Day association program. For four hours they cheered and sang as 3,000 persons ranging in age from tots barely able to toddle to gray haired grandparents presented a pageant, "German Life."

The pageant was a representation of a whole year's work and play in the life of the German farmer. Dances, folk songs and choral presentations were interspersed with the music of Wagner and Beethoven. The only ceremonies connected with the day took place immediately before the pageant began. These were the joint raising of the American flag and German national flag with its swastika.

Opens with Church Service.

For the program the arena was divided by a stage setting representing a typical village church. The festival opened with the church service in commemoration of the passing of the old year. To the tune of a choral a large group of young women interpreted the sombre feeling of the hour in a mass dance.

A few drops of rain fell as some 300 children danced out on the greenward in white costumes representing snowflakes. They were followed by a carnival throng which paraded to lively, jolly music. It was the winter ice circus, with young men and women dancing in bright costumes.

The rain clouds blew past and the sun shone again as brightly dressed little girls—animated spring flowers—presented their own dance. Then came the sowing season with the menfolk, dressed for the fields, in a symbolic sowing dance and chant. They were followed by farm wives, thick waisted, wielding heavy rakes.

Dances Portray Wedding.

Then a big country wedding took place. Guests were summoned and each group gave a representative folk dance as they arrived. The bride and groom and their retinue entered the church.

With the passing of summer the reapers worked and the harvest festival followed. The program ended with the Christmas pageant or "Krippenspiel."

At the end of the pageant the assembly watched while Joseph Steinhauser, 1641 Addison street, maneuvered his German soaring ship high over the field, where he had been towed by an airplane.

General Slocum Survivors Hold Annual Service Today

New York, June 14.—(AP)—Rain forced postponement today of the memorial services of the General Slocum survivors, a unique ceremony held annually at a Long Island cemetery in memory of the 1,031 men, women and children who perished in a steamboat disaster. The services will be held tomorrow, 32 years to the day from the June morning in 1904 when the steamer General Slocum started up the East river, caught fire off 88th street, and beached on the rocks of North Brothers Island.

Landlady, 72, Identifies Ex-Convict as Swindler

Timothy O'Connor, 35 years old, 6402 South Wood street, an ex-convict, was arrested yesterday by Chicago Lawn police and identified by Mrs. Lucy Regan, 72 years old, a rooming house operator at 6327 South Paulina street, as the man who swindled her of $114 on March 27. On O'Connor's promise that he could save her $2 a ton on coal, Mrs. Regan said she gave him the money, half of which she borrowed, but did not see him again.

LEAGUE UNABLE TO STOP WARS, GOEBBELS SAYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HILDESHEIM, Germany, June 14.—Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today indicated that Germany has not yet washed its hands of the league of nations. In a speech at Hildesheim he said:

"We think it is quite possible the league may one day be the fortress of peace. But the fate of nations cannot be based on that and so—as a stitch in time saves nine—we have built up our own military forces to take care of our peaceful work."

Goebbels, addressing a Nazi rally, aroused much laughter with the ironical comment:

"The Italo-Ethiopian conflict is now ended because of the energetic intervention of the league."

"The political results of war never have been changed by the speeches of outsiders," he added. "What would the league have done if, earlier, a squadron of bombing planes had suddenly appeared over Germany? At best we must have contented ourselves with pathetic resolutions, but paper resolutions do not decide the fate of a nation. It is good when we now hear the roar of airplanes above us. We know they can be only German planes."

Estimate 150,000 Pass Day at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., June 14.—[Special.]—A crowd estimated by Mayor Charles D. White at 150,000 persons gave a midsummer aspect to the boardwalk today. Fishing party boats were working to capacity and other hundreds of anglers lined the piers, bridges, and similar shore vantage points.

PROBES $25,000 FACTORY BLAZE ON SOUTH SIDE

Fire Attorney Thomas Sheehan began an investigation yesterday into the origin of a $25,000 fire which destroyed the interior of the two story frame plant of the Sanderson Box company at 2129 South Peoria street early in the morning. The flames spread rapidly through the building and before the fire was brought under control most of the contents of the factory were ashes. A watchman for the company said he believed the blaze might have been caused by defective wiring, but Sheehan was investigating the possibility that the fire was of incendiary origin.

PATRIOTIC RITES OBSERVE FLAG'S 159TH BIRTHDAY

10,000 See Elks Program in Lincoln Park.

Chicago observed Flag day yesterday in ceremonies typical of those held throughout the United States commemorating the 159th birthday of the national emblem. The stars and stripes banner was officially adopted by the continental congress on June 14, 1777.

Besides parades and a number of church services observing the birthday of the flag, impressive ceremonies were conducted in Lincoln park near North avenue and Dearborn street by the Chicago Elks lodge, No. 4. Approximately 10,000 persons attended.

Patriotic Groups Participate.

Participating in the exercises with the fraternal organization were a number of American Legion posts, the Combat Medal Men's association, the Allied World War Veterans' council, and other patriotic associations. Several Boy Scout bands played.

John Pane-Gasser, Chicago City Opera tenor, led the throng in patriotic songs. Col. Armin Hand conducted the Veterans of Foreign Wars band. A pageant depicting the history of the flag was presented.

United States Attorney Michael L. Igoe, who recounted the story of the national banner, said that following its adoption by the continental congress the flag was changed in 1795 by the addition of two stripes and two stars to symbolize the addition of two states that year to the Union.

Inspired National Anthem.

"It was this flag, waving from the summit of Fort McHenry on Sept. 14, 1814, that inspired Francis Scott Key to compose the immortal national anthem," he said. "On April 14, 1818, congress, however, ordered that the flag should return to its original number of red and white stripes and that a star should be added for each state in the Union.

"The American flag is the oldest flag of any great nation and to us it is immortal. In all its history it has never rippled in an unworthy cause and it has never seen defeat."

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney also spoke.

Flag day exercises were held in Hummel square, 100th street and Indianapolis avenue, as a climax to the eight day celebration of South Chicago's centennial. Nearly 5,000 school children, veterans, and members of patriotic and civic organizations joined in a parade that preceded the ceremonies.

Seek Kenilworth Backing in Opposing Truck Routes

Howard F. Bishop, attorney for the North Shore Property Owners' association, will address members of the Kenilworth village board tonight in an attempt to gain their support of the movement to prevent interstate trucking companies from using a route through north suburban towns. Bishop's organization contends that each town, and not the Illinois commerce commission, should make its own decision since the roads are paved by special assessments.

THREE CAPTURED AFTER CRASH IN 15 MILE CHASE

Three young men whose behavior aroused suspicion were captured yesterday by Policemen Walter Thomas and John Minehan of the West North avenue station after a wild automobile chase through the northwest side, during which the police fired three shots at the youths' car. The fifteen mile pursuit ended when the fugitive machine crashed into a tree on the sidewalk at 1520 Elk Grove avenue.

While the youths were speeding 75 miles an hour, they flung two loaded revolvers from the car at Fletcher street and Lincoln avenue. Police recovered the weapons.

The prisoners are Emil Grudecki, 1123 North Spaulding avenue; Mitchell Pizenislow, 1918 West Erie street, and John Marusarz, 1910 West Erie street, each of them 17 years old. Marus was injured seriously when he was flung through the windshield of the car as it crashed into the tree.

ROTARY PRESIDENT TO SPEAK.

Richard E. Vernor, president of the Chicago Rotary club, will speak on "The Little Red Box on the Corner" at the Rotary meeting in the Hotel Sherman on Tuesday. Vernor is manager of the fire prevention department of the western actuarial bureau.

BRITAIN TO URGE LEAGUE TO DROP BOYCOTT OF ITALY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 14.—The future of sanctions against Italy and the next steps to be taken by Great Britain in international affairs will be considered by the British cabinet this week, preliminary to the meeting of the league of nations council and assembly at Geneva at the end of the month.

The main lines of British policy are expected to be directed toward securing a speedy end of the sanctions experiment and renewed collaboration with Italy.

It is understood a majority inside the cabinet, headed by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, is in favor of this course. Chamberlain is the right hand man of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin. He recently described the continuance of sanctions as "midsummer madness."

Eden Is Overruled.

Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, has been strenuously opposing abandonment of sanctions, but he is being overruled and indications are he will be instructed to take the lead at Geneva toward lifting them.

The governing factors in the new British foreign policy, it is understood, are:

FIRST—The failure of sanctions to check Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

SECOND—Premier Mussolini's assurances not to interfere with British interests in Africa.

THIRD—The increasingly uncompromising attitude on the part of Germany, due to the belief in Berlin that for the time being at least internal difficulties render France a negligible factor in the European equation.

Reports reaching London suggested Reichsfuehrer Hitler's reply to the British questionnaire of May 6 will be delivered to the British government this week.

Demands Colonies Returned.

Indications are that Germany will decline to bind herself to permanent recognition of existing European frontiers, especially in the east and center, and will press for a return of all the colonies she lost in the world war. Apparently Germany is in no haste to join the general conference on European security which the other Locarno signatories have in mind.

In British circles it is realized this situation tends further to increase the difficulties of working out a new security system at Geneva. It enhances, however, the importance of the conference of Mediterranean states which is due to open at Montreaux, Switzerland, June 22.

British Woo Italians.

This conference, assembled to approve the Turkish request for authority to refortify the Dardanelles, may serve to return Italy into the concert of Europe. Preliminary sittings at Montreaux will be adjourned after four days to permit the delegates to go to Geneva. When the conference resumes the second week in July the British hope that sanctions will have been dropped and that the Italian delegation will attend, since the discussions are of vital concern to Italy.

The smaller Mediterranean states are anxious to create a "Mediterranean Locarno" at Montreaux.

YANKEE SLAIN IN DOMESTIC ROW; HUNT GENERAL

MEXICO CITY, June 14.—(AP)—Police continued a search tonight for Gen. Rafael Lopez, charged with killing Guy D. Diver, a civil engineer of Detroit, in a domestic quarrel last night at the American's home. Diver, 38, died at a Red Cross hospital from bullet wounds received following a quarrel with his Mexican wife, Herminia Gomez Diver.

Mrs. Diver was released by the police. She told the police her husband slapped her in the face following a jealous outburst and attempted to shoot her with a revolver.

Mrs. Diver said her cousin, Gen. Lopez, who witnessed the quarrel, tried to disarm Diver, and in the struggle the engineer was killed. The general, former military commander of the Chihuahua garrison and recently appointed commander at San Louis Potosi, fled.

POPE MAY SPEAK ON AFRICAN WAR AT CONSISTORY

VATICAN CITY, June 14.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI. worked today on the allocution he will deliver at a consistory tomorrow. Prelates said the 79 year old pontiff, who has been concerned over the possible consequences of the Italo-Ethiopian war on European peace, may again refer to the war.

In the consistory, which will be replete with Vatican ritual, the pope will name Msgr. Giovanni Mercati, prefect of the Vatican library, and Msgr. Eugenio Tisserant, pro-prefect of that same institution, as appointees to the rolls of the sacred college.

The pope's last allocution was the "peace with justice" plea he made before the college of cardinals in December, 1935, when he created twenty new cardinals.

In creating the two new cardinals Pope Pius will bestow princely rank on two old friends.

French Vets Battle Foes of Jews at Synagogue

PARIS, June 14.—(AP)—Disorders marked a ceremony by the nationalist war veterans' organization Croix de Feu today in honor of the Jewish world war dead at a Paris synagogue. Col. François de la Rocque, leader of the semi-Fascist Croix de Feu, was hooted by members of the League Against Anti-Semitism as he sought to enter his car after the ceremony. His followers engaged the hooters in fist fights until police arrived and restored order.

ROARING WIDE OPEN! Fred Jacoby, Jr., outboard motor-boat champion. "Good digestion is all-important in this game," Fred says. "Camels make food taste better and help me get the good out of what I eat."

A CASHIER HAS TO BE fast — accurate — pleasant. Miss Travis Lander, shown at the ticket window of a New York movie, says: "I like to smoke at mealtime. Camels help my digestion — cheer me up."

The Presidential Room of the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Famous men…beautifully gowned women…diplomats and statesmen…gather here, while the Mayflower kitchens give forth a stream of rare dishes. And from table after table the fragrant smoke of Camels rises. Fred, maître d'hôtel of the Mayflower, says: "Our clientele prefer Camels. They are a great favorite with our guests."

A SUGGESTION

At mealtime, try Camels yourself and see why smokers say

"For Digestion's sake— smoke Camels"

Science confirms the truth of the popular phrase "For Digestion's Sake…Smoke Camels"

Scientists have found that Camels promote well-being by stimulating the flow of the digestive fluids …alkaline digestive fluids…necessary for good digestion. Often fatigue, worry, excitement, nervousness — all interfere with this digestive flow. Camels restore and increase it. Discriminating smokers everywhere commend Camels for the comfort and good cheer they find in smoking Camels.

With their finer, costlier tobaccos, Camels give mildness a new meaning. They do not get on your nerves or rasp your throat.

Make Camels your smoke — for their cheery "lift"…for their aid to digestion. Camels set you right. Camels are firm — no loose ends.

FRENCH POLICE PREPARE TO JAIL RED AGITATORS

Move to Stop Them from Inflaming Strikers.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 15 [Monday.]—As a result of the vigorous widespread investigation instituted by Roger Salengro, minister of interior, police today prepared to make a series of arrests of agents provocateurs.

Police officials refused to give any information, but admitted that ever since Salengro's orders of Friday to maintain order they have been keeping a close watch of provocateurs who were insinuating themselves into the strike movement, particularly this week-end.

Right wing critics of the government alleged communist agents have been pouring into France from Spain by the carload since the strike began, and also have been coming from other countries, even the United States.

Seize Copies of Red Paper.

Copies of the Lutte Ouvriere, an extreme communist organ which is usually described as "Trotzkyist," were seized by police because the newspaper incited workers to take "extreme measures."

Salengro's determination to establish order in the streets and to act against the provocateurs was criticized sharply by Maurice Thorez, communist leader, according to the newspaper Le Jour which quoted him as objecting to "certain acts of Citizen Salengro which are harmful to the Popular Front. When Comrade Salengro objects to a left wing delegation passing a resolution of greeting to strikers, when he fills the streets with mobile guards, recalling the methods of the reactionary governments, he is doing disservice to the Popular Front and interfering with the action of the government."

The newspaper further quotes Thorez as telling his communist comrades:

"There is no question of taking power at present. Everybody knows our aim is to incorporate workers', farmers', and soldiers' councils in the French republic. But tonight is not the time nor tomorrow morning. The situation is not ripe for that. For one thing we have not the agricultural population behind us and determined, like us, to go the limit."

Sees Labor Owning Factories.

PARIS, June 14.—(AP)—Maurice Thorez, leader of the communist party, told his celebrating followers today France's factories would soon become the property of the workers.

He spoke as leftist workers celebrated labor gains won in general strikes which they call a "bloodless revolution."

Thorez, in an address at Lille, said strikers had not damaged the factories they occupied "because they knew they would soon become their property."

Recalling Premier Leon Blum's admission to the chamber of deputies that the strikers' occupation was illegal, Thorez said, "It simply is a new legality which is forming" and that the strikes proved the working class is "capable of taking its own destiny in its own hands."

Celebrate Strike Victory.

Communists massed in the Paris sports stadium in "victory demonstrations" following legislation providing higher pay and shorter hours to end the strikes. The capital region generally observed the "great day of workers' solidarity."

More than 50,000 leftists marched at Nancy, Le Havre, Cherbourg, Rouen, and elsewhere in the provinces in orderly demonstrations.

Evacuation parades from the principal factories occupied by the workers began last night and ended the major strikes eighteen days after the crisis started. Four hundred factories were emptied but fifty were still held by "folded arms" strikers in the Paris region.

About half of the more than 1,000,000 workers originally affected agreed to return to work tomorrow. Strikes persisted in Paris department stores and insurance companies, workers maintaining their weary occupation. Negotiations will resume tomorrow.

The general federation of labor said accords granting wage increases of from 7 to 15 per cent and collective bargaining represented the "greatest labor victory in history."

50 Hurt in Algeria Riot.

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 14.—(AP)—Fifty persons were wounded at Sidi-Bel-Abbes today when troops and police charged rioting members of the leftist French Popular Front and their rightist adversaries.

Squads of mounted Spahis, three companies of the Foreign legion, and large forces of police were necessary to clear the streets after thousands of rightists attacked a leftist parade in celebration of the French labor victory.

35,000 STRIKERS IN VENEZUELA AT WORK TODAY; 300 IN PRISON

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 14.—(AP)—Venezuela's 35,000 striking workers were ready to return to their tasks tomorrow as both government and strikers claimed victory tonight. The government will not repeal the federal suppression law which the strikers protested, but the strikers see a victory in its revision.

A total of 300 participants, including students, are under arrest as agitators who incited disorder. Eighteen of the prisoners who had been on a hunger strike abandoned it last night on orders from the workers' committee. They had been without food thirty hours.

The strikers' committee broadcast instructions for resumption of work throughout the country, and this capital hummed with activity tonight as street cars, buses, and taxis operated and stores reopened. Conditions are again normal here.

CHICAGOANS AID 3 YEAR STUDY OF HOLY LAND RUINS

LIVERPOOL, England, June 14.—(AP)—A three year search of the buried ruins in a 5,000 year old fort in north Palestine is to be undertaken in an effort to obtain more knowledge of Biblical Palestine. The excavation has been made possible by a $45,000 gift from Francis Neilson, Chicago author, and his wife, Mrs. Swift Nielson.

Plans for the expedition were revealed here by Prof. John Garstang, director of the Liverpool Institute of Archaeology, who recently returned from a prospecting trip in Palestine.

The excavations will be made at Tell [Fort] Keasan, an extensive man made mound on the Acre plain. One of the largest tells in Palestine, it rises sharply from the level plain and consists of layer upon layer of fortifications and houses.

Located at the intersection of the ancient highway to Egypt and the road to the Mediterranean coast, Tell Keason was probably an important trading, customs and chariot center. It promises to be rich in relics. The tell has scarcely been touched for more than 2,000 years. There also appears to be a wet foss or moat, an unprecedented find for that part of the world.

MORO CHIEFTAINS MEET TO SELECT SULTAN OF SULU

MANILA, June 14.—(AP)—More than 100 Moro chieftains met in a tense atmosphere today—there was some talk of war—to choose a new sultan of Sulu. The result was not made immediately available to the outside world because the telegraph office in Jolo, capital of Moroland, was closed for the week-end.

If the succession follows the blood of the prophet Mohammed, the new sultan will be Rajamuda, brother of the aged ruler, Jamalu'l Kiram, who died childless a week ago. If the choice is made by election, the sultanate likely will go to the popular Datu [Chief] Tamboyong or the prominent Moro leader, Datu Umbra Amilbangsa, assemblyman from Sulu and husband of the influential Princess Dayang Dayang.

A choice by election may mean war in Moroland. Rajamuda has threatened to fight if he is not chosen. He has a powerful following. Umbra Amilbangsa also claims the right to ascend the throne because of Islamic tradition. His wife, Princess Dayang, is a niece and adopted daughter of the old sultan. The princess is powerful by reason of her public career as favorite of Kiram.

Do YOU Know Just What YOU Are Doing To YOUR Hair ?

For over fifty years the idea of helping hair growth with a "formula" has existed. It was such a poor idea that people got to believing that nothing would ever keep folks from becoming bald.

But science, exact, honest, demonstrable, has made progress in this field as in others, and proves that the hair as part of the body, shares in the same laws of recovery. The hair can be saved and thickened.

Formulas left out blood, the physical source of all nourishment of all parts of the body. Left out the human element of personal observation and scientific diagnosis and the specialist's knowledge of each individual case with his own personal, human intelligent supervision of its treatment.

Formulas left out the proper use of sunshine, of infra red rays, of gradually attaining better circulation, and other scientific means recognized in clinics everywhere.

The most recent work by one of the world's highest authorities (Man the Unknown) sustains in effect Wellington's conviction that disorders until recently considered inherited, are simply tendencies to be overcome. This I am sure is true of the hair as proved by results.

Young men with thinning hair, and older men with hair already thinned have become hopeless because of hopeless methods. Trusting that their hair would retain its health and strength without skilled help. You would go to the dentist to save your teeth, or the doctor to save your life, but you are neglecting nature's plain warning, or you are experimenting with your hair. You are your own untrained specialist.

If you had to pay one hundred dollars for the information you can get at the WELLINGTON INSTITUTE without any charge whatever, you could still be thousands of dollars to the good in bettered appearance the rest of your life.

You are welcome here, and after this free consultation and examination you may have if you wish

CANTONESE ARMY CHECKS 'DRIVE' FOR WAR ON JAPS

Urges Nanking to Resist Nipponese Aggression.

SHANGHAI, China, June 14.—(AP)—The Canton [South China] government telegraphed the National government at Nanking an appeal today urging that the nation as a whole take a stronger attitude toward Japanese activities in China.

This message, sent by Chen Chi-tang, governor of Canton and military leader of Kwangtung province, said, however, that forces of Cantonese were withdrawing from Hunan province "for the present." Hunan, attached to the Nanking government, borders upon Kwangtung province of the Canton regime.

Civil War Threat Fades.

National government leaders interpreted the development as a strong indication Kwangtung province is unwilling to continue its threat against Hunan province, which Nanking is answering with ever-increasing military concentrations in Fukien, Kiangsi, and Hunan provinces.

The National government believes Canton's latest action left Kwangsi province alone to prosecute any anti-Nanking campaign. War lords of Kwangsi are believed to realize they are incapable of waging war alone.

Thus Nanking was optimistic that the southern threat is rapidly disintegrating, thereby removing the danger of civil war.

Canton's proposal that Nanking undertake a stronger Japanese policy is expected to be considered at an emergency session of the central executive committee of the Kuomintank [dominant government party] at Nanking July 10.

To Take Cautious Stand.

There, it is expected, the committee will adopt resolutions superficially in conformance with Canton's wishes but care is expected to be taken not to bring down Japanese disapproval.

Although rulers of Kwangsi province have not yet declared an intention of following Canton's lead for negotiation with Nanking, the fact Kwangsi troops are being held on the border is taken here to indicate Kwangsi's anti-Nanking drive has been halted, at least temporarily.

The American gunboat Mindanao, flagship of the United States' South China naval patrol, as usual is at Canton. The U. S. S. Asheville, attached to the South China patrol, which has been in Shanghai for many weeks, left for Manila to be overhauled.

She is likely to make a routine call at Hongkong. This caused unconfirmed rumors here that increased American naval strength is headed for South China but naval officials here said the Asheville's departure was not threatened to Chinese affairs.

Leaders Check Military Drive.

CANTON, China, June 14.—(AP)—Prospects of immediate hostilities between Canton [southwestern] troops and forces of the Nanking [central] government in Hunan province appeared lessened today.

Authoritative circles here indicated leaders of the armies of Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces, which make up the Canton régime, are holding firmly in check their troops which had started a march northward into Hunan.

This action by the southerners strengthened the belief they are playing for a compromise with Nanking under which they would gain financial concessions.

[Chinese reports Saturday said a Japanese naval squadron landed at Amoy, Fukien province, several hundred miles from Canton and that one Japanese cruiser and six destroyers anchored there.]

Southwestern war lords have been quoted as saying their real aim is a campaign against Japan but this is not taken seriously in circles informed of the intricacies and ever-changing complexion of South China politics. This anti-Japenese cry, these sources assert, is a blind behind which the southerners seek to improve their condition at the expense of Nanking

Japs "Escort" Smuggled Goods.

TIENTSIN, China, June 14.—(AP)—Japanese dealers here handling smuggled goods formed an organization today to combat anti-smuggling measures taken by the Nanking government.

Claiming Chinese customs measures for the prevention of smuggling are "affecting the interior China market for Japanese goods," the group, calling itself "the Tientsin Traders' association," decided to supply escorts to insure the safe transportation of illicit merchandise to interior China markets.

Large scale smuggling has been a feature of the Japanese economic and military penetration of North China, although the Japanese government officially disclaims responsibility. The Nanking government, losing an enormous amount of revenue, has twice protested officially to Tokio and representations have been made by foregin powers, including the United States and Great Britain.

JAPANESE PROPOSE DEMILITARIZED ZONE ALONG SOVIET BORDER

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, June 14.—The creation of a demilitarized zone of fifty kilometers [about thirty-one miles] on each side of the Soviet-Manchukuan frontier is about to be proposed by Japan, newspapers said today.

In the opinion of well-informed observers, the proposal comes too late. Thoroughly alarmed by the Japanese army's rejection of their non-aggression pact offer, the Russians during the past three years have built up a formidable military force in the far east.

Its communications, organization and supplies are so incomparably superior to those of the czarist Russian armies, which Japan defeated thirty years ago, that the Russians claim their far eastern army is capable of maintaining successful resistance even if a war occurred simultaneously on the western front.

Japan's proposal, therefore, is viewed as a trial balloon. The army is interested mainly in North China and evidently desires an agreement with Russia to settle the situation in the north.

120,000 Belgian Miners Decide to Go Out on Strike

BRUSSELS, June 14.—(AP)—A total of 120,000 miners throughout the country decided to strike today as the new cabinet formed by Premier Paul Van Zeeland took the oath of office and got down to work. Tugboat crews in Antwerp joined a waterfront strike, increasing the paralysis of the port.

MUSCLES TIRED? REST THEM BY TENSING THEM

Rochester, N. Y., June 14.—(AP)—Discovery of a method to "pump up" tired muscles, which for short spurts rests them more quickly than complete relaxation, was announced here tonight.

When tired muscles are deliberately tensed the action appears to inject or squeeze into them a revitalizing chemical naturally produced in the body.

There are three of these chemicals. The one believed responsible is adrenalin, the adrenal gland product, which man manufactures liberally when he fights.

New "Reservoir" Found.

The time for spread of the reënergizing chemical is cut to split seconds by the "pumping up" method. The discovery reveals a hitherto scientifically unrecognized quick energy reservoir.

It was made public on the eve of the meeting of the American association of the advancement of science here and the Sigma Xi celebration at Cornell university. The association meets here for three days beginning Tuesday, and then goes to Cornell to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society, which was founded at Cornell.

Gymnast Reports Quick "Rest."

The Sigma Xi exhibit shows frog muscles "loaded," that is, under alternate pull and release, which fatigues them. Complete relaxation overcomes the fatigue in about 10 seconds. But tensing a muscle rapidly restores its energy in about half a second.

A Cornell gymnast reported similar results in bar chinning work. After 20 successive chinnings a short relaxation with arms outstretched left him with scarcely strength to resume chinning. But tensing for an equal period restored his muscles so that he went on easily and repeated the chinnings more than 20 times.

A new principle of fatigue appears to have been discovered. Previously physiologists have supposed that the body's reënergizing chemicals spread somewhat slowly, through the blood.

Nerve Link Found.

But the frog experiments, made by S. A. Guttman, R. G. Horton, and D. T. Wilber of Cornell, indicate that the nerves, which do work during muscles tensing, have the power to release the chemicals directly and instantly into the muscles at the point where the nerves end.

This the Cornell scientists say means that some of the reënergizing chemical is stored in the muscles, a reservoir not touched when the muscles are relaxed.

They think this reservoir may contain a little stored up adrenalin, because when this substance is injected into muscles it reënergizes them somewhat. They suggest also the chemical may be either acetyl chlorine, produced right in the muscles, or an excess of calcium brought about in some unknown way by the tensing.

5 JEWS SHOT BY ARAB SNIPERS ON HOLY LAND ROAD

JERUSALEM, June 14.—(AP)—Terrorists continued their activity today despite the promulgation of new laws inflicting the death penalty.

Five Jews were wounded in two attacks by sniping Arabs on the Jaffa highway and the Jericho road. Troops escorting a Jewish convoy returned the fire.

Civil courts were empowered to impose the death penalty for a number of offenses, including the throwing of bombs, firing on troops or interfering with activities at harbors and on railroads. Arabs have begun the ninth week of a strike against Jewish immigration, attended by disorders which have taken nearly 100 lives.

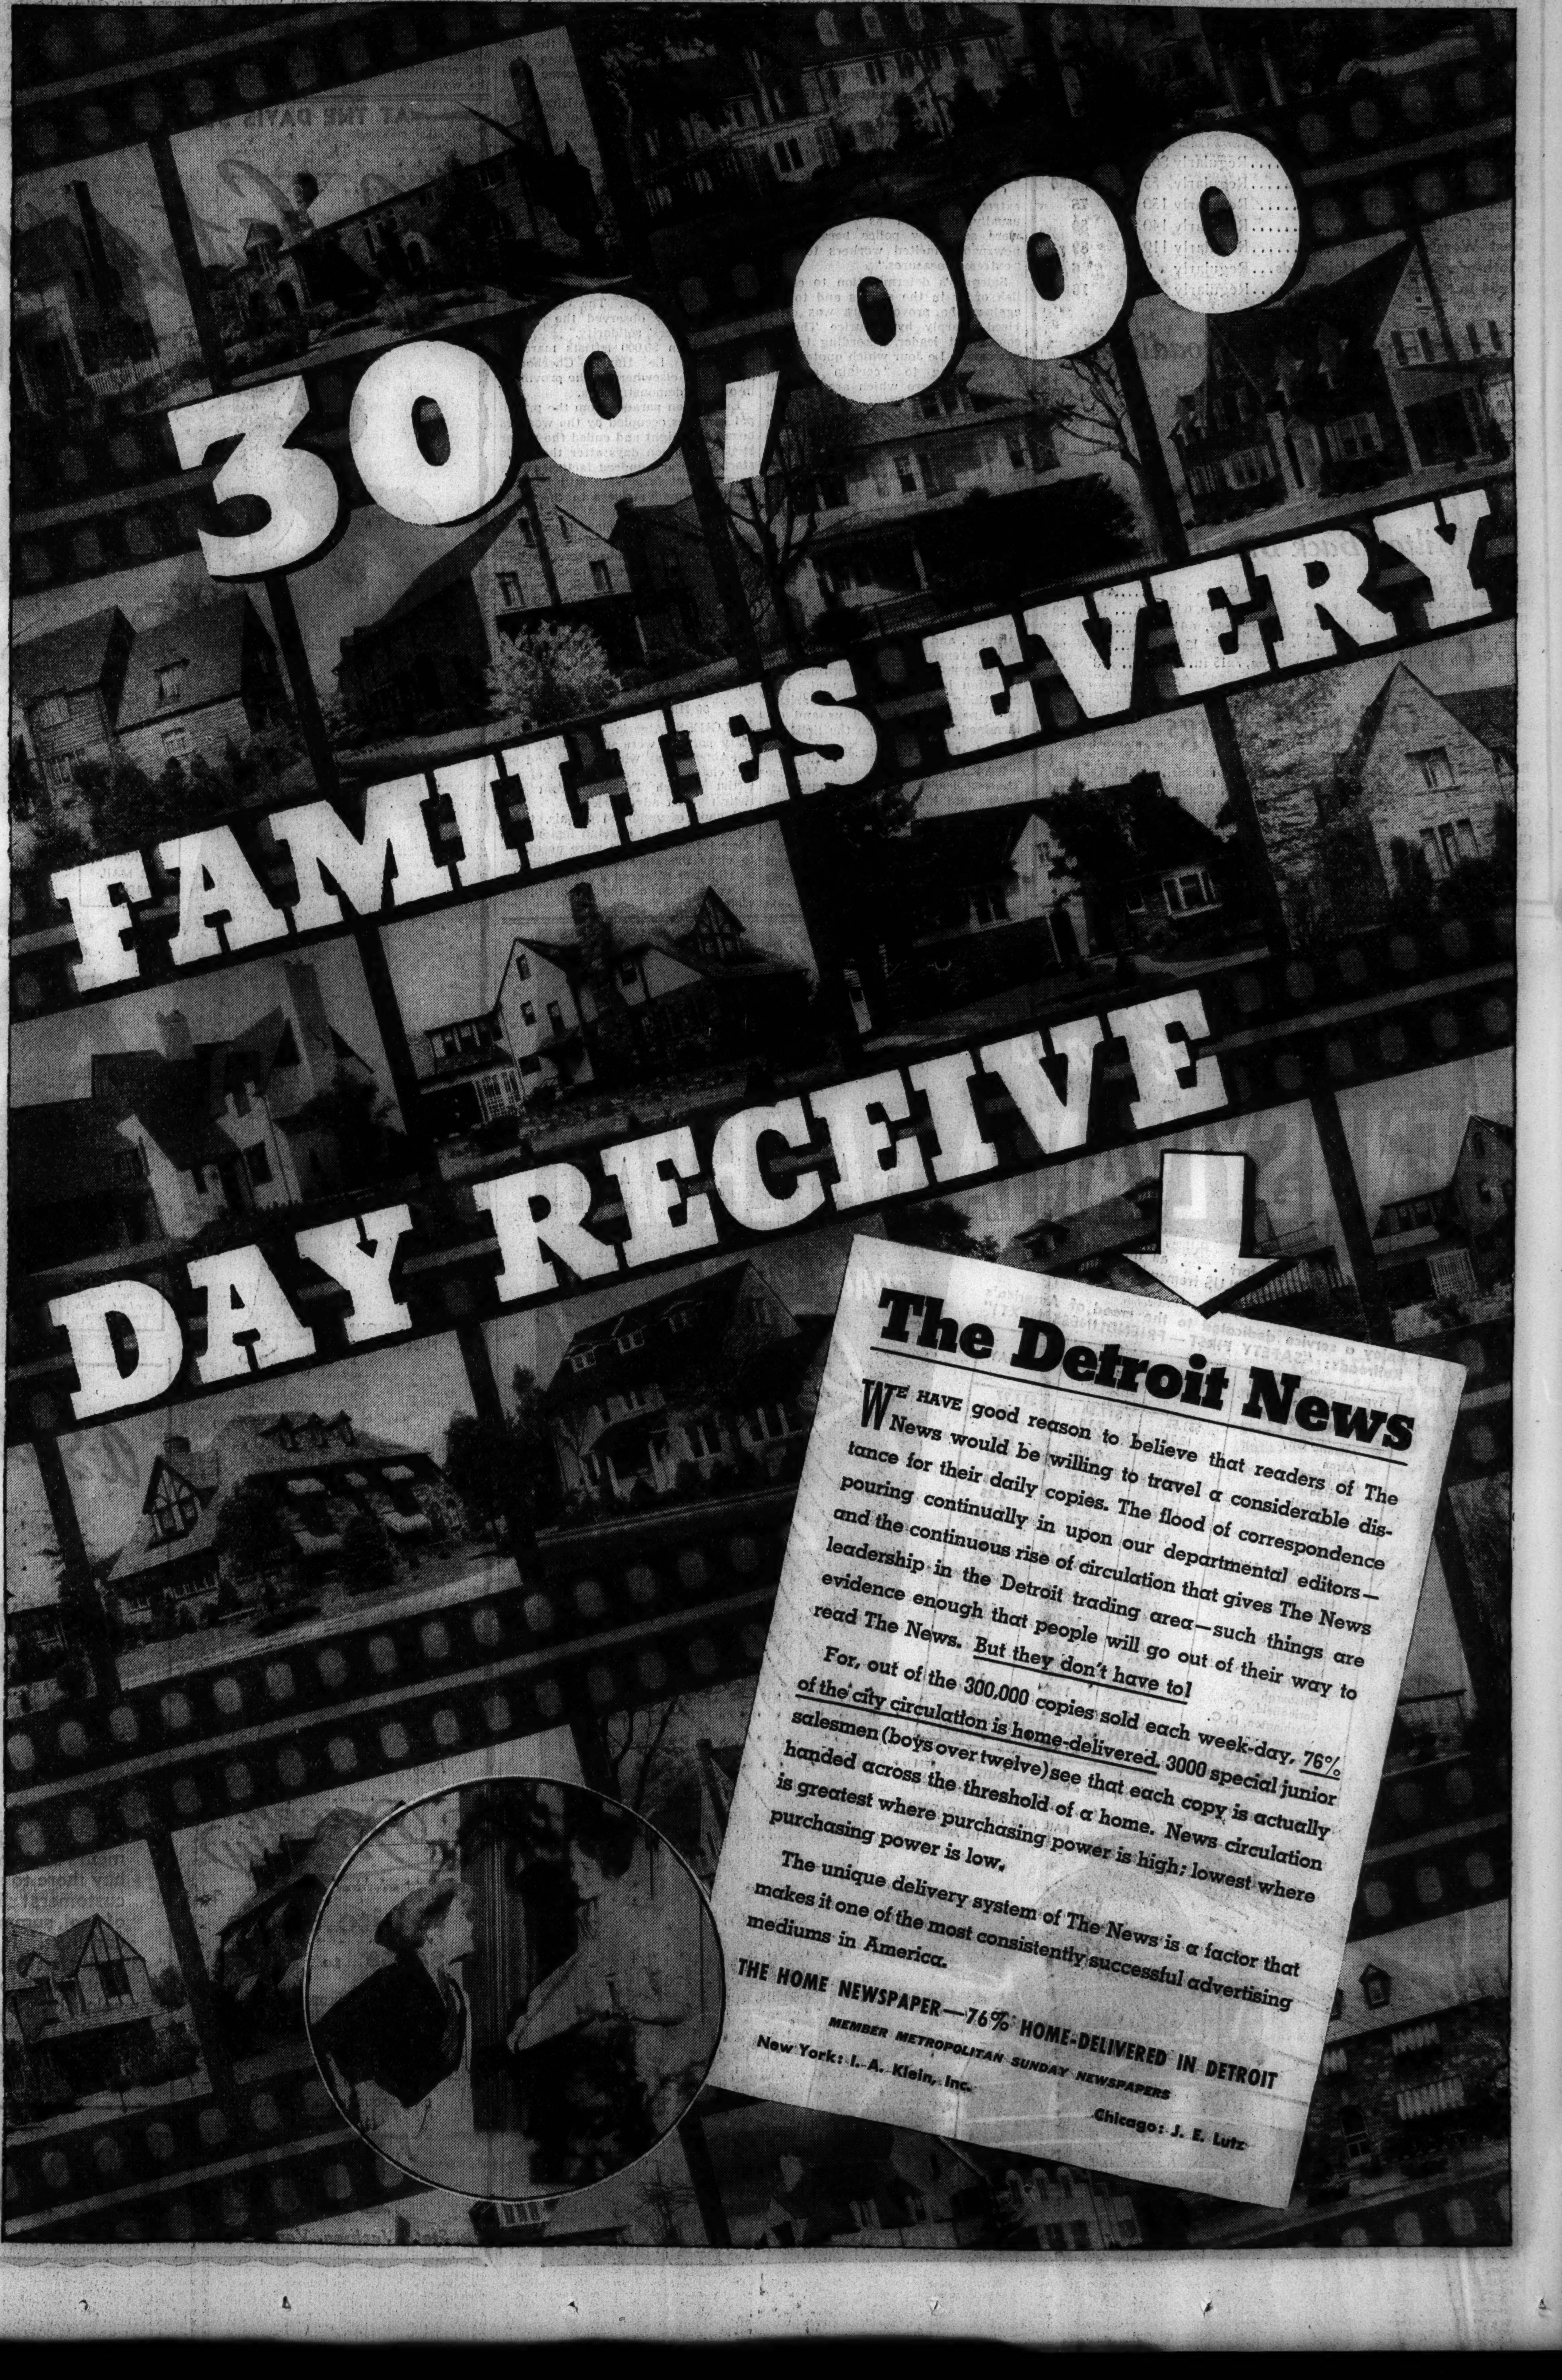
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE



The Detroit News

WE HAVE good reason to believe that readers of The News would be willing to travel a considerable distance for their daily copies. The flood of correspondence pouring continually in upon our departmental editors—and the continuous rise of circulation that gives The News leadership in the Detroit trading area—such things are evidence enough that people will go out of their way to read The News. But they don't have to!

For, out of the 300,000 copies sold each week-day, 76% of the city circulation is home-delivered. 3000 special junior salesmen (boys over twelve) see that each copy is actually handed across the threshold of a home. News circulation is greatest where purchasing power is high; lowest where purchasing power is low.

The unique delivery system of The News is a factor that makes it one of the most consistently successful advertising mediums in America.

SHERIF'S FORCES RULE PITTSBURGH IN M'NAIR RUMPUS

Mayor Posts $5,000 Bail to Await Jury Action.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 14.—(AP)—Sherif Frank I. Gollmar controlled Pittsburgh police today after Mayor William N. McNair's arrest on a charge of "misbehavior" at the start of a grand jury investigation of the police bureau.

Judge Ralph H. Smith accused the mayor of "deliberate violation of law and promoting a breakdown and demoralization" in the bureau. He acted after McNair, center of a chaotic situation caused by contradictory orders to police, halted magistrates' hearings.

Investigators said the mayor prevented the magistrates from sending prisoners to jail, contending their courts could not operate because records were seized for the grand jury inquiry.

Mayor Has Little to Say.

The usually wise cracking McNair said little at his hearing before Judge Smith yesterday, when he was released in $5,000 bail to await grand jury action on the charge.

"Not guilty," he told the judge.

Judge Smith named Sherif Gollmar emergency guardian of public safety. Gollmar immediately issued orders to deputies to take posts at the ten police courts and arrest any magistrate who does not perform his duties.

McNair was arrested after four days of turmoil in the police bureau, climaxing a series of incidents that have enlivened city hall since a Democratic landslide in 1933 put him in office.

"End of His Rope," Says Judge.

The mayor ordered Safety Director Thomas A. Dunn to go on a 15 day furlough. Dunn refused, although McNair said he himself would act as director. McNair ordered a shakeup involving more than 100 officers. The order was ignored.

Judge Smith called for the grand jury investigation in an attempt to end the confusion, in which officers were given contradictory orders by two public safety directors, two trafic inspectors, and two detective inspectors.

Commenting outside his courtroom on the present charge, Judge Smith said:

"The mayor is at the end of his rope."

INDEPENDENCE IN BANKING.

The directors of the Continental-Illinois bank have voted to retire 5 million dollars' worth of the bank's preferred stock now owned by the RFC. The bank was required to buy back only $2,875,000 of the stock at this time, but the repayment is to be almost twice as large.

This is a step in the right direction. The Continental was the first large bank in the country to sell its preferred stock to the government and considerable significance is therefore to be attached to its present determination. The directors of the bank evidently take the view that an arrangement which may have been justified by an emergency is to be discontinued as quickly as it conveniently can be.

Recognition of the true character of the New Deal and its fiscal policies can lead only to this conclusion. The present national administration has combined gross financial irregularity with ruthlessness in its grasp for power and its use of power. It will not balance its budget and it will not even present an honestly drawn budget. The administration is obliged to borrow in ever-increasing amounts, and as the borrowings rise the pressure on banks to absorb the government's loans is certain to be increased, particularly if world-wide recovery continues. The administration of the federal reserve system is now under political control as it never was before, and in consequence the reserve system is overloaded with government paper. The commercial banks also have far more of it than they should hold, in the opinion of many prudent observers, and unless the control and influence of the government over individual banks are removed the danger is great that they will be coerced into further purchases.

The directors of the First National Bank of Chicago were prompt to recognize the danger and have made provision for the retirement of all the preferred stock in the bank held by the government. More recently it was reported that the direction of the Chase National bank of New York had decided, likewise, to buy back its freedom. Though the Chase bank is the largest in the country and the government's holding of its stock [$50,000,000] was relatively small, this bank is determined to regain its full independence.

These examples indicate more clearly than any words could do the trend of thought of prudent and forethoughtful bankers. They cannot free themselves from all government regulation, nor should they desire to do so, but within limits they can assure their independence of the government in formulating bank policies. That is what they are proposing to do, and it should not be necessary to add that the action they are taking is welcomed particularly by depositors.

THE MEANING OF FREE SPEECH.

The Illinois Supreme court has decided that the park commission was within its rights in denying the use of Soldiers' field to Father Coughlin a year ago. The court said that Father Coughlin's constitutional right of free speech had not been abridged.

It is difficult to see how any other conclusion could have been reached. Father Coughlin's constitutional right to speak would have been impaired if the police had refused him permission to speak anywhere in Chicago or if the police had failed to protect him from disturbers while he was making a public address. No such facts were presented in this appeal. Father Coughlin could have hired any one of a hundred halls in Chicago and if he had done so he would have been given all the protection he needed.

One other point was discussed by the court. The park board, it was held, has the right to grant or deny a permit to use its facilities, but because the board is a public agency the right cannot be exercised arbitrarily or capriciously. Reasonable rules for the granting of permits must be set up and adhered to. This is also a common sense judgment. Unless the board can control within reasonable limits the uses to which the field is put the board cannot carry out, as trustee for the public, the duty of preserving good order and good morals at the field.

When all this has been said, the fact remains that the board might well have used its discretion more wisely. It is difficult to find a valid reason for having refused to let Father Coughlin rent Soldiers' field. The mistake, however, if there was one, was an error of judgment. It did not take the form either of a denial of the speaker's constitutional rights or of an exercise of unwaranted authority by the board.

FOR THE SAKE OF HUMANITY.

Whether it results from the antagonistic propaganda of the opponents of daylight saving or from misreading TRIBUNE editorials, there appears to be some confusion in the public mind as to the extent of the life-saving value of eastern standard time. Inquiries are continually being raised as to whether the reduction in fatal accidents that occurred during the evening hours of March and April was not offset by a compensating increase in the number of fatalities during the morning hours. The records show that there was no upward trend in the morning hours, while the improvement in evening hours was very marked.

Prior to March 1 the record of automobile fatalities for the year 1936 had been running 21 per cent higher than during the year 1935. Promptly on March 1 the 1936 record commenced to recede until it dropped below the level of 1935. When equality of conditions was reëstablished at the end of April the 1936 record immediately soared above that of 1935, as it had earlier in the year. This condition continues. No further improvement can be expected from this life-saving device until after Oct. 1.

The reason? Established working hours in the city of Chicago do not create a morning street congestion in hours of darkness under daylight saving time. It is one of the principal arguments against central standard time that under the old order of things we breakfasted in daylight and found our way home in the darkness during the winter months. The hour of heaviest morning trafic, 8 to 9 o'clock, offers daylight the year round under either standard. There is no morning congestion to fear.

A second misunderstanding arises from the vicious statement that the number of accidents should be the basis of measuring results—that fatalities are merely a matter of luck. Such tactics encourage murder. Safety councils have proved year after year that the ratio of deaths to accidents is 60 per cent greater during hours of darkness than during hours of daylight. Collisions that will mean nothing worse than a bent fender or a broken wheel in daylight produce bent ribs and broken necks in darkness. The pedestrian is a heavy sufferer for the principal reason that the motorist's vision is limited by the range of his headlights.

If legislators at Springfield or citizens of Chicago will permit reason to triumph over party regularity and prejudice there will be no doubt that daylight saving time will be sustained.

CHARACTERISTIC BLINDNESS.

Some of the consequences of the ill advised motor carrier act are just commencing to be experienced by industries that utilize the services of intercity highway trucks. After nearly a year of preparation, the interstate commerce commission's bureau of motor carrier complaints will commence to offer public service during the month of July. Probably one of the first topics to come up for investigation will be the alleged practice of leasing equipment to shippers by the day or week in lieu of assessing standard freight charges, lists of which have been filed with the interstate commerce commission. The immediate reaction of most honest business men will be: "Has the privilege of contract been suspended? Can't a man hire a truck if he wants to? Who built these highways? Is the government trying to make me buy a truck?"

Under the New Deal principles of coördination of transportation, highway service is to be so regulated by burocracy that the conditions under which it operates will be equal to those governing the railways. The latter may not lease their box cars, so the owners of common carrier motor vehicles are also denied that privilege. Of course, there is no great demand for railway box cars in individual intercity service because of the obvious necessity for rails and locomotives, but highway transport suffers from no such handicap.

Despite the well known fact that the country is already oversupplied with the facilities of transportation, burocracy will continue to make a bad condition worse. Railways were adequate for the country's wants, but a government commission must needs fiddle with their freight rates until shippers turned to other forms of transportation and created the trucking industry. In line with the general principle that government control never recedes from ground once gained, it will now proceed to put highway service in a strait-jacket from which the only available escape is private transportation. It will spread rapidly because no firm dependent on common carriage can hope to compete with another which offers the advantages of personal service.

Editorial of the Day

A VESTED INTEREST IN RELIEF.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

Floods of words will be unloosed during the coming campaign on the subject of federal relief expenditures, but the real nature of the vicious problem which both Republicans and Democrats must face can be simply stated. It is how to get rid of the vast relief organization which has fastened itself upon practically every community in the country.

"It is not the poor devils receiving the dole who are compelling the federal government to go on with a system of relief which has become as demoralizing as it is wasteful," wrote Walter Lippmann the other day in the New York Herald Tribune. "They have neither the organization nor the influence. The backbone of the system are the state and local politicians who have found in federal funds large revenues they can spend locally without taxing their constituents. They are the relief lobby, and it is one of the most powerful that ever got itself established."

If President Roosevelt is reëlected it may be taken for granted that this "relief lobby" will be continued and even expanded. His demand for another $1,425,000,000, to be spent like the last four billions under his personal direction and for a new lot of public works, is notice to the nation that this method of administering relief is now a fixed policy of the New Deal. It means building up everywhere a lively public appetite for federal money, which seems to come from the sky in unlimited quantity and for which nobody apparently ever has to pay. The demoralizing effect of this system on local politics, on community self-reliance, on public welfare is already being exposed by persistent critics of the New Deal in many places.

If Republicans are returned to power in Washington they will find no task more insistent than to get back to a dignified method of relief administration under nonpartisan local supervision. It is a formidable task to destroy the political setup now established, but it is a task that cries out to be done.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

BLUE MONDAY? Not this Monday! Today the veterans get their bonus. Congratulations. It's many years back to the days when they earned it, either in dreary, fever ridden camps in this country or on the battlefields of France. I thought it was humorous to ask an ex-doughboy what he was going to do with the nine hundred dollars he said he expected to get from the government; "buy an automobile or go on a tour around the world?" "Well," he said, and not at all humorously, "five hundred dollars goes to pay for an operation on my little girl who is in the hospital and the other four hundred I will give to my wife to pay off a lot of bills that have long been overdue and to buy clothing for three other children." And a lot of other bonus money will flow into similar channels. So I'm glad they're getting it.

‡

AND LOTS of the veterans are so far away from the muddy trenches, the patter of bullets on steel helmets, the hiss of shrapnel in the air and the reeking fumes of poison gas that they speak of the bonus as being a gift from the gods. They remind me of the country boy Gov. Joe Fifer used to tell about who worked a week splitting fence rails for twenty-five cents a day. Then he walked to town and took his girl to the circus and spent what money he had left buying peanuts and pink lemonade. The girl told him he shouldn't waste his money like that and the boy said, "O, come easy, go easy!"

‡

ARE YOU SO SATISFIED?

You went away when winter was everywhere
And came not back when roses turned so red:—
They try to make me understand that you
Have gone to live always among the dead.

You never seem to hear me when I call,—
With all my searching we somehow fail to meet,
Yet, always at the dusk I cry for you
And at the dawn my unavailing cry repeat.

And I suppose a hundred years from now,
After weary winters and each fading fall,
I'll still go searching past the stars
And space shall echo with my lonely call.

Tonight I stand alone where once we stood—
Remember, it was on that hill beyond the town:—
Strange, you lie content upon a bed of clay
And seem to love the lace upon your burial gown.

ABORIGINE.

‡

IT'S A GRAND NEW WEEK which starts today. The Republican convention is behind us and the Democratic big show yet to come, so this week we are free. That is, we would be if it wasn't for the pest who asks, "Who do you think's going to win, Landon or Roosevelt?"

‡

STILL I WISH THE Democrats would get through with their convention. I feel like the man who asked for a room at a hotel, but the clerk said he had only one room left and that was immediately over the room of one of their oldest and best paying guests, who was extremely nervous and driven to a perfect fury by any sudden noise. The man promised he would be very careful and not make the slightest sound if given the vacant room, so the clerk reluctantly let him have it. The man tiptoed very carefully into his room and sat down on the bed. Then he forgot himself and, taking off one of his shoes, dropped it on the floor. He was horrified by what he had done and sat down without another movement for ten, fifteen, or twenty minutes. Then he heard a knock at the door. "Who's there?" he asked in a hoarse whisper. "The man who lives in the room below," said a voice. "For God's sake drop the other shoe."

‡

JIMMY WALKER, being sued for five hundred dollars by a New York beauty shoppe on account of bills run up by his first wife, contends that facial treatments are not necessaries of life under the law. If James gets a woman jury he's sunk.

‡

AND IT WILL BE a grand idea to have Col. Frank Knox as presiding officer of the senate. His editorial training will not forsake him and when a senator gets up with a long and tiresome harangue we may expect the Vice President to bang his gavel and say, "cut that stuff to a couple of sticks." In my day as a reporter the editor wasn't so polite; he used to say, "cut this slush to half a stick." A stick, if you don't know, was a container of type the old time printer used to hold in his hand, and was about two inches deep. And I hope Vice President Knox [if and when] doesn't forget to say to the senators in the words of Jim Keeley: "Give us the facts, the real facts; if you haven't got the facts, getthell outten here." It may not be parliamentary language, but it would do the senate a lot of good.

‡

THE PAGAN.

Why should I at some altar bend,
When I can walk amid great trees?
When I can shout beneath the stars,
Why should I grovel on my knees?

God's green cathedral I must choose
To pay my vows to His great name.
Today, when summertide is high,
I have no sense of sin and shame.

A hopeless pagan, lost to good,
I stand upon the mountain height.
God's far horizons speak to me,
I have no fear of death or blight.

Perhaps when age brings pain and loss
At some low altar I may pray
For sin's release—but why should I
Do penance on this high June day?

MOTION SICKNESS.

WITH many persons any unusual motion or change of direction will bring on digestive upsets, dizziness, and disturbances of the circulation. The most common experience is seasickness, but the same symptoms may arise when riding in a motor car, an airship, or on a merry-go-round.

Seasickness is as old as navigation. In seeking to escape from Marc Antony, Cicero become so ill from the pitching of the boat that he desired to return to death rather than expose himself to further suffering. Plutarch held that the sensations were of psychic origin; that only those fell victims who were afraid of the water. There is considerable testimony indicating that even seasoned sailors may become ill during violent storms or unusually rough weather. At any rate, wide differences in susceptibility are observed and many are unable to cross the ocean with a single comfortable day.

The early signs of seasickness include a feeling of emptiness in the stomach and of tightness in the throat. This occasions frequent swallowing. Headache, some dizziness, and drowsiness usually precede nausea, and as these manifestations increase in severity an utter distaste for food develops. Uncontrolable retching and vomiting come on in waves. The gait is unsteady and the face, at first pale and bloodless, may become congested. Vertigo [dizziness] may be almost continuous, and if there is an appreciable amount of vomiting the abdominal muscles will become sore and tender. The appearance personifies "despair." The eyes are sunken and often show signs of jaundice. The tongue is heavily coated.

If one is inclined to become motion sick, treatment should be begun 48 hours before the journey is undertaken. This includes a reduction in the amount of food consumed, which should be of the simplest character. Once launched on the trip, food should be taken in small quantities and all liquids restricted, at least for the first 24 hours. Many who are subject to the malady have received much relief through wearing colored glasses and through training themselves not to observe moving objects.

Promptly upon the appearance of symptoms the patient should go to bed, with an icebag for the head and heat for the stomach area. If vomiting occurs some food should be taken soon thereafter. A certain amount of digestion will take place, and the practice of eating after every vomiting attack is desirable. This may be a difficult prescription to follow, as the distaste for food increases. A soft egg with a little toast, a small piece of steak or roast beef with one vegetable should be consumed, even though the patient is not hungry and has a marked antipathy for food. Fruits and fruit juices appear to accentuate the symptoms, as will large quantities of liquid. If coffee is used it should be strong and black and taken without sugar.

All sorts of remedies have been suggested, most of which are of little value. Some of them are sedatives in disguise and one should never take a drug of this sort except under a physician's instructions. No mechanical device will be of much assistance, although a so-called seasickness belt had a great vogue some years ago. One might as well wear a snakeskin collar.

With excessive vomiting acidosis must be guarded against. The body tissues will need water, and the sipping of iced ginger ale is often helpful. Unfortunately a remedy that proves efficacious in one case will not in another. It is largely a question of nervous temperament and emotional stability. Some travelers relate that by using enough sedatives to make them drowsy they were able to sleep for the first 24 hours on board ship. The theory of this type of management is that the nervous reactions become so dulled that their constitutional effects will not manifest themselves.

HAVE EAR EXAMINED.

Mrs. M. C. writes: About a month ago I was hit in the left ear with a hard baseball. There was pain for weeks, but it gradually left. But now I notice that each time I bathe and the water gets into the ear there are terrible shooting pains throughout the whole head, starting from the ear. I was told to put a few drops of hot oil into it, but I was afraid to do so. Will this condition eventually disappear?

REPLY.

You should have your ear examined by an ear specialist. The blow may have caused some injury to the auditory canal or ear drum or both. Keep water out of the ear and don't put hot oil or anything else into it. Let the ear specialist advise you. Your hearing is too important to trifle with.

MENTAL HYGIENE.

J. H. R. writes: In your answers to inquiries you mention poor mental hygiene. What can one do to improve his mental hygiene? You also refer to nervous instability. What can be done to improve or overcome this condition?

REPLY.

Self-training is the best treatment for nervousness. There are many good books on the subject which you can obtain from your public library. Sometimes it is necessary to consult a physician to whom you can relate your fears, repressions, and inhibitions. More often than not he will be able to reassure you and assist in directing logical thinking.

SEE AUTHORITIES.

N. P. writes: Is there any danger to health as the result of a cemetery being allowed to bury bodies in a trench grave, only about four feet deep, about 150 feet from our home? The odor, especially on hot days, is sickening.

REPLY.

Good sanitation demands that foul odors from all sources be eliminated. If the health department in your city declines to act in the matter appeal to the directors of the cemetery association or to your local city council.

SCIATICA.

M. B. H. writes: A severe attack of sciatica has kept my niece confined for six months. She is now free from pain but cannot straighten her leg. What can be done to save this girl from becoming crippled?

REPLY.

An expert orthopedic surgeon should be in charge, as deformity can probably be prevented if prompt treatment can be instituted. Heat and massage will help. Plaster casts and what are known as "extension devices" may be needed.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

The Small States Offer a Plan

Philadelphia, June 15, 1787—In convention. Mr. Patterson of New Jersey laid before the convention the plan which he said several of the deputations wished to be substituted in place of that proposed by Mr. Randolph of Virginia [which modified has been incorporated in the report of the committee of the whole.] After some little discussion of the most proper mode of giving it a fair deliberation it was agreed that it should be referred to a committee of the whole and that, in order to place the two plans in due comparison, the other [the Virginia plan] should be recommitted. At the earnest desire of Mr. Lansing of New York and some other gentlemen it was also agreed that the convention should not go into committee of the whole until tomorrow, by which delay the friends of the plan proposed by Mr. Patterson would be better prepared to explain and support it.

The propositions from New Jersey moved by Mr. Patterson were that the articles of confederation ought to be revised to be adequate to the exigencies of government and the preservation of the Union, that congress ought to be authorized to raise revenue by duties on imports, by stamps on paper and by postage on letters and packages; to pass acts for the regulation of foreign and domestic trade, all acts to be adjudged by the common law judiciaries of the states with an appeal to the judiciary of the United States; that requisitions upon the states for support of the federal government shall be in proportion to free citizens and three-fifths of other persons not remunerated and that acts to enforce collection in noncomplying states may be devised.

Provision is made that blank number of persons shall constitute the federal executive to be elected by congress, to be ineligible a second time and to be removable by congress on the application of a majority of the state executives; that the executives shall execute all federal acts and direct all military operations except that no executive shall take charge personally of any troops as general; that a federal judiciary shall be established with a supreme tribunal to have authority in the rights of ambassadors, cases of captures from an enemy, piracy, cases in which foreigners may be interested, concerning the construction of treaties and the regulation of trade or the collection of federal revenue; that all acts of congress, made by virtue of these powers, and all treaties shall be the supreme law of the states and the judiciary of the states shall be bound by them and that in case of opposition the federal executives may call forth the power of the confederation to compel obedience.

BUSINESS

25

Q.—Is the United States government in the business of manufacturing rum?

A.—Yes. In the Virgin Islands.

26

Q.—Does President Roosevelt have the power to raise or lower tarifs?

A.—He can change them 50 per cent.

27

Q.—Does the American business man have an opportunity to be heard in opposition to the reduction of tarifs?

A.—The reciprocal treaties are negotiated in absolute secrecy and, while a business man may enter a protest, he has no way of knowing what negotiations are being made.

Q.—Can President Roosevelt negotiate treaties without ratification by the senate?

A.—The Democratic congress gave him the power to negotiate trade agreements with foreign countries.

29

Q.—What is meant by "reciprocal trade agreement"?

A.—President Roosevelt has absolute power to enter into agreements with foreign nations to reduce our tarifs in return for trade concessions. These are the reciprocal trade agreements.

WILL CROW NO MORE.

Chicago, June 4.—[Friend of the People.]—A neighbor of ours has a rooster that is in the habit of continually crowing in the early hours of the morning. As I have been informed nothing could be done about this, may I ask if this would not be violating an ordinance? In other words, what steps may one take to compel the neighbor to put a stop to this nuisance? K. G.

Officers assigned to investigate report that they made inquiries and learned the name of the owner, and when interviewed she stated she did not know the rooster was annoying the neighbors. Owner states that she has killed the rooster to remove cause for further complaint.

JAMES P. ALLMAN,
Commissioner of Police.

TAX DEED.

Chicago, June 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can party holding tax deed on two apartment building and living in one apartment rent the other apartment and collect the rent for same? 2. How long does holder of tax deed have to have same before claiming property?

A. E. R.

1. Under Illinois law the tax deed is more in the nature of a cloud on the title than in the nature of a title in itself, but if the deed holder is occupying the premises he might bluff prospective tenants into paying rent to him.

2. Seven years' possession with payment of taxes might give a title.

ENEMIES OF THE AMERICAN HOME.

Chicago, June 10.—Your item on termites in last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE in which they were referred to as the No. 2 enemy of the American home was inaccurate. The enemies of the American home I list below from the viewpoint of a biologist:

1. Bacteria—The five most common of wood bacteria cause more damage [decay or rotting] than any other. Every home, every building, every fence post is a target for decay. For years scientists have tried in vain to cut this terrific bill down by the use of paint, tar, creosote, and other preventives, but to little effect. Flesh and food bacteria also cause a great loss. Every home is losing money every day. The ice box and refrigerator have been installed in a small percentage of homes to cut down this loss, but the saving is yet rather small compared to the loss. A large percentage of doctors' bills come in this list. And I might also add funeral expenses. Also dentists' bills.

2. Fire—Commonly called fires cause a major part of the loss in this section. However, many fires do not reach the combustion stage or intensity of 2,000 degrees and are not commonly called fire.

3. Style—This loss falls mostly on the wealthier class, but nevertheless is a loss and we cannot ignore it. It is easily winner of third place.

Fourth place might be given to termites, but I doubt if there is sufficient evidence. FRANCIS L. ROBBINS, M. A.

COMPULSORY BAR ASSOCIATIONS.

Maywood, Ill., June 8.—As a member of the compulsory Idaho Bar association and now an attorney admitted to practice in Illinois, may I make reply to the letter by Mr. Edward C. Guilmez wherein he urges a compulsory bar association for Illinois lawyers?

1. A compulsory bar association would give the legislators an excuse to license the lawyers at a certain rate per annum. This is $5 per annum in Idaho, more than some young attorneys can afford, and the rate would probably be much greater in Illinois.

2. It affords an opportunity for a few attorneys to form a clique and dominate the entire association and the members in it. This is now the situation in Idaho, and the result is that only 15 per cent of the attorneys have anything to do with the association although members of it by law.

3. The local members of the association will not function by reason of prejudice caused by paragraph 2 above.

4. There are many other objections which I do not care to have in print, but which Mr. Guilmez should inquire about.

By reason of the above I move that the idea of a compulsory bar association for Illinois be quashed.

HENRY L. REYNOLDS.

PUPPIES AS PRIZES.

Chicago, June 9.—The latest advertising stunt to bob up in conjunction with screeno and sweepstakes at the theaters, that of raffling off live puppies to the children at Saturday matinées seems to be just about the limit. What becomes of the poor pups when they are brought home by the children who have won them and the parents of the children do not want the pup? MRS. CARL OLSON.

HOW ABOUT IT, MR. RIDGWAY?

Chicago, June 11.—Will you kindly inform me whether this interesting new farm crop that everybody is talking about is correctly called soy beans, soya beans, soja beans, or cow peas?

CONFUSED.

THE DELIGHTS OF CALHOUN COUNTY.

Chicago, June 7.—Three cheers for Representative Kaindl! Our family has been Calhoun county boosters for years, but I have never heard "the Kingdom" so gloriously described by any one. People not acquainted with this beautiful peninsula would hardly believe how truly uncommercialized it really is. In the many years that we "have gone back to Calhoun" I never remember seeing a hot dog stand or bill board in the county. Truly this county is individual.

Mr. Kaindl has described Calhoun's spring beauty perfectly, but I would say any time of the year would be a chance for city people to enjoy old world quietness.

My grandfather, who I am proud to say, at the age of 76 in 1934 was elected county judge of Calhoun, came to this vicinity as a young man and is typical of its residents in that he is peaceful, kindly and hospitable.

My fondest memories spring from my yearly trips to the apple kingdom, and I'll always remember strawberry ice cream socials, apple butter made in the old iron kettle, soft soap made in a similar one, eating green apples, fishing in country boy style, lazily floating up the Mississippi on an old side wheeler, the swing under the old apple tree, and more.

I sincerely hope that those who are tired of but tied to city life will go and feast their eyes a while on beautiful Calhoun. Our favorite route is U. S. highway 66 to Jacksonville, 67 to Jerseyville, then 38 to Hardin, Ill.

LOUISE MASTON MILLER.

THE LINE MUST BE BUSY.

Chicago, June 9.—The soldiers' bonus will soon be paid, and the American telephone operators who served with the A. E. F. have been forgotten.

This group of women who did their part formed one of the most important units which helped to win the war. Surely they should be paid their bonus. Attached to the signal corps of the army, and at all times under army orders, the world war telephone operators were true soldiers and as such deserve their reward.

Army nurses, women attached to the quartermaster division, the "yeomenettes"—all will receive their bonus; only the "hello girls" are excluded, and why? MILLICENT MARTIN.

THE PLAYBOY OF THE WHITE HOUSE.

Chicago, June 10.—Some of your criticisms of the New Deal may be justified, since no administration can be infallible in all its policies. However, your reference to the President of the United States as "the playboy of the White House" cannot be reconciled with the facts or justified in any way. I can think of no phrase that more undescribes than the one you use.

You probably have in mind one of our good Republican ex-Presidents, Harding, for instance—but surely not Hoover, who never had ambition enough to play.

FRANK E. MCCARTHY.

WHAT FARLEY LEFT OUT.

Downers Grove, Ill., May 27.—Call-Me-Jim Farley missed a swell opportunity to keep his mouth shut when he characterized Gov. Landon as merely a governor of a prairie state. I suppose James thought he was exercising restraint by omitting the word "lousy." Watch the governor chase Franklin out of the White House with the cornstalk that grows from the Farley seed. CCC 'COWBOY' MOUNTS A BLACK BEAR; RIDES OFF IN ALL DIRECTIONS

West Yellowstone, Mont., June 14.—(AP)—Mix one CCC enrollee, one black bear, and one garbage can—and what have you?

The bear enjoyed tipping over the camp garbage can.

Enrolee Henry Drew climbed up to the mess hall roof—with a pocketful of rocks.

Drew poised a pebble.

But he edged too close to the eaves and toppled to the ground—astride bruin's back.

The encounter was furious but brief.

The bear ran in one direction, the enrollee in another. The garbage can just rolled around.

MOUNTAINEERS' SONGS, CENTURIES OLD, ARE SUNG FOR THOUSANDS

Ashland, Ky., June 14.—(AP)—The songs that the mountain folk have sung throughout the years were repeated again here today before an audience of several thousand, including many from other states.

The annual gathering at the "traipsin' woman" cabin on the Mayo trail near here of the summer festival organized by Miss Jean Thomas of Ashland, was sponsored for the first time by the music project division of the WPA. That body has been busy for weeks having the words and music of the quaint old ballads written down to preserve them.

Included in the program were the old Lincolnshire dances, brought from England in colonial days and forgotten by all save the mountaineers, and the "dancing games" of children, including their favorite, the "paw-paw patch." There were ballads and hymns with the old fashioned dulcimer to "set the tune." But, from the applause, the hit of the day was Chad Caldwell, a little mountain boy about 3 years old, who played a cornstalk fiddle. His brother Babe, a year older, sang and played his own accompaniment on a home made gourd banjo.

Byron Couple Celebrates 69th Nuptial Anniversary

2 CHURCHES PAY RENT FOR YEAR WITH RED ROSES

Manheim, Pa., June 14.—(AP)—Deep in the Pennsylvania Dutch country two churches paid their annual rent today—one red rose from each.

It was the Baron von Stiegel, a glass manufacturer, who demanded his fellow townsmen of Manheim pay "one red rose annually in the month of June forever" as the rent for the plat he deeded them for the Zion Evangelical church of Manheim in 1772. The benefactor of the Tulpehocken Reformed church at Stouchsburg was Caspar Wistar, who made the not unusual contract for the time in 1745.

Today at Manheim S. Richard Harr, Lancaster attorney, presented the rose to Mrs. Bessie Boyer Van Tassel, a descendant of Baron von Stiegel.

At Tulpehocken a red rose pays the rent and a white one is a token of appreciation for Wistar's help. Mrs. Francis R. Strawbridge of Philadelphia accepted the roses today from the congregation.

BROTHERS FILE CROSS PETITION IN SISTERS' SUIT

Los Angeles, Cal., June 14.—(AP)—Two brothers who married sisters acted together today—just as their wives did in suing them for divorce.

David and Marcus countered that filed cross complaints for divorce against Mrs. Celia Sochat and Mrs. Evelyn Sochat, sisters.

The sisters had charged the husbands left them without cause.

David and Marus countered that Celia and Evelyn called them unseemly names and simultaneously ordered them from the home all four had occupied.

VENEREAL DISEASES

attack more people and wreck more lives than any other serious ailment!

Because a venereal disease can be contracted innocently, and exist without your knowledge, it's wise to undergo a medical examination!

MOST men and women are inclined to think of pneumonia, cancer, tuberculosis, typhoid, and heart and kidney diseases as the principal causes of disability and premature death among adults.

Yet each year syphilis and gonorrhea attack 1,555,000 Americans—60% more than pneumonia, and 14% more than cancer, tuberculosis, typhoid, and heart and kidney diseases combined!

Thus venereal infections are by far the most common of all the serious disorders that afflict the human race. And, unless promptly and properly treated, they almost invariably result in disabling or life-shortening consequences.

For instance, neglected syphilis may easily lead to heart disease, blindness, deafness, apoplexy, locomotor ataxia, paralysis or even insanity! And neglected gonorrhea may be the cause of a sight-destroying eye infection, sterility, crippling rheumatism, or prostate, bladder and other troubles.

Because a venereal disease can be contracted innocently, and exist without one's knowledge, every man and woman should determine to submit to a protective medical examination. Unless this is done, an unsuspected infection may progress to the point that a cure will be extremely difficult if not impossible.

Better to know than guess!

It's far, far better to know the facts than to guess about your condition. For when a venereal infection is discovered in time, treatment can be started that will either cure the disease or arrest the development of dangerous complications.

So don't delay, but get a thorough physical and blood examination from your family doctor or the Public Health Institute at once! Either can be depended on to give you an honest opinion; in fact, an investigating committee of prominent physicians said of the Institute: "Striking evidence of a desire to serve the patient . . . is the large number classified as No Disease Found."

The friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians of the Public Health Institute specialize in the examination and treatment of venereal infections. To date they have given more than 4,000,000 treatments to almost 250,000 individuals—a record to inspire the utmost confidence in their experience! Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and for the sake of even greater privacy is known by number instead of by name.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers low cost venereal disease treatment to those unable to pay higher fees. A complete examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including urinalysis and Wassermann blood test, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Hence it's the height of folly not to make sure you haven't a venereal infection to rob you of your health and cut years from your normal span of life. For not only can dependable medical attention be obtained confidentially at nominal cost, but even persons temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

GUERNSEY PARISH CATTLE SHOW IS TO BE TRIED HERE

Novel Exhibition July 18 at A. D. Lasker Farm.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Northern Illinois dairy cattle breeders are planning to introduce into this state the parish type of show which originated many years ago on the Island of Guernsey. The first show will be held by the Northern Illinois Guernsey Breeders' association at Albert D. Lasker's Mill Road farm in Lake Forest, on Saturday, July 18.

Each of the thirteen members of the association expects to exhibit about six of his best animals. Prizes will be awarded in five male classes and in five female classes, including animals of various ages from calves to mature sires and dams. There will be junior and senior championship awards made for each sex. Female and male grand champions will be selected.

Plan Exhibit at Springfield.

An outstanding feature of the plan is to show the winners in each class as individuals but under the direction of the Northern Illinois Breeders' organization at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17 to 23, according to Edwin C. Welch, member and one of the three executive committee members. He says that this plan of exhibiting under the auspices of a breeders' association is a new idea in show circles.

"In our July show we expect to duplicate the Guernsey Islander's parish show plan except in the manner of exhibiting our animals," said Mr. Welch. "On the island of Guernsey dairymen are required to tie their animals to posts around the ring while they are being judged. In our show we will lead the animals and attempt to use some showmanship so that we can meet competition in the bigger shows."

Meeting to Complete Plans.

Mr. Welch announced yesterday that plans for the Lake Forest show would be completed at the association's next monthly meeting to be held at Mrs. R. R. McCormick's home near Wheaton on June 24.

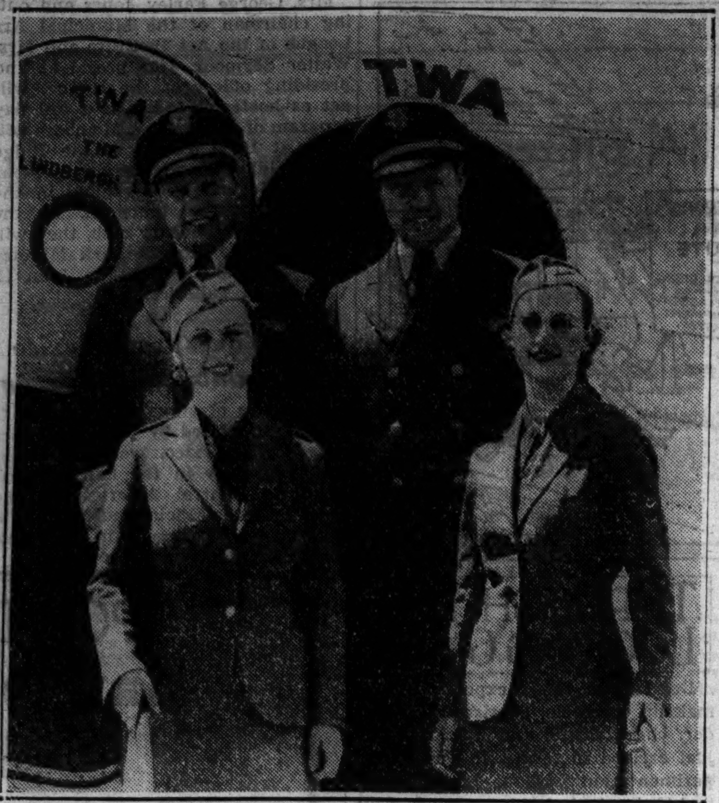
The parish show plan is being launched to aid in fostering ideas of the Guernsey association. Every cow in a member's herd is on official advanced registry test, and is kept on test year after year to obtain a lifetime record, according to Mr. Welch.

"Our members," he said, "believe that the time is coming when a farmer or breeder of Guernseys is not going to ask for foundation stock out of a cow that produces a high record under artificial conditions, but will want to know the life-time butterfat record of the dam of animals he wants to buy. Our association is one out of the four Guernsey organizations in the United States testing cows as a group."

Color in Milk Studied.

The cows of each member of the association are tested for color in milk as well as butterfat. These breeders are not only trying to produce cows that will yield a high record of butterfat but are breeding for higher color in milk, a characteristic which they find is inherited. They are also making feed tests to see if the color quality can be improved.

WHY SKYRIDERS "SEE DOUBLE"



Here's the reason that passengers on TWA planes between Chicago and California have thought they were seeing double recently. Two sets of twins—pilots and hostesses—have been handling planes on that run. They are so paired that one of the brothers and one of the sisters are always aboard a plane together. The pilots are Merrill (left) and Maurice Williams, and the hostesses are Margaret (left) and Marjorie Stuecken.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

(Picture on back page.)

Harvest Good Hay

July 14, 1936.

DRY cool weather last week made it possible for men on the Tribune Experimental farms at Yorkville and Wheaton to get ahead of their normal work schedule in harvesting hay and cultivating corn. Teams and men kicked up the dust as they went about their field work all last week.

Hay is being cured slowly, although it is going into the barns and hay keeper in excellent condition, according to the farm managers. The yield of alfalfa hay is expected to be much less than it was last year when there was so much hay produced on the farms that the managers had difficulty in finding storage space for all of it. Accurate figures on the alfalfa hay yields are not yet available, but rough estimates made on the first hay taken from the fields indicate that the first cutting will be in the neighborhood of a ton per acre. In some fields it may run slightly higher.

Takes 3 Days to Cure

It has taken about three days for some of the alfalfa to cure properly on the Yorkville farm, although the crop is thin on the ground. In normal weather it takes much less time for curing. With favorable curing weather the first cutting of alfalfa will all be harvested by the end of the week.

At the Yorkville farm the hay makers have put about 50 tons of alfalfa hay in one of the cattle barns. There are about 50 acres of alfalfa and 25 acres of alfalfa and timothy mixed to be harvested this season. Clover will not be ready to harvest on the Yorkville place until after the middle of the month.

Approximately 30 acres of alfalfa was cut on the Wheaton farm last week. About 20 acres of it was cured and stored in the metal hay keeper. The men have about 37 acres of alfalfa to harvest and expect to finish this week. The metal hay keeper will be filled with chopped alfalfa hay from the first cutting.

Farmers at the Wheaton place are having no trouble in curing the alfalfa. The crop is so thin it is not necessary to turn it over to hasten drying.

Corn, Cutworms and Drouth

Cutworms continue to cause trouble on the Yorkville farm and on neighboring farms. The pest is causing the greatest damage in fields broken out of sod this spring. In some cases corn "ankle high" is being cut off at the surface by the worm.

Last week the corn began to show signs of being injured by lack of rain. A few hours of hot sunshine caused the leaves to curl. In most fields corn lacks the rich green color characteristic of the plants at this time of the year.

All the corn big enough to be cultivated on the Yorkville farm has been gone over twice—the fields have been cultivate both ways. The workers plan to start cultivating the corn a third time this week.

Schools' Interest Mounts

Teachers and children in Chicago and suburban schools have become more interested in the Tribune farms since they have learned how material from these two farms can be effectively used in the schoolroom.

An increasing number of school children have been visiting the farms in groups since Miss Sarah M. Dailey, mathematics teacher of the Mark Twain school, told in this column recently how she made use of a model of the Tribune's Yorkville Experimental farm in teaching arithmetic to eighth grade children.

PRAISE YANKEE FOR SAVING 20 IN REBEL WARFARE

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 14.—Nicaraguan newspapers gave high, if belated, praise today to Fletcher Warren, first secretary of the American legation, for rescuing twenty Nicaraguan women and children and several Britishers and Americans during the hostilities on May 31 when they were caught between rifle and machine gun fire in the Managua Golf club and on the links. The papers said:

"Following the American custom, women and children were rescued first. Warren entered the danger zone while the firing was intense. The belligerents ceased firing when the secretary appeared carrying an American flag and allowed him to take the refugees to safety. Only desultory firing continued after Warren's rescue and many believed his appearance stopped the fighting which would have resulted in heavy noncombatant loss."

3 GRAND JURIES EYE CALIFORNIA GRAFT CHARGES

San Francisco, Cal., June 14.—(AP)—Graft, bribery, and corruption charges occupied two legislative investigating committees, three grand juries, and numerous courts in California today.

The San Francisco police department, the state board of equalization, several state liquor enforcement officers, and affairs of the Los Angeles city board of education have become involved.

Several months ago Internal Revenue Collector John V. Lewis of San Francisco disclosed a retired police officer had been forced to pay income tax on approximately $100,000.

The Alameda county [Oakland] grand jury heard testimony from a state liquor enforcement officer that he accepted $500 from a restaurant operator to "fix" a liquor violation case.

SEIZED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE.

Andrew Jackson, 22 years old, who came to Chicago from Kewanee, Ill., to look for a job, was booked yesterday by the Summerdale police on a charge of passing a spurious $10 check at the Bryn Mawr Broadway currency exchange, 5545 Broadway, last May 14.

SET NEW RULES ON POISON SALES; SCAN 50 DEATHS

Warn Insurance Firms of "Dangerous Risks."

Springfield, Mass., June 14.—(AP)—Insurance firms today were warned to "clean house" of "dangerous risks" as detectives continued investigation of half a hundred suspicious deaths in Ludlow and other nearby mill towns.

District Attorney Thomas F. Moriarty notified the state board of registration in pharmacy to end immediately the ease with which a certain poison may be purchased in drug stores.

This poison was found in large quantities in the organs of three men who were at first thought to have died accidentally.

Justice George B. Haas of Ludlow previously had termed the case "a gigantic insurance racket, responsible perhaps for nearly a half-hundred deaths."

"It is of the utmost importance for the community, as well as the authorities," Judge Haas asserted, "to be rid of this present situation, which I regard as a dangerous one.

Ready to Aid Officials.

"I will be very glad to present to District Attorney Moriarty any information which I have concerning the matter and give him the source of my information.

"While we may not be able to get legal evidence sufficient to warant prosecution and conviction, I think the exposure thus far made will be sufficient to cause those who I think have been engaged in this business to get out of the racket.

"Furthermore, I am confident that the insurance companies themselves are bound to be more careful in the future of the risks they insure in this section, and that will also be beneficial in its results. My whole concern, of course, is to see the companies clean house in this matter, and cease insuring this kind of risks in Ludlow."

Detectives Press Search.

Meanwhile, detectives concentrated their attention upon the three most recent deaths under investigation.

Frank Halgas, 50, of Ludlow, was found April 4 lying in a street, apparently slain by a hit-and-run driver.

Frank Krol, also of Ludlow, tumbled down a flight of stairs to his death at his boarding house May 25.

Jacob Znoj, 50, of nearby Chicopee, died April 22, apparently of a heart attack.

Early decisions of accidental death were erased when Dr. William F. Boos, eminent Boston toxicologist, examined the organs of the three victims and found in each similar amounts of the same poison.

"Parties for the Bride-to-Be," a booklet of menu plans and accompanying recipes for announcement parties and showers, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, the Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

You wouldn't think of going shopping without your hat, would you? You probably would feel just a little bit underdressed.

And that ice cream dessert which you are planning to serve with your dinner tonight may seem a bit underdressed, too, without a topping of peppermint, raspberry, fudge, or orange sauce.

Choose sauces for your frozen desserts as you choose your hats—for becomingness, appropriateness, and harmony of color. Almost any sweet sauce, properly made, blends well with the flavor of vanilla ice cream, and almost any color will do. It isn't difficult to find a hat for a white costume, but be rather more careful in choosing sauces for fruit and nut creams. You wouldn't want to disguise the flavor of a raspberry ice with heavy fudge sauce! That would be as inappropriate and unbecoming as wearing a sombrero with a rosy chiffon evening gown. And as ridiculous. A thin, clear vanilla or raspberry sauce would be quite fitting, however.

Perhaps you'd like to have a few recipes for various sauces to be served with ice cream. Here is a list which you may want to clip for future use.

Butterscotch Sauce.

2-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla

Heat milk to boiling. Add butter and all the sugar. Cook to 224 degrees F., or until thick sirup. Add vanilla and cool without stirring. This may be served hot, too.

Velvet Chocolate Sauce.

16 marshmallows
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup water
½ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate and marshmallows together in top of double boiler with the water. Add sugar, salt, and vanilla. Cool.

FUDGE SAUCE.

Melt one square of unsweetened chocolate over hot water. Add one cup sugar and mix well. Then add slowly ½ cup sweet cream. Cook over slow burner for 10 minutes.

CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT SAUCE.

Melt chocolate peppermints in double boiler. Stir well. Keep in double boiler during meal and serve this sauce hot.

Maple Pecan Sauce.

3 tablespoons butter
¾ cup sugar
¼ cup water
3 tablespoons light corn sirup
¼ cup evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon maple flavoring
½ cup pecans, chopped fine

Melt butter, add sugar, water, and sirup, and boil to soft ball stage [232 degrees F.]. Remove from burner, add milk slowly, then flavoring and nuts.

PINEAPPLE-MARSHMALLOW SAUCE.

Melt about 32 marshmallows in double boiler with one cup boiling water, stirring frequently. Cool and then beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add ¾ cup pineapple juice, a pinch of salt, and ½ teaspoon almond extract. Beat well.

Fading of Film Star Is Theme of New Movie

Old-Timers Play Selves in "Hollywood Boulevard."

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 14.—Two of the major studios have topical pictures in the making which seem highly biographical in some of their phases.

At Paramount it was interesting to watch the scenes for "Hollywood Boulevard," which chronicles the latter end of the career of a once great screen star who faded and went broke. He sells his memoirs, devoting a chapter apiece to women in his life; and then when he sees how the book was breaking homes and creating grief for several second generations, shoots himself.

Some episodes may recall incidents in the sensational life and tragic death of Lou Tellegen. Many who were rival stars with Tellegen are carrying subordinate appearances in the picture, among them Maurice Costello, Francis X. Bushman, Jack Mulhall, Creighton Hale, Bryant Washburn and Conway Tearle. At the studio when you ask what rôles these o: time famous men stars are taking the studio replies that "they are merely appearing as themselves."

At Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer there is the unusual spectacle of Freddie Bartholomew, principal in a recent transoceanic and transcontinental skirmish over his guardianship and $1,200 weekly screen earnings playing in a picture about a little English boy who was transplanted to America and had to fight his battles with the American kids in a New York grammar school. The school is made so typical that it might as well be a seventh grade in Los Angeles, where British born Freddie now lives [but attends the studio school] as New York.

The other kids in Freddie's picture school with whom he disputes and joins forces against the school teacher [Mary Doran] are Jackie Cooper and Mickey Rooney. The movie is named "The Devil Is a Sissy."

Some of the family background and screen incidents woven into the activities of the three kids might well have been suggested—perhaps "lifted" is the better word—from recent newspaper and court chamber stories given circulation by the litigating Bartholomew's.

Shirley Ross gets her first leading rôle as the Rooney boy's aunt in the picture. She also plays the romance lead. Dorothy Peterson plays Rooney's mother. The father and mother of Jackie Cooper are Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, the father being a war veteran and his wife a sarcastic gogetter.

Rowland Brown, who is both director and scenarist, wrote the original story of "The Devil Is a Sissy" and also directs. As writer he may be remembered for the films: "Blood Money" and "Doorway to Hell"; as director for "Scarlet Pimpernel," which he did in England, and for "Hell's Highway," "Hyline" and "State's Attorney" here. This is Brown's first American movie work since he did "Scarlet Pimpernel" for Brown although an American has been absent in England for years.

R. K. O.-Radio has bought a new Damon Runyan racetrack comedy-melodrama, "All Scarlet," and assigned Cortland Fitzsimmons "Death On the Diamond" and "7,000 Witnesses" to write the screen play for John Beal and Heather Angel.

Theda Bara is the only star of silent days who was offered one of the subordinate rôles in Paramount's "Hollywood Boulevard," who has, to date, declined. A blaze which he attributes to a careless smoker cost Harry Carry nearly 600 acres of oat hay on his ranch near Newhall.

Don Ameche, playing Alessandro in "Ramona" in the San Diego county mountains, hopped into his car and drove 50 miles to flee the heat and take a swim. He had barely gotten in the water at La Jolla beach when struck on the right foot by a stingray, and the wound will keep him away from the camera until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Emanuel ["Manny"] Cohen, former production head for Paramount, has applied the name "Major Productions" to his new individual producing organization which will put out the future Mae West pictures, besides one a year each with Gary Cooper and Bing Crosby. Cohen's movies will be released under the Paramount banner, as the individually made films of Harold Lloyd and C. B. De Mille will also continue to be. Mae West begins her next one, described as a "de luxe" version of Lawrence Riley's stage play "Personal Appearance" in July. She will wear modern clothes and forego the hour glass figure.

Fred Astaire has devised a "swing waltz" for his new movie with Ginger Rogers titled "Never Gonna Dance." It's a waltz in swing time; livelier and "with more speed in execution" than the familiar ballroom waltz.

Ann Shirley, now 18, is among the mid-June graduates receiving her diploma from Lawler professional children's school here. Anne says "she thinks it's a mistake for a girl to abandon her studies," and that she will continue through the equivalent of a four year college course with at M.-G.-M. studio and now vice president of "Manny" Cohen's new corporation, was educated for the priesthood but went on the stage.

Red Peony Buds.

BY NANCY CABOT.

For the quilt maker who dotes on intricate designs and difficult patterns, "Red Peony Buds" affords grist for her mill. It is one of the most effective of the many all-over patterns because, when the quilt is completed there is a beautiful series of soft, red peonies rambling over the entire coverlet. Only thirty pieced blocks are required, and a four inch border of white adds the finishing touch.

The Growing Child Needs to Be Active

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"My little boy can't sit quietly in his chair. I think it is good for him, and I tell him to fold his hands and sit still for 15 minutes, and I'll watch the clock, but he never is able to wait until the time has passed."

"When I tell my little girl to sit still, she can't seem to do it, even when I scold her."

These are brief extracts from two letters typical of those I receive from many mothers of young children.

When you expect your child to be quiet and do nothing, on order, do you realize how great is the small child's need for activity?

He can't be quiet, if by being quiet you mean sitting immovable, doing nothing, when you request it. He may, of his own accord, sit still when watching something indoors or out catches his interest. He may play quietly sometimes. He may sit motionless as you read or tell him a story. He may learn to lie fairly quiet during a rest period.

But he can't—really can't—just sit still and do nothing. He's not like a grownup. We who have stopped growing physically can scarcely realize the state of mind and body of a child. It is only after watching them sympathetically that it dawns on us that their muscles and their minds need constant activity.

Our cue then is to see that these young children of ours have a chance to satisfy this need for climbing and running and investigating the world close at hand. If we feel that for their good—or our own practical convenience—they should be quiet, then we should provide quiet play, or actual rest or sleep periods.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

In connection with this subject our leaflet, "Don't Touch—How Not to Say It," is helpful to parents of young children. It is sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Don't miss the inexpensive little makeup ensemble, consisting of powder, cheek rouge, and lipstick that's just arrived in town. It permits experimentation without bankruptcy—and if the shade it's in suits you your summer makeup problems are solved.

All three are keyed on the gypsy tan note, but don't let that frighten you because the rouge and lipstick have a wholesome undertone of warm red. We like this tremendously—because we don't mind telling you that some of the summer makeup shades we've been looking at give us the heeby-jeebies. A little bit of the brown tone goes an awfully long way with us.

In the little ensemble there is a box of powder in a spanking new shade, created especially for summer. But we'd like to stress the point that this hasn't gone haywire on the tan side. It has a rosy undertone beneath the faintly tan tint that keeps it a happy shade, at least to our way of thinking. You don't have to be definitly brunette to wear it. And this powder is an ideal texture.

The cheek rouge is dry—and it's a lovely shade. It remind us of a beautiful, hand made rouge we found once from Paris; we've always been sorry we forfot the name of it and we've never seen a shade quite like it until this soft, warm rose shade came along.

The lipstick is just as nice. It's a good color for any season and should be perfectly elegant with a smooth sun tan. It's creamy, too—a good choice for the woman whose lips are inclined to dryness winter and summer.

And the whole works costs very little! ELEANOR NANGLE.

HELP WANTED ADVERTISING JUMPS 54% AS EMPLOYERS OFFER JOBS IN MANY LINES

Barometer of employment is the volume of help wanted advertising in the Chicago Tribune.

During the month of May, the Tribune printed 54.1% more help wanted advertising than in the same period of last year. And this increase came on top of steady gains in every month this year.

In April, the Tribune printed 37.6% more help wanted advertising than in April, 1935. In March, the gain was 35.6%; in February, 19.0%; in January, 9.4%

These figures spell broadened opportunity to everybody looking for a job. With business picking up, you have a much better chance to find the job you want.

If you are looking for employment, check the offers in the Tribune want ad section. This is the principal marketplace for jobs in the middle west. Employment agencies and individual employers place three times as much help wanted advertising in the Tribune as they place in any other Chicago newspaper.

The Tribune does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisments which misrepresent the nature or terms of employment, or advertisments for sales help which do not indicate the type of product or service to be sold, and the form of compensation.

Take advantage of the increasing opportunity for employment by checking the offers in the Tribune now!

Smartly Simple Swim Suit

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

From a Chicago shop: White swim suit of novelty knit texture, completely lined with soft white wool jersey. It is extremely simple in design, made for practical seagoing service. Fitted bra top and straight shoulder straps accent the semi-rough texture of the suit.

Predicts Style Stampede for the Half-a-Hat

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Scissors in the deft fingers of slightly mad milliners, out to compose good hats for a hot summer season, neatly but dashingly remove the crowns and the result . . . the half-a-hat to be found in a certain Chicago shop. Soft, stunning corded ribbon and shantung linen are used for twisting trick. These hats really look more like headache bands in the grand manner than bandeau or turban.

You'll all like them, we predict. Travelers who have searched for something esthectically effective as well as comfortably practical will take these hats globe trotting with great enthusiasm. And the motorists will dash out at dawn and streak down all the by-ways of the nation with these snappy new half-a-hats tied or anchored securely and snappily around the hair.

Roman striped and plaid grosgrain ribbon in colorful contrast have navy blue or brown or black backgrounds. And the same idea is available in brilliant plaids. The linens are delightfully smart in snowy white, in navy blue and tobacco brown. Don't think that these half-hats are just the ordinary twisted variety, they are anything but . . . from the front they are adroitly peaked to look like the snappiest of small, smart hats. It's only when viewed from a stratosphere altitude that the open sector is discovered. These hats are quite the most exciting summer bits of air conditioned headgear that have been worn in years. With the more than startling low price marks, you can plunge without a guilty conscience and own three of the things. They'll be the headlines of the smart women this summer whether they are packed in vacation baggage or hung in the stay at home wardrobes.

Fashion photograph . . . white swim suit to cause plenty of excitement on any seascape. The ribbed texture is new, and the entire suit is lined with a very soft white wool jersey. A particularly good find for the well sun tanned mermaid. It is from a large collection.

Good Morning!

The charm and sincerity of Miss Marion Davies, the quiet assurance of Henry Stephenson, and brief, but striking character studies by Claude Rains as Napoleon, are highlights of "Hearts Divided." But they have not sufficient leverage to pull the picture from its slough of mediocrity.

This film is a new version of Rida Johnson Young's play, screened some years ago with Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagle in the leading rôles. It is a costume production, with action occurring in the early part of the nineteenth century. The story is concerned with what happened when Capt. Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, came to America on a good will tour at the time when France and America were negotiating the Louisiana purchase, and fell in love with a Baltimore belle, Miss Elizabeth Patterson.

It pleased the young Frenchman to pose as a tutor to Elizabeth and it was as such that she lost her heart to him.

His true identity discovered, she accompanied him to France, optimistically certain that the great Napoleon could do naught but smile on so perfect a romance. . . . She learned what it was to be outgeneraled—and, in an ecstasy of renunciation, inspired by the emperor's subtle homage, sailed for home—without her one time tutor. . . .

"A great actor met a most receptive audience," says Napoleon, sotto voce to his aid. Which is quite the best speech in the script. Most of the dialog's atrocious.

With money to spend and many players to draw from, it seems strange that they couldn't have found a leading man more in character to portray Jerome Bonaparte. Dick Powell, America's perpetual singing juvenile, largely famous for his work in Annapolis and West Point pictures, seemed to me the worst possible choice for the rôle.

There are other examples of flagrant miscasting as you will see. And many of the situations are absurd to the point of being pitiful. I thought the continuity poor and direction indifferent. Staging and costumes—fine!

A costume picture has got to be a humdinger from all points of view to get over nowadays and "Hearts Divided," I regret to say, falls short of the mark.

See you soon.

Front Views and Profiles

DEAN GORDON LAING, now general editor of the University of Chicago Press, told a story at a recent medical convention about a one-time dean of obstetrics at the University of Edinburgh. A child had been born to the dean and his wife, and although he was pleased and proud, he made rather less fuss over it than over a book his wife had written, which was published on the same day. He sat reading the book, a medical treatise, much impressed with her mastery of what she was presenting in its pages, until it was time for him to go to address a class. As he entered the classroom the students, who had heard of the baby's arrival, set up a cheer for the dean's lady. Sir James acknowledged the cheers with a proud smile, his mind still on his wife's book.

INGENIOUSNESS, as displayed by the Negro lads who operate the shoe shine parlor in the Illinois Central station. They use a portable phonograph base, which, when wound, becomes a revolving display case to stimulate sales in shoe polish.

THERE is nothing that makes an oyster man madder, writes Eleanor Early in her new guide book, "And This Is Cape Cod!" than to mention the popular misconception that oysters are good only in the r months. That fallacy costs them some eight million dollars a year, and oysters are always good, she says, but less good in July, for that is the time they spawn. Somehow we don't feel we care to encounter a "less good" oyster. We resent, too, having the r month legend debunked. Pretty soon somebody will be announcing that one can no longer be guided by the "Thirty days hath September . . . ." verse, and that two and two do not make four, and that red, blue, and yellow are not the primary colors.

Barry Praises Work of Young Negro Tenor

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Maurice Cooper, a young Negro tenor, made a remarkably successful appearance in Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon. His voice quality, general musicianship, and stage presence are all exceptional.

Cooper's voice is of a delectable lightness and smoothness through almost its entire range, capable even of a falsetto which avoids the sense of strain that usually goes with this sort of business. At the other extreme, his lower octave is already possessed of considerable power—and power without loss of tonal beauty. The young tenor seems to have mastered some of the hardest technical details of his craft. No gaucheries of breathing mar the suavity of his phrases.

As to general musicianship, Cooper owes to his own good instincts and powers of observation, or to the precepts of a splendid teacher, a sense of style that is far beyond his years. He can cope with the magnificence of the Schumann "Widmung," sing "I Hear You Calling Me" as an encore, and begin the next group with the opening recitative and aria from "The Messiah." Cooper understands all the legitimate devices by which an artist gives conviction and deep meaning to music of such varying type and quality.

The tenor's stage manners are gracious and unassuming. He has the gift of good looks to help him along.

If the major part of this review seems to be devoted to Maurice Cooper, without so much as a bow in the direction of his co-recitalist, Orrin C. Suthern, that able organist must look for the reasons behind this apparent neglect in the character of his medium, not in his own talents. The ponderous organ, despite all its nobility, cannot make as good copy as a new tenor.

Suthern is a thoughtful musician who delights in the thousand subtle effects of which his instrument is capable. Registrations are marked by care and restraint, with a more generous use of wholesome diapasons than an organist of theatrical bent would approve.

The great D Minor Toccata and Fugue regained under Suthern's treatment the majesty which other arrangements of the profound epic have compromised so sadly. A Franck Chorale, in the second group, profited notably by the organist's imagination and good musical sense.

The joint recital was sponsored by St. Thomas' Episcopal church, and was fairly well attended.

2 Sales in East to Aid Women's Exchange Here

Unusual Interest Attaches to Surprise Events.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE will be an unusual amount of sentiment connected with two sales the Chicago Woman's exchange will hold in the east this summer. Mrs. Philip Loring Reed, who resigned the presidency of the exchange last fall when she and her husband and their six children moved to Boston, has written Mrs. Norah Crane, the manager, that she never will lose interest in the work of the exchange and that she wants to have a sale at her summer place at Marion, Mass., just as she has done for some years past when she was living in Chicago and active in the affairs of the organization.

July 9 and 10 have been set as the date when Mrs. Crane will display the attractive wares of the exchange in Mrs. Reed's large and hospitable home on Buzzards bay.

Last of Founders Offers Place for Second Sale.

Mrs. Wirt Dexter, the only one living of the women who started the exchange in 1872, spends very little time in Chicago nowadays, but last week when she and her daughter, Mrs. Stanley McCormick, were here they dropped in at the exchange for luncheon and invited Mrs. Crane to conduct a sale in the house Mrs. McCormick has taken for the summer at Magnolia, on Massachusetts' north shore. July 21 and 22 are the dates and assisting will be several Chicagoans who summer near Magnolia, including Mrs. John B. Drake, Mrs. Henry W. Farnum, and Mrs. John Clay.

The first of the eastern sales will be held on July 7 at the home of Mrs. Edward C. Crosett in Wianno on Cape Cod and among the assistants will be Mrs. Augustus S. Eddy, who left yesterday with Mr. Eddy and their younger son for their summer place at Osterville on Cape Cod. Their elder son, who is a student at an eastern military school, will join them there.

Some of the Chicagoans at Watch Hill, R. I., including Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. George R. Nichols, Mrs. Frank Hibbard and Mrs. Oren E. Taft, will assist at a sale to be held there at the Ocean House on July 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24. Mrs. Nichols and her sons, Frank and George III., already are there for the season.

Later in the summer there will be sales at Oconomowoc and Lake Geneva, Wis., and Harbor Point and Charlevoix, Mich. The Lake Geneva sale will be held at the residence of Mrs. William M. Spencer, who is busy now doing some remodeling of the house she and Mr. Spencer have purchased from the Frederick Bartletts.

The annual Lake Forest summer sale is to be held on Thursday of this week at Mrs. Lester Armour's and among those assisting will be Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. John Coleman Jr., Mrs. W. Roy Carney, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Philip Wrigley, Mrs. Solomon A. Smith, Mme. Cardelli, Miss Helen Gurley and Miss Cornelia Conger.

Lake Geneva Summer Colony Almost Complete.

A letter from Lake Geneva brings word that practically all of the lake colony have arrived for the summer and that life there is beginning to be very gay and busy. Nathan Osborne and his cousin, Henry Bartholomay, have a new cub class boat which was christened Nettchee, the Menominee Indian name for comrade, last Sunday with appropriate ceremonies.

The new tennis court at the Lake Geneva Country club was opened formally yesterday with an exhibition game. Wednesday afternoon members of the Garden club will meet for the first time this summer. They will take a field trip to the Dunes

SHERIDAN ROAD

By Helen Topping Miller

INSTALMENT I.

HELD FOR MURDER.

At 5 o'clock of a freezing March morning no street is friendly.

To Eden Faraday, shivering in her thin satin pumps and an evening cloak that warmed her ears, but left her knees to the cruelty of the wind, the familiar avenue that she walked every day seemed a heartless thoroughfare, iron cold, hostile and grim.

The pillar where a red globe burned wanly; the empty reaches of pavement, a rusty garbage truck clanking over manhole covers, all contributed to the desolation.

Worst of all were the two men who stood, one on either side of her, their hats down, their collars up, holding her with official firmness by the elbows.

They were big men and they were trying to be gallant, but long training in ruthlessness made their efforts a bit confused. They were plain clothes men and one of them had just rung the box summoning the patrol wagon. Eden Faraday was being escorted to the police station.

She was going gamely, her head held high, making the best of a wretched situation. She was a Faraday, and the Faradays, back to the old Kings of Ireland that her grandmother boasted about, had been an undaunted clan. They had gone singing into fights and it was tradition that the last bit of a Faraday to perish, was his defiant grin. So Eden gave the officer on her left the benefit of her dark lashes and a look that had dizzied strong men before this.

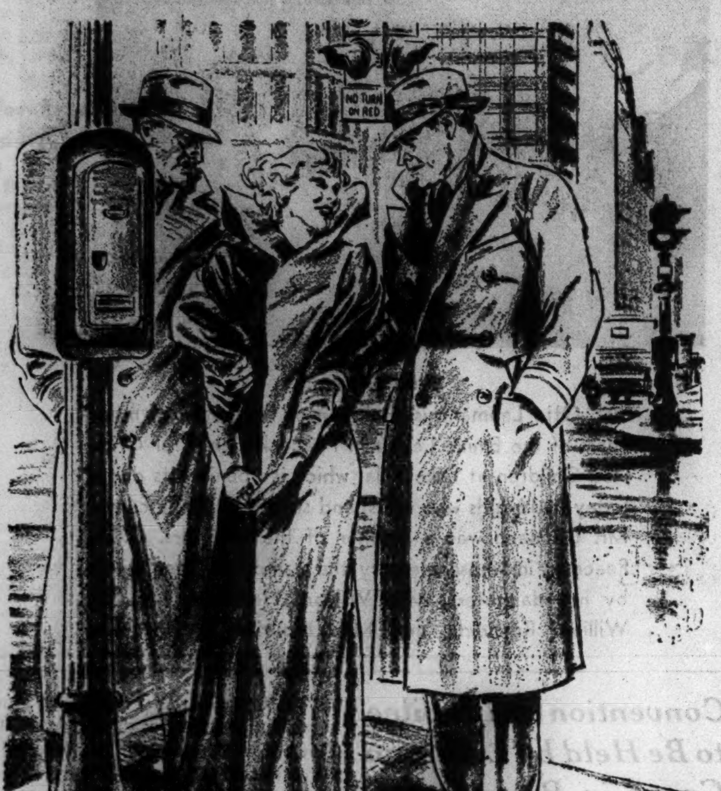
"You know, of course," she said, "that I had absolutely nothing to do with this affair?"

The man cleared his throat.

"What'd you say, lady?"

"I said," Eden let it go, "that I should have put on overshoes."

"Looks like you women would freeze to death," the law agreed promptly.



So Eden gave the officer on her left the benefit of her dark lashes.

"You needn't hold me so tightly. I won't move, I promise." Eden struggled to keep her teeth from clicking.

"You won't get hurt if you stand still and don't try any funny business."

"We don't trust no women though," declared the other officer, "we had one blonde run out on us not long ago."

"I tried to tell you," Eden was patient, "the taxi driver reached back and opened the door—and there was this man sprawling,—" she blenched and shivered with the horror of the thing she had just seen. "If you'd let me telephone, please——"

"You can telephone from the station. Here's the wagon."

"Nope, it ain't. It's the ambulance."

A siren shrilled. Eden Faraday shut her eyes. Back there under the hotel portico was the awful, clotted group drawn up around something that lay still. Men leaped down with stretchers, a taxi was driven away by a trafic officer and two uniformed policemen approached, escorting the frightened taxi driver.

Eden gave him a reassuring smile.

"I know you didn't do it," she said.

"I tol' 'em I didn't do it," the driver's lip shook, "and I tol' 'em you didn't do it neither."

"Thank you. We'll come out all right."

Then the black, sinister wagon backed against the curb.

"Shove 'em in," yelled the driver.

"You're Gracie Lincoln, aren't you?" inquired the man who pushed Eden Faraday into the vehicle, "I've rode with you before."

"Sorry—I'm not," Eden gripped the icy lether.

"You didn't put enough dope on your hair," grinned the man, "I'd know you anywhere." He shut the door.

The wagon roared through narrow streets deserted and bleak looking, past lowering buildings, closed and gray, and under an arched gateway where a red light burned, into a clean, stern looking court.

Another policeman opened the door. The two who had ridden inside were instantly tart and officious.

"Hurry up, you!"

A tall, tired looking young man with a purposeful chin and a nondescript brown felt hat come out of a corridor.

"Who've you got, Dave?"

"Taxi killing over on Michigan. Looks like Lincoln—claims she ain't."

The tall young man came close and studied Eden coolly. He had a good head, a lean face, a weary mouth, and grave eyes.

"You're not Lincoln."

"Certainly I'm not. I'm Eden Faraday."

"She's not Lincoln, Dave."

"Think not?"

"I know it. I'm a photographer."

"Yeah?"

"Don't let them scare you," said this tall person to Eden, "they're good guys—but dumb."

"They haven't frightened me—they've been very kind."

She took courage as they ushered her into the police station. In an hour this absurd affair would be over. She would be back at home with Gran and Robin and her mother, drinking hot malted milk, wrapped in her old crimson kimono, telling over again the amazing events of the night.

The man at the desk was brusk, but not unkind.

She answered all their questions in a steady voice. She gave them the telephone number. She told them about Mr. McLachlan.

"I'm his secretary. He will identify me."

"S. B. McLachlan Furnishings?" the desk man thumbed the ragged telephone book.

"Yes—the Ellison building. He sells linen and blankets to hotels. I was entertaining two customers for him when this—happened. A Mr. and Mrs. Ely from Tern Lake."

"She had the gun in her hand," interposed one of the officers who had brought her in.

"But—if a taxi door opened and a gun fell out and landed on your feet, you'd pick it up, wouldn't you?" Eden asked.

"It wasn't her, judge," piped up the taxi driver, "I betcha it was two guys—"

"Take him out," directed the desk man without looking up.

The driver was pushed through a door, protesting. Eden's heart sank. There was so much iron in the grim room; iron in men's eyes, in their voices, in the barred windows. The desk man dialed a number, picked up an instrument, spoke into it, then handed another telephone to Eden.

She took the instrument, spoke into it, her fingers shaking, her voice breaking into a sob in spite of her control. Then she gave a little cry.

"Gran!"

Gran's birdlike positive voice, so reassuring, so heavenly sweet to her, Gran asking sleepy, incredulous questions, her voice quickening with excitement.

"I called this taxi, Gran—and there was a dead man in it—"

"Who killed him?"

"O, Gran, I don't know. But I'm at the police station—Williams street—please come right away and tell them I'm all right—tell them I didn't do it."

Her Husband's Past

By Elizabeth York Miller

INSTALMENT XLIX.

CONTENTMENT.

Nell slipped into the delectable tea gown.

It was of pale blue chiffon velvet and it had a capelet edged with fawn-colored fur and fur bordering the flowing sleeves. Very elegant, indeed.

She combed back the bright, fluffy waves of her hair, smiling at her reflection in the mirror.

"I suppose I ought to look 'pale and interesting,'" she murmured to herself, "but I just can't seem to manage it."

The door opened softly and Eric came in. Nell went on combing her hair, making it stand on end with electricity. It was rather fun doing that. It was fun, too, seeing Eric behind her in the mirror fairly struck dumb with amazement. The new dress had surprised him all right.

"Nothing so beautiful could possibly be real," he said, finding tongue at last.

That was like Eric. He could say the most enchanting and unexpected things.

She laid aside the comb, with most of her hair still standing on end like a frizzy Circassian's and displayed her entrancing dimples for his benefit.

"If it really belongs to me," he added, "do you think I might kiss it?"

"This velvet is guaranteed, 'uncrushable,'" said Nell.

"I didn't have in mind to kiss that remarkably becoming dress."

"Well you know how insipid a kiss without a squeeze is said to be," his wife reminded him.

He took advantage of the hint.

With his arms around her and her head tilted back against his shoulder, he said: "Do you know, I don't believe I was ever so happy in all my life as I am at this minute. What about you, my sweet?"

Glamorous, Eric. She was tempted to say it, but this wasn't a time for teasing.

"I know even a better word than happy," she said.

"Is there one?"

"Yes, I think so. Contentment."

"I wish Robin was here," said Meg, when they had foregathered around the dinner table and the meal was well under way. "There's ice cream. I forgot to tell you, Nell. I ordered some from the hotel. Mabel Weston asked after you. She said she hoped you weren't too disappointed that little Jean wasn't a boy."

They all laughed except Eric.

"Whoever wanted a boy!" he demanded. "That Weston girl can always think of something to say."

"Well, well—" soothed Mother Martin, "you can't exactly blame her. Mebbe she'll find herself a husband one of these days."

"Didn't I hear the baby crying? Couldn't I go up and fetch her down?" pleaded Andrew.

They all listened. There wasn't a sound.

"That didn't work, dad," his wife said with a chuckle. "You'll have to think of a better one."

Dick went into the kitchen to give the maid instructions how to get ice cream out of a freezer without damaging it, and Meg said: "O, there's something else I forgot to tell you, Nell, I had a letter from granny the other day. She says she's knitting a pull-over for the baby."

"That's kind of her," Nell said, a mist of tears filling her eyes. "How is granny?"

"O, she's fine, except that her leg bothers her a little in damp weather. She says she's coming to Wellsport to pay us a long visit at Easter."

Eric threw an uneasy glance at his wife. A visit from granny might so easily be prolonged to the end of the chapter.

Meg laughed.

"Don't worry. I've had it all out with Dick. I thought she might stay with us, but he's ordered a suite for her at the Wellsport hotel."

"Splendid!" Eric exclaimed in a tone of comic relief. "In those circumstances I shall be delighted to see granny again."

"That's all very well," protested Mrs. Martin. "So long as she stays in the hotel. I suppose she'll bring that parrot of hers with her."

"O, she's bound to," Meg agreed.

2 Sales in East to Aid Women's Exchange Here

Unusual Interest Attaches to Surprise Events.

Park of Illinois [one mile north of Waukegan] that afternoon.

Holiday Home, in which every one of the summer colonists takes an active interest, was opened last Friday with 75 girls from the congested districts of Chicago arriving for a two weeks' holiday. This is the 49th year that the home has been open. The annual rummage sale for the benefit of the home will be held on July 1 in Horticultural hall.

Miss Jane Zimmerman will return from school at Dobbs Ferry on Thursday and will join her parents, the Earle J. Zimmermans, at Lake Geneva for the summer.

The James N. Rawleighs have rented the same cottage at Lake Geneva for this season that they had last. It is the property of the Fred Wackers. Billy Rawlegih has joined his parents in Evanston from the school he attends in the east and his brother, Jimmy, who goes to Lawrenceville, will return today. Later this week the family will move up to the lake. Mrs. Rawleigh and the boys will go to Pasadena in July to visit her mother, Mrs. William M. Burton, who has bought a house there.

Shaffer-Friedstedt Wedding This Afternoon.

Miss Barbara Shaffer and Frederick B. Friedstedt will be married quietly at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the apartment of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Shaffer, at 179 Lake Shore drive. Due to the recent death of Mr. Shaffer's mother, only relatives and a few close friends will be present.

Mrs. Bruce P. Adams [Medora Pelouze] will attend the bride, and Luther Friedstedt will serve his brother as best man. After a wedding trip to Honolulu, Mr. Friedstedt and his bride will be at home at 1242 Lake Shore drive.

John C. McGuinn arrived yesterday from California to join his wife and infant son at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Ripley, where Mrs. McGuinn has been visiting for the past two weeks. It was just a year ago today that the former Jane Ripley became the bride of Mr. McGuinn, and Mr. and Mrs. Ripley are entertaining for them tonight.

Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson will wait to move out to her country home, Westwood, in Libertyville, until after her daughter, Miss Josephine, returns from the Democratic convention in Philadelphia. The former Alicia Patterson, now Mrs. Joseph W. Brooks, did not accompany her sister west after the convention in Cleveland, but went directly home to New York. She will come to Chicago, however, after the Democratic convention.

Gordon Palmer has been fishing down in Sarasota since finishing at Harvard, but he is returning there Thursday to receive his sheepskin. His parents, the Potter Palmers, and his sister, Miss Pauline Palmer, already have gone east to open their summer home at Bar Harbor, Me., and they, of course, will be in Cambridge for the commencement exercises. All of them will spend the summer at Bar Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer III. are not going east for their brother's graduation, since they are moving the 15th to the Richard Bentleys' house in Lake Forest, to be there until the middle of October. Young Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Saltonstall Movius, probably is coming from Boston the end of June for a visit with her daughter.

No sooner did Miss Adele Proxmire return from Sarah Lawrence college than she went east again by motor with her mother, Mrs. Theodore S. Proxmire, to attend the commencement exercises at Yale tomorrow. Theodore S. Proxmire Jr. is a member of the graduating class. Dr. Proxmire is flying to New Haven for the exercises. Shortly after members of the family return to Lake Forest they will be off again for their summer home at Desbarats. William Proxmire will be a junior at Yale next year.

Also Desbarats bound will be the Philip F. W. Pecks when they leave Lake Forest the middle of July. They have taken the Albert Erskines' cabin there. Philip Jr. is returning from Hotchkiss today and his younger brother, Stewart, arrives at home soon from the Los Alamos Ranch school in New Mexico.

Host of Graduates to Enjoy Voyages.

Joseph Miller is among the host of students who are receiving European trips for a graduation present. He is sailing with several friends at the end of the month. Garfield King and several friends also are sailing for Europe soon after they receive their diplomas at Yale and Harvard. Mr. King, who will be graduated at Yale tomorrow, is sailing July 1 to spend six weeks in England, Norway, and Sweden. His parents, the Charles Garfield Kings, will spend the summer at Southampton, Long Island, New York.

German will be the language spoken exclusively by the ten young people who even now are brushing up on their verbs in preparation for a six weeks' trip abroad, chaperoned by Dr. Curt R. Goedsche, professor of German at Northwestern university, and Mrs. Goedsche. Dr. and Mrs. Goedsche and their youthful companions will sail on June 21 on the Europa and will return Aug. 6 on the New York. They will spend a few days in London, and then will go on to Brussels, Paris, and Cologne. From Cologne they will make a trip up the Rhine to Lucerne, Switzerland, and then on to Munich and Berlin where they will arrive Aug. 1 for the opening of the Olympic games.

Miss Sally Garden, daughter of the Hugh M. G. Gardens, is another student in the group sailing with Dr. and Mrs. Goedsche, and others touring with them will be Miss Barbara Lawrence, daughter of the Frederick K. Lawrences; Miss Ann Huston, Miss Andrée Vilas, Miss Marjorie Dreyer, Miss Jean Kaiser of Joliet, who is a student at Northwestern; Miss Marion Greenlee, and her brother, Ralph, whose mother, Mrs. Ralph S. Greenlee sailed for Europe recently on the Queen Mary; and Miss Ida McGarry.

Young Mr. Greenlee, as the only other man in the group, will have his hands quite full helping Dr. Goedsche to look after all the ladies, but since he already is a seasoned traveler, the task should not prove difficult.

Mrs. Isaac C. Elston Jr. suddenly made up her mind to go to Europe and is sailing Wednesday on the Berengaria for France. She is planning to spend August at the Lido in Venice, but will go to London in September where Mr. Elston will meet her. They will sail home together.

Miss Marie R. Frank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Richard Frank, and Joseph C. Meyer will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Lake Shore Country club in Wilmette. Following a reception, Mr. Meyer and his bride will leave for the Canadian Rockies. They will reside with her parents at 1540 Lake Shore drive when they return.

North Shore Engagement Is Announced Informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Anderson of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Archa, to Herbert Thorp Lundahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alvin Lundahl of Kenilworth. Because of a recent death in the family, the announcement was made known informally to relatives and intimate friends last week.

Miss Anderson was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college last year, and spent the following summer in Europe and the last winter in California. Her fiancé was graduated from Williams in 1934. The wedding will take place in the fall.

The Japanese gardens on the wooded island in Jackson park will be opened to a list of invited guests today from 4 to 6 o'clock, when tea will be served. The gardens will be opened to the public tomorrow.

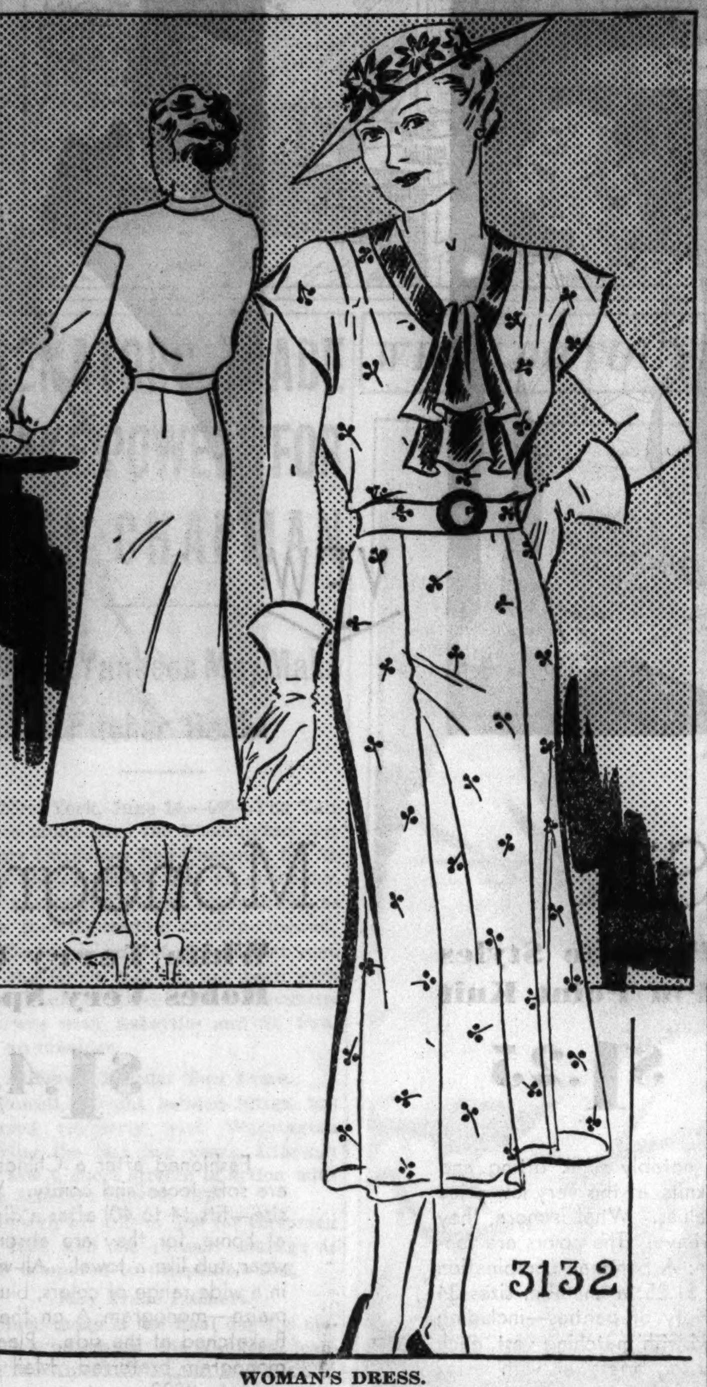
Slenderizing in Cool Fabric



WOMAN'S DRESS.

Women with heavier-than-average figures often have difficulty in finding frocks which are summery and yet do not exaggerate overweight. The model illustrated today combines slenderizing lines with warm weather fabrics. The original is cool and distinctive in sheer cotton printed voile. The cape sleeves are brief and the simple bodice trimmed with only a flattering jabot and matching band around the neckline. The paneled skirt diminishes hipline breadth with its slimming style.

This frock is inexpensive and exceedingly simple to sew. Dotted swiss, batiste prints, and marquisette as well as the voile already mentioned are fabrics which are cool and easy to launder.

Style No. 3132 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Fiance Owes Girl Share of His Free Time

Leaving Her Out of His Plans May Lose Love.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Eunice is engaged to a man about whom she complains that he doesn't want to spend much time with her. She describes his evening program for the week as consisting of orchestra practice once a week, gym twice a week, a club meeting once a week. Saturdays he plays in an orchestra, and also on Sundays, when he can get the Sunday work to do. He likes to stay home one evening a week, he says, to clean up on odds and ends.

The man has no other girl, Eunice knows. Repeatedly he tells her she is the only one and always will be. And she believe him. But she comes home, night after night, without a plan ahead including the beloved, which leaves her in the dumps. She doesn't care to run around. She gets tired of sewing and reading to fill in time. She is lonely and begins to wonder if, perhaps, the man is losing interest in her as the result of not seeing her more often.

◆

We think the young man merely due for a more enlightened education about how to hold a girl's love. He has the idea that he has his girl where he wants her, ready to be called upon when the mood seizes him, and that she always will be amiable about everything.

True, on account of his orchestra practice and work nights, some latitude must be permitted. But gym night certainly could be cut short enough for a call. Gym could be attended immediately after work. The club night could be skipped once in a while for a date with the girl.

◆

In some respects the young man sounds like a good solid bet. He is not trifling his evenings away in rowdy pursuit, that's sure. Nor spending money foolishly. However, when a young man becomes ambitious enough for feminine company to become engaged to a girl, he cannot assume that his duties end with the declaration. He has to go on proving that he is a considerate companion, willing to sacrifice a few of his own pet diversions in the girl's interests. Anyway, accommodate himself to circumstances so as to take the girl into evening plans a couple of times a week. You'll have to get this message across to the man somehow, Eunice.

According to CULBERTSON

REBIDS BY OPENING NO TRUMP BIDDER.

If, over an opening one no trump by you, your partner raises to two no trump, he has shown you a holding of about one and one-half honor tricks.

As opening hand, you now should pass only if your hand contains the minimum of four honor tricks [or three and one-half honor tricks].

If you hold four plus honor tricks or more, or only four honor tricks, but seven or eight honor cards, you should proceed to three no trump.

With a biddable four card major suit included in your no trump requirement, you may show this suit after a raise to two no trump unless your hand is a minimum.

When your partner raises to three no trump, in every case the opening hand should pass.

A Bad Double.

Any bid that can lose 1,000 points and gain only 100 or 200 is, per se, a bad bid. In every game there arises this question of playing with or against the "percentages." In poker it obviously is foolish to risk $5 when only $1 may be won, and even in contract, which is in no sense a gambling game, the clever player refuses to risk much to gain little.

In doubling a slam contract the utmost care must be taken to make sure that the double will not defeat its own purpose; in other words, that it will not guide declarer to the line of play that will fulfill his contract. That was the fate of West's double in the following hand.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K Q 10 8 4
♥ J 9 8
♦ A 3
♣ A Q 4

WEST
♠ 3

♦ Q 9 5
♣ 10

SOUTH
♠ A J C

♣ K 9 8 5 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 diamonds	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	Pass	Double
Redouble	Pass	Pass	Pass

[North-South were not using asking bids.]

West decided that the safest opening was a diamond, so he led the eight. Declarer allowed this to ride to his own tenace. East put up the queen and declarer's king won. A low club was led to dummy's queen, and declarer carefully noted the fall of East's ten. The penalty double from West persuaded him to believe that the ten was blank and, therefore, he returned to his hand with the spade ace and led the nine of clubs through West. The latter ducked, and so did dummy. Another club was led to dummy's ace, and now declarer was faced with the problem of reëntering his hand to draw the last trump. Of one thing he felt positive: West must have the heart ace for his double. He was not nearly so certain that another spade lead to the jack would go unruffed by West. So he led a heart and West was on lead with the ace. In desperation he laid down the heart queen, but declarer ruffed, drew the last trump and claimed the balance. The double certainly had been helpful!

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: When the opponents have a total of five cards in a suit, what are the chances that they will be divided 3 and 2?

Answer: They will be divided 3 and 2 sixty-eight times in 100.

Application of Two Powders, Light and Dark, is New Fad

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The idea of using two face powders at once, where one served us before, is gaining considerable popularity at the moment. First you use a foundation powder in light tones. Then a darker powder is used atop this one, and those who have adopted this twin powdering program all are enthusiastic about it.

Why not try it some time, just for fun, and maybe for more than fun. You could pick up samples of powder and experiment by way of seeing if you would do more for your particular face with two powder tones than with one. At least, you will put more effort and time into the powdering, which may, in part, explain the benefits of this new powdering idea.

◆

Most powdering jobs fail because they are slapstick. Honestly, when you think of it, few women really make a rite of applying powder. It usually is a quick run around with a puff and a let-it-go-at-that, isn't it? Sitting down for two minutes in the right light and smoothing the powder on well and evenly just isn't done unless one is preparing for a special date.

But, speaking of powders, have you changed your shade recently? We ask because a friend was experimenting recently with a gift box of suntan powder. She found she had hit upon something extraordinarily becoming to her. She never had thought of buying it herself. She had adhered to her light rachel for years and years. From the warmer, deeper powder tone she branched out with rouge and lipstick of harmonious shades and, truly, you wouldn't believe, unless you knew the woman before and after the experiment, that the cosmetic change possibly could have mattered so much.

◆

All of the time now, manufacturers are changing powder shades, introducing new ones, in-between colors, deeper, warmer colors, and colors that frequently seem quite off-shade, but on the right person they give a luminous effect. Look into this powder treasure chest and see if you can't draw out a nice new big cosmetic plum for yourself.

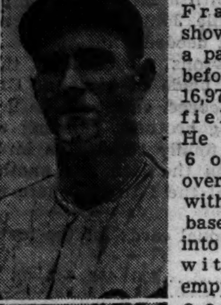
DEMAREE HITS TWO HOME RUNS TO SUBDUE BEES

First Comes with O'Dea on Base.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.



FRANK DEMAREE.

Just by way of calling attention to the fact that, currently, he is just about the choicest item in the Cubs' attack, Frank Demaree showed off with a pair of homers before a crowd of 16,978 at Wrigley field yesterday. He slipped No. 6 of the season over the fence with a mate on base and No. 7 into the seats with the bases empty, the two contributions serving to beat Boston's Bees and boost the high stepping Cubs to their eleventh straight victory. The score was 3 to 1.

As far as providing the winning margin was concerned, Demaree could have dispensed with his second round tripper. The pair of runs he slashed over the plate with No. 6 was sufficient to answer Lon Warneke's purposes for the day. The Arkansas slat wabbled a bit in the first inning when four Bees reached base and one scored. But from then on it was different. Hurried along on his way toward his fifth straight victory and his seventh of the season, by brilliant fielding, Warneke permitted only one Bee to reach second in the last eight innings.

Lanning is Skilful.

Except for the feats of Demaree, the champions weren't able to amuse the customers with the sort of attack that heaped grief on the Giants, Dodgers, Phillies and Bees in turn. The scarcity of hits was due to a rather skilful exhibition of pitching by one Johnny Lanning, a freshman. He operated for only six innings because the Bees at that point felt the need of a pinch hitter. While the youngster was in there the champions harvested only six hits, one a fluke. After that one more hit was recorded off bespectacled Danny MacFayden.

The battle marked the conclusion of the longest home stay the Cubs will enjoy during the current campaign. It netted 15 victories, not especially surprising in view of the champions' skill on their own premises, against four defeats. The Pirates took two out of three. The Reds contributed three Cub victories and won one for themselves. The Giants lost and won in two engagements. Then the Dodgers were taken for three, the Phillies for the same number and lastly the Bees for four.

Urbanski Opens with Double.

The first inning, in which Warneke suffered extensively but surrendered only one run, opened with Urbanski doubling to left center. He scored immediately on Moore's single to center. This unexpected resistance on the part of the usually feeble enemy must have shocked Warneke. He walked the next two batters, filling the bases with none out. Warneke wriggled partly free of the jam by fanning Cuccinello. Then Lee bounced to Herman and a double play put a speedy stop to the annoyance.

Three Cubs in a row went out in their portion of the first, but before any of them were retired in the second two champions skipped across the counter. O'Dea led off the second with a single to right and an instant later Demaree dispatched his No. 6 homer over the left field wall. Allen then was tossed out by Urbanski, and Cavarretta drew a bargain single on a bounder that Lanning kicked around before throwing. Cavarretta was out attempting to steal, and English failed to recognize a third strike when it drifted past.

Two Hits, but No Runs.

The Bees were pleasingly quiet in the second and third, but stung Warneke for a pair of hits in the fourth. As usual, the Bees conducted themselves so that the two hits caused no

SENATORS TRADE JAKE POWELL FOR BEN CHAPMAN

Report Yankees May Make Pitcher Deal.

New York, June 14.—(AP)—The Yankees today gave the Washington Senators Outfielder Ben Chapman for Alvin [Jake] Powell, also an outfielder, in a straight player transaction, as the June 15 trading deadline neared.

Chapman, one of the fastest men in the major leagues, has been with the Yankees since 1930. Previously he was with Asheville and St. Paul as an infielder.

Powell Regular Two Years.

Powell, a right handed hitter, has played regularly with Washington during the last two years, although he saw a short stretch of action with the Senators back in 1930.

Powell hit .312 to .289 for Chapman in 1935, and his present average is .293 compared to Chapman's .266.

May Trade Pitchers.

Since today is the final day for major league trades, the Yankees, leading the American league, will have to stand pat on their present squad. However, a last minute pitching change was reported in the offing, probably involving either Johnny Broaca, Walter Brown, or both.

Chapman signed this year only after an extended holdout period, during which he demanded $12,000. He finally signed on April 6 for $10,000 salary and a bonus if his performance waranted.

CARDS GET GARIBALDI.

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—(AP)—Arthur Garibaldi, Sacramento outfielder, was obtained today by the St. Louis Cardinals, Branch Rickey announced tonight. He will report at once. Garibaldi, who in five seasons with San Francisco had a batting average of .303, joined Sacramento, a Cardinal farm, this spring.

INDIANS SIGN PITCHER.

Cleveland, O., June 14.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians today acquired Bill Anderson, 19, of Boston. Scout George Uhle signed Anderson, a pitcher. Anderson is scheduled to work the exhibition game tomorrow at Scranton, Pa.

COCHRANE HAS BEST DAY SINCE RETURNING HOME

Detroit, Mich., June 14.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers, had his best day today since he entered Henry Ford hospital for observation and rest.

His physician was out of the city, but an associate said it would be at least "several days" before Cochrane would be permitted to leave the hospital. Belief was expressed that an infected tooth, extracted yesterday, might have caused some of the nervous condition that was diagnosed originally as hyper-thyroidism.

Treatment thus far has consisted almost entirely of rest and relaxation. Cochrane has been permitted neither to read newspapers nor listen to a radio.

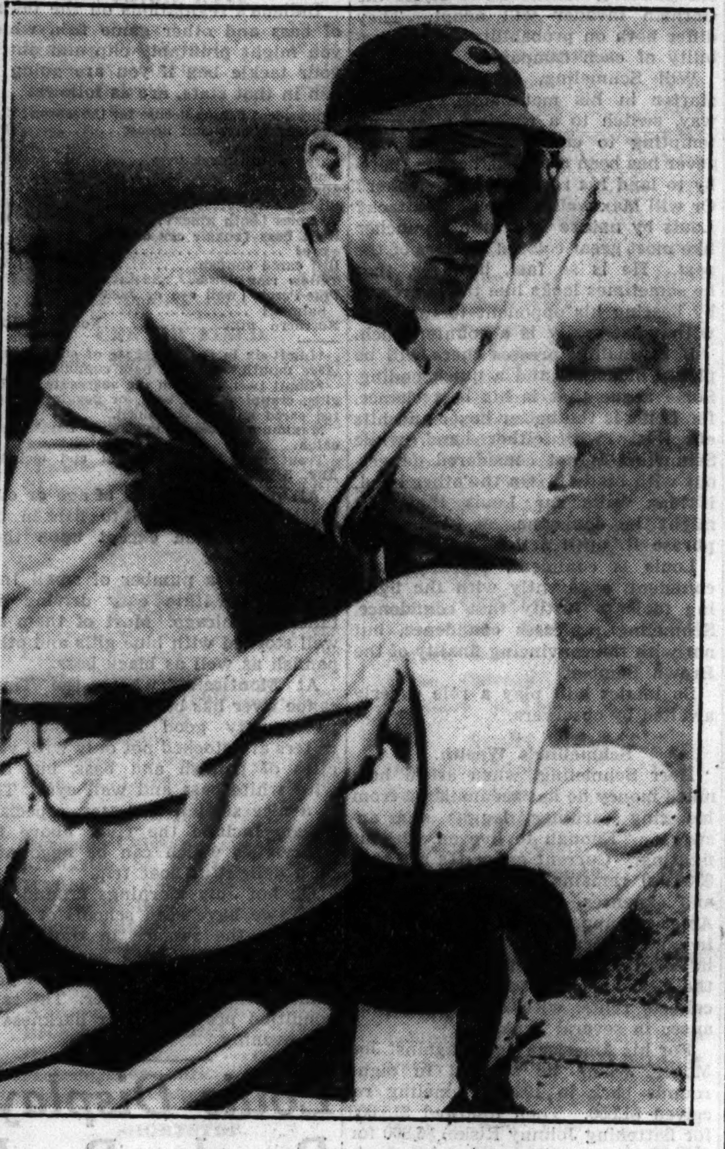
Swims 83 Miles; Quits 17 Miles from Goal

Guntersville, Ala., June 14.—(AP)—After an 83 mile swim, wth his 100 mile goal almost in view, W. A. Austin of Stevenson, Ala., former Georgia Tech star, was taken from the Tennessee river today when his legs and feet were cut and bruised by rocks and snags. Austin plunged into the river near Chattanooga, Tenn., at 8:56 a. m. [central standard time] yesterday. He was taken from the water after swimming continuously 29 hours and 13 minutes.

Helen Stephens Sets World Record for 100 Meter Dash

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—(AP)—Helen Stephens today ran the 100 meter dash in 11.3 seconds, a new world record for women, in the Ozark district Olympic qualifying test here.

WHAT DO YOU SEE, LON, TROUBLE?



Lon Warneke, Cub pitching star, who extended the team's winning streak to eleven yesterday by defeating the Boston Bees, 3 to 1, at Wrigley field contemplates the future. It looks rosy, but it's a long, long trail down to that world's series gold. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

FANS GET LOOK AT LOUIS' SPECIAL BLOWS FOR MAX

Joe Batters Godfrey for Roughing Him.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lakewood, N. J., June 14.—Joe Louis will knock out Max Schmeling Thursday night at the Yankee stadium. We saw how he expects to do it this afternoon.

This is not a profound observation, nor is it surprising, for there are more Louis fans right now than there are New Deal burocrats. It has been written repeatedly that you can't place money on Louis even at 7 to 1, and these odds might be raised to almost any figure. No one will bet on the one time heavyweight champion. Louis, as witness his knockouts of Primo Carnera and Max Baer, knows how to whip ex-heavyweight champions.

Well, What Would They Say?

Some few, notably those associated with Schmeling, have insisted Max will win. These opinions should be disregarded just as the opinions of Jack Blackburn, Julian Black, and John Roxborough should be disregarded. After all, what would you expect them to say?

Louis is far better armed than Schmeling, who always has pawed persistently and ineffectually with his left and depended on a countering right for his victories. And that right hand didn't gain a world championship for Max. He won the title back in 1932 when Jack Sharkey fouled him.

Joe showed more than 700 spectators today in the indoor arena here at the Stanley hotel, the two punches he will use to knock out Schmeling. He'll start the knockout with a right uppercut followed by a left hook to the head. It's the dose Louis has been preparing for Schmeling for the last three weeks.

Prior to this two barreled thunderbolt, Louis will depend on a flashing left jab to keep Max away from him. Unless Schmeling rushes to start the fight, and this isn't considered likely, Louis will stab cautiously. He did it today during all six rounds of his drill.

Joe's left jab whips in with stinging speed. It's no knockout blow, of course, but the steady patter of this rapier left either will stir Schmeling into action, or he'll wander carefully through several rounds rapidly losing the bout on points.

This left is Joe's attack for a crouching, weaving fighter, a punch to bring him up where the heavy artillery can get the range.

Joe confined his practice today for two rounds to his left with an occasional right to the body. With his left he slashed at Bud Schildknecht until Bud's face was puffy and red. Then came young George Godfrey of Baltimore, the most rugged and willing of the list of sparmates. For one more round Joe stabbed and stepped back from right hand blows, or rolled with the punches so that they had lost their force when they reached him.

Godfrey came in, weaving, feinted with his left to throw his right, and without exception Louis met the assault with a flawless defense. The second round with Godfrey started. Then the big colored boxer ripped Joe's shoulder strap as they broke from a clinch.

Jack Blackburn shouted "No, no," as Louis, still as expressionless as a robot, attacked. The crowd, jammed into the narrow room and overflowing into the dining room and lobby, was caught up in excitement.

Joe Deals It Out.

Louis whipped a crushing right uppercut to Godfrey's head and followed with a left hook which caught Godfrey as he straightened from the force of the first punch. Despite the 16 ounce gloves, Godfrey went back on his heels. Then, as he sagged, Louis repeated the punches. Padded gloves and headguard saved Godfrey, but for the next minute, in a vicious fury, Joe drove him across the ring.

No sound ever was sweeter to God-

Commission Doctor Finds Schmeling in Superb Shape

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Napanoch, N. Y., June 14.—Maximilian Siegfried Adolph Otto Schmeling of Germany is in perfect condition for his fight of fifteen rounds or less against Joe Louis Barrow of Detroit, at Yankee stadium Thursday night. That is the official pronouncement of Dr. Walker H. Walker, physician for the New York State boxing commission, a brother of former Mayor Jimmy Walker.

Dr. Walker conducted a physical examination of the German schläger here today just before Max took a workout, forced indoors by a pelting rain. Present to lend official dignity to the occasion was Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission.

Better Than 3 Years Ago.

The examination took place in a small dressing room on the second floor of the canteen which serves as the indoor arena. Dr. Walker first cast light rays into Schmeling's dark orbs to test the reflexes which he characterized as unusually fast. Then fixed the blood pressure indicator on Max's arm. The gauge showed 123 with diastolic of 82.

To the Black Uhlan's chest went the stethoscopes. Then the medical hand to his wrist. Pulse was 64. "Jump up and down a few minutes," commanded Dr. Walker. Max did a stationary dog trot. Pulse 75. "Now rest," said the doctor, again grasping the wrist. "Pulse back to normal in twenty seconds. Very good," commented the physician.

"In fact Schmeling is in better physical condition than when he fought Max Baer three years ago." Schmeling finally hopped on the scales, clad only in boxing trunks and weighed 194¼ pounds.

800 See Drill.

With this formality over, Schmeling went below for his sparring exhibition, which, despite the weather, attracted 800 spectators, who had paid $1.10 apiece. It was the first time Schmeling worked indoors during his training period. He avoids the indoor drill whenever possible.

"Please refrain from smoking while Max is working," appealed Announcer Joey Jacobs, Schmeling's American manager. All heeded the admonition except a few ladies on the outskirts of the crowd, who declined to be separated from their fags.

Schmeling was in the aggressive mood of yesterday. Despite the smaller ring, 20 feet instead of the 24 foot outdoor equipment, Max did not force the issue against Heinz Kohlhass, Mickey McAvoy, and Henry Johnson, who exchanged blows with him for five rounds. McAvoy participated in the liveliest exchanges, but Schmeling declined to follow up advantages.

Bump Raises Mouse.

In the second period McAvoy's head bumped a mouse on Max's right eye. The latter's defense was better against left leads, however. On offense, Schmeling sought only for spots to time his right swing. Actual work was moderate rather than intensive.

Schmeling, meticulous in his training methods and seldom deviating for any cause, broke training last night long enough to attend a birthday celebration for Hype Igoe, veteran New York fight writer. To the great surprise of the assembled newspaper clan, Max and Max Machon, trainer and personal confidant, strode onto the scene at 10 o'clock, remaining more than half an hour.

Schmeling seemed to enjoy himself. He drank a ginger ale toast to the guest of honor, made a speech, unusually felicitous, and lighted all the candles on the birthday cake. He departed before 11 o'clock for his sylvan retreat two miles distant.

3 CHICAGO BOYS MAY GET CHANCE ON DODGER FARM

Cincinnati, O., June 14.—(AP)—Frank Dasso, pitcher; John Dzuira, shortstop, and Ted Annel, first baseman, who helped Lane High win the Chicago high school baseball title, may get jobs with a Brooklyn Dodgers farm, it was indicated today.

The youths worked out with the Dodgers over the week-end. Club officials could not be reached for comment but sources close to the Dodgers indicated the Chicago boys may be sent to Dayton of the Mid-Atlantic league, a Dodger farm.

Three Swimming Records Fall in Meet on Coast

Almira, Wash., June 14.—(AP)—Three world records fell today before the assault of Jack Medica and the Washington Athletic club women's relay team on Blue lake near here. Medica broke the 500 yard and 500 meter free style marks. The women's relay team—Betty Lee, Doris Buckley, Mary Lou Petty, and Olive McKean—cracked the 400 yard free style mark. Medica swam the 500 yards in 5:43, a second below the official world record of Ralph Flanagan. His 6:12.8 in the 500 meters bettered Flanagan's 6:13.6. The women's relay team covered the 400 yards in 4:09.

KRESS' ERROR HELPS KENNEDY WHIP SENATORS

Kreevich, Radcliff Lead Attack.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MIKE KREEVICH.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—Vernon Kennedy became the White Sox's winningest pitcher today when he led the lads to a 6 to 4 victory, his sixth of the year, in the series and trip final against the Washington Senators.

The Sox, who yesterday forgot they had suffered shutouts here Thursday and Friday by hammering out a 15 to 2 triumph, weren't so emphatic today. In fact they wouldn't have won at all but for an error by Red Kress, which blossomed into four runs instead of an inning-ending double play.

Despite the break, the Sox did some right smart hitting. Mike Kreevich, powerman in yesterday's attack, got a triple and two singles and Rip Radcliff fattened up his soaring batting average with three more hits.

Kennedy Is Right.

The work of Kennedy was especially slick, except in several jams, the most exciting of which came in the ninth when the Senators loaded the bases with none out. They were able to eke only one run from this situation, however.

The engagement concluded a long trip which ended better than it started. Six out of eight games were lost in Detroit and Cleveland, but the team braced to play .500 ball in 12 games against eastern teams.

Strangely enough the only series the Sox captured was against the league leading Yanks. They broke even here and in Philadelphia, lost two out of three in Boston, and took two out of three in New York. Incidentally the Chicagoans now have won five out of seven from the Senators.

Radcliff Starts Activity.

The Sox jumped off to a two run lead in the first inning on a single by Radcliff, a pass to Piet, Haas' sacrifice, and a single by Bonura, which scared Rip and Tony. Kreevich got the third single of the inning, but was caught snoozing off first. Then Lewis threw out Hayes.

The Senators cut the Sox lead in two in their half of the inning, when Hill singled, went to second on Lewis' out, paused while Travis flied out and scored on Stone's single to center. Kuhel's single put Stone on third, but the inning ended with Bolton's grounder to Piet.

The Senators went ahead after two were out in the third. Hill opened with his second hit, a double to left. Lewis fanned and Piet tossed out Travis, but Stone walked. Kuhel singled to center, Hill scoring the tying run and Stone reaching third. Bolton grounded to Hayes and when Jack's throw bounced six or eight feet short of first, Stone scored. Kuhel tried to reach third, but Bonura recovered Hayes' feeble effort and threw him out at third, Bonura to Dykes.

Little Mike Bumps One.

The Sox jumped into the lead in the seventh, thanks to the let down of their old pal, Kress, who had been performing with astounding brilliance in the series. Kennedy and Radcliff walked, but Kennedy was forced at third on Piet's attempted sacrifice. Haas slammed a cinch double play ball to Appleton. Appleton made a good throw to second, but Kress tried to relay the ball before it arrived and it went into center field, Radcliff scoring the tying run. Bonura fouled to Kuhel, but Kreevich tripled off the right field sign-

FOUR HORSES IN BATTLE FOR 1936 3 YEAR OLD TITLE

Other Star Colts Must Be Given a Look-In.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Life for those whose secret ambition it is to predict the 3 year old champion of the year is just about as complicated as it was back there early in the merry month of May before either a Derby or a Preakness, a Belmont stakes, or a Withers had been run.

But if they can just hold on to their mental balance a few weeks longer they are sure to be rewarded. For, even so soon as the end of this week, the situation will have reached the point, in the running of the Chicago Derby at Hawthorne and in the Dwyer stakes at New York, where "dog must begin to eat dog."

There are four strong claimants to the crown which fell off Bold Venture's brow when he unfortunately stubbed his toe while getting ready for the Belmont stakes. They are Hollyrood, which won the Detroit Derby last Saturday; Granville, winner of the Belmont stakes; Rushaway, winner of the Illinois and Latonia Derbies, and Mr. Bones, who was beaten a nose by Granville in the Dwyer.

Hollyrood Looms Big.

Hollyrood gave Rushaway a good spanking in the Detroit Derby and if he can do it again in the Chicago Derby at Hawthorne and at the same time beat all the rest of the leading western aspirants he will go into the Classic stakes at Arlington next month as the west's chief standard bearer.

Should Granville beat Mr. Bones in the Dwyer he will be just about the only colt that is left in the east whose title aspirations have not been blasted in one way or another. Even if Mr. Bones wins the Dwyer he will have to do it again in the Classic stakes in order to definitly establish himself as the better race horse.

This is the situation as it stands with all but five of the important 3 year old specials now written into the turf history books. Those five left to be decided are the Chicago Derby at Hawthorne, Dwyer stakes in New York, Classic stakes at Arlington Park, Travers Midsummer Derby at Saratoga, and the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park in the autumn.

Derby, Stake Winners.

To reach this seeming impasse every 3 year old in the country with any promise whatever has had the opportunity to show what he could. There have been thirteen 3 year old fixtures decided, each one having a distinct bearing on the ultimate outcome of the championship race. Here's what happened:

Race.	Winner.
Santa Anita Derby	He Did
Florida Derby	Brevity
Louisiana Derby	Rushaway
Arkansas Derby	Holl Image
Texas Derby	The Fighter
California Derby	Indian Broom
Kentucky Derby	Bold Venture
Preakness	Bold Venture
Illinois Derby	Rushaway
Latonia Derby	Rushaway
Withers	White Cockade
Belmont stakes	Granville
Detroit Derby	Hollyrood

With the exception of Brevity, Bold Venture, and White Cockade all of the winners of these specials still are in training and it is possible they may all come together as early as the Classic stakes. So that race which sent Blue Larkspur, Gallant Fox, Cavalcade, and Omaha on to their championships most likely will again decide the title this year.

Entries for the Chicago Derby, which is at a mile and a quarter, did not close until midnight on Saturday. Nineteen had been nominated yesterday but today's mails probably will bring the entries of at least a half dozen others.

Sparta Wins Pro Soccer League Title

Sparta Garden City won the Chicago Professional Soccer league championship yesterday by holding the Moravska Orlics to a 1 to 1 tie in the final game of the league schedule at Sparta Stadium.

Sparta scored first after 25 minutes when Monroe forced a corner and placed nicely for Robb to breast into the net, Cross having no chance to save.

In the second period Moravska tied the score when Wright was brought down by Tomik inside the penalty area. From the spot kick Fraser gave Trasnek no chance to save. Lineup:

Eye in the Sky to Aid Judges at Arlington

One of the greatest improvements in modern horse racing will be inaugurated June 29 at the Arlington Park race track when the eye-in-the-sky, newest of electric eye cameras, will be used to assist the placing judges in deciding close finishes.

The first important race in which this device may be needed is the Inaugural handicap on opening day, in which a fast field will participate with a strong likelihood of a driving finish.

More than $200,000 has been spent by the inventor, Harry I. Day, in perfecting the device. It already has proved its value to the judges at Santa Anita and Narragansett Park.

Up on Tower.

The apparatus is located 110 feet above the ground in a specially constructed tower, on top of the grand stand, with two cameras taking the picture of the horses nearing the finish line. The cameras are specially built high-speed motion picture cameras focused on the track from a distance of 280 feet and at an angle of 30 degrees.

The device is so equipped that the film can be developed and printed, and a finished picture presented to the judges, within two minutes after a race. Thus, even before the jockies have weighed in at the judges' stand, the judges can have infallible proof of their decision.

Places Entire Field.

The electric eye starts operating when the horses are 30 feet from the finish line. Every thoroughbred in the field is pictured in its relative position as it passes the line, eliminating all doubt even on the third and fourth horses. Should one or more horses be disqualified, pictures are available of every horse in the race.

In a race on which there is not the slightest doubt of the winner, the judges will make their decision instantaneously without resorting to assistance from the eye, but they will not be made official until checked with the eye.

RING TACTICS.

NAPANOCH, N. Y., June 14.—Ring tactics may prove a most important factor in determining the duration if not the actual result of next Thursday night's contest between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling. Louis expects Schmeling to come to him. If that happens, Joe says the fight will end in a hurry, while Joe Blackburn, Louis' second and strategist, figures that even one session might end it. Schmeling positively will not discuss his plan of battle.

Therefore the fistic experting clan are guessing which of two styles the German invader will adopt. They differ both on probability and advisability of each campaign.

Will Schmeling, normally a slow starter in his methodical, Teutonic way, switch to a rushing attack, attempting to crowd the Negro who never has been crowded, hoping thereby to land his right hand haymaker? Or will Max wait for Louis to attack? Louis by nature is a counterpuncher like most great colored fighters of the past. He is so fast, however, that he sometimes looks like the aggressor by beating his opponent to the blow with what really is a counterpunch.

If Schmeling presses there will be plenty of action and a quick ending. Some argue that is his best chance, for Louis is the better boxer and hits effectively with either hand, while Schmeling is not considered dangerous with his left. On the other hand, if Max waits for Louis the fight might be louisyino, as fight fans phrase it, until action really began.

Louis is confident, possibly overconfident, apparently with the fighting tools to justify that confidence. Schmeling professes confidence, but not with the convincing finality of the Brown Bomber.

So tactics will play a rôle eagerly awaited by observers.

* *

Schmeling's Wealth.

Herr Schmeling, when asked how much money he has accumulated from his ring earnings, laughs and answers: "Enough to live off without fighting." Current estimates are that $500,000 remains after income taxes and expenses, mostly received from American appearances. It is invested in an estate at Bad Borrow, a villa in Berlin, ten apartment houses in the German capital from which Max collects rents, with comfortable balances in several banks.

For his American debut against Joe Monte, whom he stopped in eight rounds back in 1928, Schmeling received $1,000. Then followed $15,000 for flattening Johnny Risko, $6,800 for Joe Sekyra, and varying amounts until $74,000 was handed over for beating Paulino Uzcudun in 1929.

For winning on a foul from Sharkey in the bout, which carried with it the title, Max had $174,000 and picture rights worth $37,000. Victory over Stribling at Cleveland was worth $106,000, with more than $200,000 for the bout in which he surrendered the title to Sharkey by decision.

Nearly all Schmeling's fights paid important money, so it is easy to see that Max may have salvaged $500,000 after income taxes and managerial splits. As a rule fighters' earnings are overestimated because deductions from the gross are not figured high enough. Anna Ondra, Schmeling's wife and German screen star, is wealthy in her own right.

* *

Wife Not at Ringside.

Anna Ondra, Schmeling's wife, originally had intended to sail from Germany in time to be present at the ringside Thursday night. A new film contract will prevent. Mrs. Joe Louis will be among those present.

Indiana Ready for Opening of 1936 Fishing

BY BOB BECKER.

Indiana fishermen will hold their spring jubilee tomorrow when the 1936 fishing season opens. At Monticello and several other communities in the lake section community programs have been arranged for this evening to provide entertainment for angles until midnight, the hour at which the boys may legally start to swing their fishing tackle.

Indiana's regulations on the taking of bass and other game fish, which you might profitably clip and put in your tackle box if you are going to fish in that state, are as follows:

Nonresident fishing license for the season . $2.25
Ten day nonresident license . $1.00

Species—	No.	Length.
Large mouth black bass	*6	10 in.
Small mouth black bass	*6	10 in.
Silver bass	*6	10 in.
Bluegills	†25	5 in.
Crappies [both kinds]	†25	6 in.
Rock bass [goggle eye or red eye]	†25	5 in.
Red eared sunfish	†25	5 in.
Yellow ring perch	None	None
Pike-Perch [wall eye or Jack Salmon]	6	15 in.
Northern pike	None	15 in.

*Limit six in the aggregate of small mouth, large mouth, or silver bass combined.

†Limit twenty-five in the aggregate of bluegills, crappies, rock bass, or goggle eyes and red eared sunfish combined.

Maximum possession—Two days' legal catch.

Trout may be taken until and including Aug. 31.

All persons 18 years of age or over must have a license to fish in the state of Indiana except upon their own premises.

There are a number of small Indiana lakes within easy driving distance of Chicago. Most of them are well stocked with blue gills and other panfish as well as black bass.

At Monticello, where the Tippecanoe river has been dammed to form two pretty good sized lakes, the waters are stocked not only with varieties of panfish and bass, but also with white bass and wall eyes. This is a nice stretch of water, especially if you include the river above the backwater, which can be negotiated on a delightful float trip.

On hot July mornings around 4:30 a. m. we have seen schools of white bass on the surface in those lakes near Monticello with so many fish near the top that you could get your limit of six in short order. The same condition prevailed near darkness in the evening.

Louis Displays Punches Ready to Beat Max

frey's ears than the clanging bell which ended the round.

Salvatore Ruggeriello, whose right hand practically ended Stanley Poredas ring career, came next. Joe drove him from the ring in one round. Salvatore was scheduled for two rounds, but he refused to continue. Joe's left, which split the Italian's lip, completely discouraged him.

Frank Wotanski, Utica, N. Y., heavyweight, swathed in red tights and red jersey, fought two rounds to complete today's six round exercise. Wotanski had been quoted in New York papers as saying that Louis was easy to hit with a right, which is comparable to telling the warden the electric chair won't hurt. Louis taught him to be more discreet, and once more the right to the head and the left hook were Joe's means of approach.

Cold weather, rather than rain, forced Louis indoors today. The change in location cost the management more than $1,000, for that many at least were refused admission. They waited outside an hour to see Louis walk from the hotel to his cottage.

Louis will box Tuesday afternoon for the last time. Weighing in Thursday will take place at the Hippodrome, recently leased by Mike Jacobs for fights next winter.

COOPER, MANERO PLAY TIE MATCH WITH DAWSONS

Brothers Show Golf Pros Brilliant Play.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Tony Manero is the open golf champion of the United States and Harry Cooper is the man who finished just two shots back of Anthony in the recent record breaking tournament at Baltusrol. More important yesterday, however, was the fact that George and Johnny Dawson are still the best amateurs the Glen Oak Country club boasts, as the two demonstrated by holding the professional pair even through an 18 hole exhibition match.

A gallery of 500 turned out to see the battle, looking for the potential medal scoring duel between Cooper and Manero as the attraction of the day. That ultimately was settled, with Harry going over his home club lot with a 71, two under par, against Manero's par equaling 73.

Dawsons Set Pace.

It didn't take the Cooper-Manero combine long to discover that they were going to have a struggle on their hands from the standpoint of match play. George Dawson finished the round with a medal card of par 73 also, while John, who was not putting well, needed a 75.

Both Dawsons proved that they knew every blade of grass at Glen Oak, with George, eldest of the family of golfing brothers, carrying the burden. It finally required a birdie by Cooper on the 14th and another by Manero at the 17th to square the match.

The individual cards for the match follow:

Par—Out	433	453	544—36
Par—In	534	444	454—37—73
Cooper—Out	443	354	544—36

Chicago district professionals and amateurs today join their brethren throughout the state in a march on the country club at Decatur, where the state open and amateur golf championships will be decided this week.

The first 18 holes of the open event will be played today with the final 18 scheduled for tomorrow morning. The open this year, with Harry Cooper of Glen Oak defending the championship he has won for the last three years, has attracted the best field in the history of the tourney. The Chicago-District Golf association, with James Garard of Skokie as chairman of its tournament committee, has doubled the purse, raising it to $1,000. In addition, pros from outside the state, hitherto ineligible for the event, have been invited to compete.

Armours Are Entered.

Among the pros who will seek to take the crown from Cooper, are Tommy Armour, of Medinah; Horton Smith of Oak Park; Jimmy Thomson, of Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa.; Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr; Johnny Revolta of Evanston; Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm course; Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, and Tony Penna of Itasca.

A rising star among the amateurs in the open will be young John Armour, Tommy's son. Last week John won the Lake Forest academy championship at Deerfield, with a medal 72, the lowest amateur card ever turned in on the course. John also will team with his father in the pro-amateur event which will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Hobart Defends Crown.

Johnny Hobart of Rockford, a member of the University of Illinois team, will defend the amateur crown he won in his home town last year against the strongest field of stars that has come up in several seasons. The amateurs will open their battle with a 27 hole qualifying round on Wednesday, with match play opening Thursday and continuing through Saturday.

Jimmy Thomson and Horton Smith finished all even with Lawson Little and Abe Espinosa in an exhibition match yesterday at Evergreen Golf club. Espinosa led with 36—34—70, Smith shot 35—37—72, Thomson, 37—38—75, and Little 39—38—77. Par for the course is 71.

Schumacher Allows Only Five Scattered Hits.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 14.—(AP)—Hal Schumacher held the Pirates to five hits today and the New York Giants ended their five game losing streak by blanking the Bucs, 8 to 0.

Thirty-two thousand spectators, the largest crowd of the season here, saw Schumacher halt the Pirates' seven game winning mark. Arky Vaughan's single was the only clean hit made off the New York hurler. The other four Pirate swats were infield taps.

Cubs Defeat Bees, 3-1, for 11th in Row

stir. Berger led off with a single to left. The hit and run play was called for and the pitch was right over the plate, but Cuccinello missed it. O'Dea threw to Herman and Berger was nailed at second. Then Cuccinello singled to left, but Lee and Haslin were easy outs on infield taps.

O'Dea was put out of the way in the fourth before Demaree was heard from for the second time. Demaree stretched the count to 3 and 2 and then by way of variety picked out the left field bleachers as the proper landing place for homer No. 7. Allen followed with a double past third, but his effort went to waste. Berger sprinted to the fence in right center to make a leaping catch of a long fly off Cavarretta's bat, and Urbanski tossed out English.

Berger Gets Second Hit.

Berger introduced his second hit off Warneke in the sixth. He singled to left after two were out and Herman threw out Cuccinello. The Cubs had a little sport in their half on gifts from Lanning. Galan started off with a pass and was forced by O'Dea who just missed being doubled. Having experienced two home run jolts in his dealings with Demaree, Lanning took care that it didn't happen again. He passed him. This put two on with one out. Allen grounded to short and the Bees hung together long enough to manufacture a double play.

Warneke continued to deal 'em out sparingly in the seventh. Lopez singled to center after two had been retired and Thompson was delegated to bat for Lanning. The best he could do was a fly to Allen. The eighth brought another long hit, also after two were gone. Jordan singled between Hack and English and the inning closed with Berger flying to Demaree. Then Warneke climaxed the performance properly by setting the Bees down in order in the ninth, the last one, Haslin, on strikes.

It didn't take the Senators long to fill the bases in the ninth. Bolton walked, and when Kress singled to left, Radcliff kicked the ball, Bolton reaching third and Kress second. The runners held their stations while Bluege beat out a bounder to Dykes, filling the bases. Reynolds batted for Newsom, the second Senator pitcher, and fouled to Grube. Hill grounded to Dykes, who tried for a double play through Piet. Bluege was forced but Bolton scored, Kress reached third and Hill first. Hill stole second, then Piet threw out Lewis.

COME HOME TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—To those who may be contemplating the hiring of a welcoming band, it may be said the valiant White Sox will debark at Englewood station at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon.

◆

At 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the White Sox will open their fourth series of the year against the Boston Red Sox. Sox enthusiasts recall that the White Sox defeated the Red Sox a week ago today for the first time in nine games. The Comiskeys hope to sweep the approaching three game series, however.

◆

It has not been decided whether Luke Appling will be able to get back at shortstop in Tuesday's opener. He's still limping a bit with that sore ankle.

Beat Ohio State and Trojans and You'll Have a Track Title

Ohio State, hoping to win on first places, and Southern California, with a well balanced team, are the favorites to win the 15th annual championship track meet of the National Collegiate Athletic association at Stagg field on Friday and Saturday, which is also a semi-final qualification for the American Olympic team.

An injury to Jesse Owens would knock out Ohio State, for if the Buckeyes are to have a chance to defeat the Trojans, Owens must win all four of his events, the two sprints, the low hurdles and the broad jump. An accident is seen as the only means of keeping Owens from sweeping the four events, just as he did in the annual meet at Berkeley last year.

Beetham Best Half Miler.

Beetham of Ohio State is the half mile favorite and Albritton and Walker are figured as close to the top of the field in the high jump. That finishes Ohio's scoring chances, unless Benner in the 5,000 meters and O'Brien or Sexton in the 1,500 meters can crowd in for a point or two.

Southern California's array includes 25 athletes with scoring chances. The Trojans have only one sure first place, but they'll be shopping all afternoon for second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth places.

Coach Dean Cromwell's team includes Boone, Draper and Talley in the 100 meters, Draper and Fitch in the 200 meters, Cope and Staley in the high hurdles, La Fonde in the low hurdles, Johnson in the 400 meter hurdles, Fitch, Smallwood and Cassin in the 400 meters, Bush and Johnson in the 800 meters, Zamperini in the 1,500 meters, Lantz in the 5,000 meters, Hansen and Schleimer in the shot put, Carpenter in the discus, Milner and Thurlow in the javelin, Thurber in the high jump, Sefton, Meadows, Day and Hooker in the pole vault, and Skinner, Boone and Crane in the broad jump.

Indiana 3d Place Prospect.

Indiana or California should take third place. Indiana's strength depends largely on how big a sweep the great Hoosier trio of Lash, Deckard and Smith can pile up in the two distance runs. Caldemeyer in the high hurdles and high jump, Baldwin in the low hurdles, Collier in the 200 meters and Hobbs in the half mile are other possible Indiana scorers but the total does not look sufficient.

California's hopes for third place lie in Williams, probable winner of the quarter mile, a trio of low hurdle and 400 meter hurdle men, Fishback, Moore and Stout, an all around weight star, Mackey, who may place in the shot, discus and javelin, Pollock in the short dash, a second shot putter, Kitts, and Fink in the javelin.

Three well balanced dual meet teams, Wisconsin, Michigan and Notre Dame may cut into the scoring, but not seriously. Stanford has two weight stars, Reynolds in the shot and Levy in the discus, but hardly enough else to prove a factor. The east, Rock Mountain schools, south and southwest will also figure in the scoring.

AUSTRIA BEATS JUGO-SLAVIA IN TENNIS DOUBLES

VIENNA, June 14.—(AP)—The Austrian Davis cup team of George Von Metaxa and Adam Bavarowski came back today to defeat Jugo-Slavia in the doubles in their European zone semi-finals after dropping the first two singles matches yesterday.

The match went to five sets before the Austrians beat Franjo Kukuljevic and Dragotin Mitic, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2. The Austrians, apparently tired from their singles matches, started slowly but forged to the front with a brilliant forecourt game in which Bavarowski was the star.

A'S SCORE 5 RUNS IN 1ST; DEFEAT INDIANS, 8 TO 6

Philadelphia, Pa., June 14.—(AP)—The Athletics closed their home stand today by taking their third game in four from the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 6. Home runs played a major rôle in the scoring. Cleveland used four pitchers.

Bob Johnson featured a five-run attack on Oral Hildebrand in the first inning by hitting a homer with the bases filled. It was the Cherokee's fourth home run of the series and seventh of the season.

The Indians fell on Lee Ross to score five runs and come within one of tying the score in the seventh. Hale opened this attack with a home run to the roof of the left field stands.

Harry Kelley went to Ross' relief and shut the Indians out the balance of the game. Score:

THE TRUCK OF ALL JOBS

CRANE CO.
No. 825

CRANE CO., one of the oldest and most respected of Chicago industrial institutions, knows International Trucks through years of experience. Illustration shows 1½-ton Model C-30, one of the several new units added to the fleet.

THE 1½-TON INTERNATIONAL

To any owner of a Model C-30 International, we don't have to point out what a sturdy, economical powerful truck it is. His cost and service records have already told him in unmistakable figures. The same story of performance is written in the records of International users throughout the country.

No truck chassis has a greater scope of service, a wider range of usefulness than this 1½-ton International. And, like all other Internationals, the C-30 owes its unusual economy to thorough all truck engineering right down to the smallest working part.

If you are in the market for a truck, your search for the right one should end right here in one of our showrooms. Besides the C-30 the complete International Line runs from the light ½-ton job to powerful 6-wheelers. At your service at any time.

INTERNATIONAL MODEL C-30
(shown above)

This chassis is furnished in two wheelbase lengths—133-inch and 157-inch. These special features are part of the reason for the outstanding value of this 1½-ton truck: hardened exhaust-valve seat inserts, full floating rear axle, a 6-cylinder engine that develops 78.5 brake horsepower, counter-balanced crankshaft, pressure lubrication, and many others.

W. P. GLEASON, 'MAN WHO BUILT GARY,' IS DEAD

Steel Executive Succumbs After Second Stroke.

William P. Gleason, steel executive, generally regarded as "the man who built Gary," and for nearly three decades the most influential citizen of the northern Indiana suburb, died yesterday at his home, 7006 Euclid avenue. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Gleason suffered a paralytic stroke in April. His condition improved somewhat in May, but physicians forbade him to go to the Republican national convention as a delegate last week. [He had been elected in Indiana, where he maintained a legal residence though living in Chicago.] On Friday he suffered a second stroke.

Born Here, Reared in Joliet.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Gleason spent his boyhood in Joliet. He went to work in the Illinois Steel works there in 1880. In 1887 he became foreman of the machine shop and from 1892 to 1900 was master mechanic of the works. From 1901 to 1906 he was assistant manager of the Clairton works of the Carnegie Steel company.

In 1906 he was chosen as general superintendent in charge of the construction of the Gary works of the United States Steel corporation. The site of Gary at that time was an uninhabited and uninviting stretch of dune lands and swamps.

New Channel for River.

Under the direction of Mr. Gleason railroads crossing the tract were relocated and a new channel was dug for the Grand Calumet river. A total of 16 million cubic yards of earth were used in filling the low stretches of the townsite. Other millions of yards were moved in the building of the Gary harbor, a mile long, 250 wide and 23 feet deep.

Then came the construction of the steel mills themselves, which still rank as the largest single unit in the United States. This work was completed in 1908 and Mr. Gleason was made general manager. While he held this position the onetime wastelands of Indiana became a municipality of 100,000 population.

Active in Organizations.

Mr. Gleason was active in civic welfare movements in his city. He was president of the Gary park board from 1910 to 1935 and president of the National Dunes Park association for several years; president of the board of the Gary Y. M. C. A., president of the Lake County Tuberculosis sanatorium and founder of the W. P. Gleason Welfare center. He was chairman of the Gary chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mr. Gleason was a director of the Gary State bank, the Indiana Steel company and the Universal-Atlas Cement company. He was a member of the Gary, Hammond and South Shore country clubs, of the Chicago Athletic association and the Hamilton club.

Retired as Chief Last Year.

Under the rules of the Illinois Steel company, a subsidiary of United States Steel, Mr. Gleason was retired as general manager of the works when he reached 70 years of age on Feb. 12, 1935. He continued with the plant in an advisory capacity.

Surviving Mr. Gleason are his widow, Mrs. Anna Knowlton Gleason, and a daughter, Miss Eleanor May Gleason.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Philip Neri church, 2132 East 72d street. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery, Joliet.

Rockford, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—A new type of concrete road will be constructed here by the state and county highway departments as an experiment. The cement will be laid directly over the soil. A stretch of 1.13 miles will be paved at a cost of approximately $14,000. The road, if the project is successful, will cost considerably less than the regular type of concrete paving.

LENGAN YAWNS, SMILES; RADIO TREATMENT AIDS

Ottawa, Ill., June 14.—(AP)—Dr. E. C. Andrews, head of the Ottawa General hospital, said tonight Joseph Lengan, 30, the cement worker who has been afflicted with sleeping sickness for more than a year, apparently was responding to treatment by radio.

"Definite improvement" has resulted, Dr. Andrews declared.

Today, the doctor said, the patient yawned and smiled when told friends were in the room.

Dr. Andrews said waves less than a meter in length were used to stimulate production of red corpuscles in the blood of the patient. Usual short wave treatments use 6 to 20 meter waves to heat body tissues.

A short wave apparatus devised by Col. Frank B. Knyvett of Chicago, whom he described as "not a doctor but a British army officer," was first tried on Lengan, the doctor said, while he was a patient at home in nearby Oglesby.

BOARDER TO BE QUESTIONED IN DEATH OF BOY, 16

New York, June 14.—(AP)—The mysterious death of 16 year old Edward Herlich was being investigated today by officials of two New York buroughs.

The boy's widowed mother, Mrs. Meta Herlich, 37 years old, was unable to provide authorities with any clew to the source of poison which toxologists reported finding in the boy's body.

Her son died in a Brooklyn hospital on May 3. His death was ascribed at first to pneumonia.

Authorities said they would seek another interview with Harold Harper, a boarder in the home. Harper, a salesman, underwent an appendicitis operation last week. He made a will before he was operated on, leaving his property to Mrs. Herlich.

Policeman Arnold Arnevik, 2435 Rosemont avenue, and Leroy Armstrong, 17 years old, 1608 North Sawyer avenue, went out for a sail yesterday for the first time in the policeman's new 18 foot sloop. In trying to avoid a collision with a canoe a short distance off Loyola avenue, Arnevik put the tiller over too hard and his boat capsized. A life guard in a row boat rescued the two and the new sloop was towed to shore.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The new Illinois state highway police radio system will be put into service formally today by Gov. Horner. Speaking from the central station of the seven station network, WQPS in Springfield, Gov. Horner will dedicate this new branch of the state's crime prevention machinery in a broadcast to be carried over the Affiliated Broadcasting company [Insull's] network, including WWAE [1200 kilos] as local outlet at 12:30 p. m. today.

The seven stations all are to have 1000 watt high fidelity transmitters with 330 foot vertical radiators, each laying down a signal that may be heard plainly over any police automobile or motorcycle radio within a distance of 65 miles. The stations are strategically scattered over the state—Springfield, Chicago [on Irving Park boulevard at Dunning], Pontiac, Sterling, Macomb, Effingham and DuQuoin—so that their spheres of strong signal strength overlap.

The state highway police department has equipped 200 automobiles and 325 motorcycles with special receiving equipment. The Springfield station is the first completed. Work on the Chicago unit was delayed two months ago due to a strike involving union electricians. It is expected all stations will be ready for service by September.

The new system will be directed by Ernest Lieberman as chief engineer for the state highway division; Glen West, radio engineer, and Walter Williams, chief of the state police. Ralph C. Harris, state architect, supervised construction.

Of course it was those old Vanity Fair "impossible interviews" that gave the sponsors of Shell Château the idea for those crazy conversations they are featuring on Saturday nights now. But they should have credit for arranging such an outlandish team as they have for their next broadcast, Sally Rand and Strangler Lewis.

If suggestions are permitted we should like to hear Shirley Temple talk it over with Dr. Townsend. And it would be fun listening in on Mae West and Mr. Dionne; Lily Pons and Congressman Zioncheck, or Joe Louis and Leopold Stokowsky.

ONLY AIRWOMAN WITH A MILLION MILES QUITS JOB

San Francisco, Cal., June 14.—(AP)—The only million mile air stewardess, Katherine May, turned in her uniform to the United Air Lines today and announced she had made her last flight.

The reason is Ted Johnson, dispatcher at Salt Lake City for the air line. They are to be married early next month.

"We have planned to marry for some time," said Miss May, "but I was so near the million mile mark that I just couldn't quit until I had passed it."

Miss May is rated as having spent more hours in the air than any other woman living. She is the last of the original eight nurses employed by the air line in 1930 as the first air stewardesses. The other seven are married.

1,000 HEAR AGED MAN PREACH OWN "FUNERAL TEXT"

Danville, Ill., June 14.—(AP)—In a copse on his "Knoll Cove" farm, L. F. Bailiff, 80, preached his "funeral services" today to an estimated 1,000 visitors who came with basket lunches and gave a festive air to the obsequies.

Many old friends he hadn't seen in years appeared.

They stood under the trees of Bailiff's hilly 39 acre farm and heard the octogenarian preach for a a full hour on the text: "To know one's self is wisdom; to govern that self is strength." The text, he said, "came out of my own head."

When death comes, he told the "funeral throng," he wants friends to lift him on a pile of logs, touch a match and go away without ceremony and without weeping.

McCREA HUNTS BLACK LEGION'S "REAL BRAINS"

Detroit, Mich., June 14.—(AP)—Although forty-two men have been charged with Black Legion terrorism and at least 200 more have been questioned in the swiftly unfolding investigation of the hooded order, Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea announced today that "these are just the small fry."

"Somewhere, higher up, are the real brains, the men who conceived and executed all this wickedness," he said. "They are the ones we are going to find, eventually, and bring to justice."

Among the fifteen men arraigned yesterday on charges of conspiracy to murder a Highland Park newspaper editor and a suburban mayor were a "state commander," and a "brigadier general" of the night riders' organization.

These men were being questioned today by investigators searching for the key to secrets the blackcloaked brotherhood concealed by hiding from its members the identity of all their officers except one immediate superior.

EASTMAN URGES 'CONTAINER' USE TO AID FREIGHT

All Transportation to Be Included.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—(AP)—Development of a nation-wide "container" service in the movement of freight by rail, highway and water was proposed today by Joseph B. Eastman, federal coördinator of transportation.

The coördinator's powers are due to expire tomorrow unless congress acts on a proposal to extend the position. The plan advanced today featured a detailed and complex report by him on transportation property and equipment.

Savings of millions of dollars in the handling of present freight and creation of much new business were predicted through use of "containers." These would permit "unit" movement of thousands of products that now are handled "piecemeal," he said.

Eastman said the idea was not new, but was now used in a limited manner in this country in some localities and industries, and had proved highly successful in several foreign countries for national and international freight.

Suggests Two Types.

Two broad types of containers were described in the 282 page report. One was a platform or rack upon which products could be stacked. The other was a boxlike structure similar to the body of a large motor truck or a small box car without wheels.

These containers would be loaded at the point of shipment, then transferred by motor truck to railroad or boat, and finally delivered intact to the destination.

Eastman said the comprehensive plan would "eliminate needless effort and expense in the transportation of many kinds of freight" and avoid much of the present "waste and exepnse in the handling and movement of a substantial portion of the present freight trafic."

Sees Big Savings.

As an example of savings he cited costs in moving a shipment of groceries now from New York to Chicago. He said "cartage and loading" costs per ton on this now averages $5.60 and that through use of containers it would be less than $1 per ton.

Eastman estimated that nearly one hundred millions of tons of freight now moving through transportation channels of this country each year would be benefited by the nation-wide container system.

The containers would be made so that they could be used on motor trucks, boats or railroads with equal ease. Use of them, he said, would end much of the "cut-throat competition" between various agencies, because "door-to-door" service would employ all forms.

Would Use Trucks.

Motor trucks, he said, would be used for the short hauls and movements to railroads and water carriers, while the long haul business, which is the natural field for railroad and water transportation, would be spurred.

Eastman said ownership and organization of the nation-wide container system presented serious problems. He suggested that a single company probably was best, with all forms of transportation represented in the ownership, or if this was not possible then "independent" ownership. The container company would rent its products to the shippers or the carriers.

Improved Air Conditioning Is Plan of Rails

Evidence that the railroads intend to look into the matter of air conditioning from all available angles was presented in an announcement yesterday by J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads at Washington, that thirty railroads have been asked to assign engineers to participate in research on the subject for the next three months.

The purpose of the project which will be conducted by L. W. Wallace, director of the equipment research division of the association, "is to determine to what extent improvements, if any, can be made in the systems now in use and how far they can be standardized so as to reduce costs of installation and maintenance."

Plan Instruction Course.

A special course of instruction in air conditioning for the selected engineers will start July 6 at Ohio State university, Columbus, O., under the direction of Prof. A. I. Brown, who is consultant to the research division of the association. Following this preliminary work, operating tests under varying conditions will be instituted over the lines of the railroads.

A recent survey by the association showed a majority of the larger roads have installed air conditioning devices on many of their dining cars, coaches, and other passenger equipment, and the Pullman company has also accepted the new equipment.

7,000 Cars Air Conditioned.

Nearly 7,000 air conditioned units are now in operation in the United States, the survey disclosed. The railroads own 2,731 units, which includes 1,414 coaches, 744 dining cars, and 573 other types.

The Pullman company owns 4,005 units, including 3,335 standard sleeping cars, 205 tourist sleepers, 376 parlor cars, and 89 other types.

SAN FRANCISCO HIGH SPEED TRAIN MAKES FIRST RUN

Oakland, Cal., June 14.—(AP)—The streamlined train City of San Francisco left here with a capacity load of passengers today to inaugurate high speed service between the bay area and Chicago. Gov. Frank F. Merriam, the mayors of several San Francisco bay cities, A. D. McDonald, president of the Southern Pacific lines, and other notables participated in the ceremonies marking the departure.

The new train is expected to cover the 1,263 miles in 39 hours 45 minutes, cutting approximately 19 hours off the present fastest schedule.

Among the 170 passengers were the track and field contingents of Stanford and the University of California, bound for Chicago to compete in the National Collegiate association championships there June 26. Coach R. L. Templeton accompanied Stanford's eight contenders.

Bankers to Honor Rathje at Meeting on Thursday

George A. Malcolm, president of the Chicago district of the Illinois Bankers association, and vice president of the Drovers National bank, announced yesterday that a meeting complimentary to Frank C. Rathje, president of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company, and newly elected president of the Illinois Bankers association, will be held Thursday evening, June 18, at the Union League club. Rathje will deliver his first address since his election last month at the annual convention in St. Louis. Dr. Melchior Palyi, guest professor at the University of Chicago, will also address the meeting which will be attended by approximately 300 Chicago bankers.

FINANCE WORLD CHEERFUL OVER TURN OF EVENTS

Stock Market Again Moves Upward.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—Once again in the throes of a rising stock market, the financial community left Wall street for the week-end on Saturday immensely pleased with the developments of the last week, both from a financial and political standpoint.

On the financial side they witnessed a resumption of the bullish movement in stocks which came to an end in April and on the political side they had the nomination of Gov. Landon to be the Republican standard bearer in the November elections. Comment in financial circles during the week leaned heavily to the theory that it was the selection of the Kansas governor which provided the main impetus for the rise in stocks, and evidence was plentiful to sustain that view.

Averages Move Higher.

On Thursday, when it became a certainty that Landon would be put at the head of the Republican ticket, the stock market scored its largest gains, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S averages for fifty representative stocks being boosted to 124.85, the best figure reached since the early days of April. On Friday the list went through a "technical adjustment" of its position, but the last day of the week witnessed another upturn in prices.

In some quarters the hesitation of the market on Friday was ascribed to a disposition to await the Democratic convention's declaration next week before passing positive judgment. Since the end of April the list has indulged in a 13⅛ point recovery, one-fourth of which came last week. The Republican party's platform with regard to the industrial and fiscal policies of the New Dealers had been expected in the financial district and, together with the persistent industrial improvement, was credited with playing a major rôle in the upward movement.

Views on Platform.

Wall street conceded that the Republican platform went as far as it was prudently possible to go and in the opinion of commentators it recognized the new hopes springing up among opponents of the reigning administration.

On the business side, there were any number of developments that resulted in a more cheerful atmosphere among the speculative fraternity. Last week's steel production, according to the estimate of the magazine Iron Age, rose beyond the previous high mark of the year. Weekly loadings of railway freight, as reported Friday, were much the greatest of any week this year and 10 to 30 per cent above the corresponding week in the last two years.

Electrical power output continued to rise. Western Electric, the principal manufacturing subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, resumed dividend payments after a lapse of five years and Montgomery Ward sales reached a new high for the month of May. In addition there was a steady flow of favorable dividend actions and earning reports.

Utilities in Spotlight.

One group of shares that came back into the spotlight was the stocks of utility companies listed on the big board. American Telephone was especially buoyant and Western Union fell into line on expectation of improved earnings. Virtually every section of the list participated in the rise, however, with special emphasis being placed on the farm implement section, merchandising shares, and a number of miscellaneous industrials. Steel shares were far from backward and carrier issues were not neglected.

Next week will see the outpouring of the first flood of bonus money and for a while at least financial students expect to see a pickup in the retail business. A part of the gains scored by the department store issues was attributed to expectation that a good deal of the veteran's money will be converted into clothes, household furnishings, etc. The agricultural plank of the Republicans was given a good measure of the credit for the upturn in the farm supply group. Motor shares followed the trend as did the chemicals.

Foreign affairs were not given much attention during the week and little was heard of the new tax bill, with practically all eyes being centered on the proceedings at Cleveland.

CHICAGO'S BUSINESS RECORDS ADVANCES IN SEVERAL FIELDS

Chicago business last week made further progress on the recovery road, most authorities agreed, with buying of summer commodities at retail and wholesale showing up fairly well for the season and holding the margin over a year previous.

Wholesalers benefited by a pronounced interest in fall apparel. Some distributors of women's wares reported it difficult to make deliveries because of a heavy influx of new orders. The house furnishing trade found sales of furniture and other residential equipment threatening to establish new six year peaks for volume.

Real estate transactions and rentals continue upward, with available vacancies in some suburbs said to be at a minimum.

Several major Chicago industries recorded further increases in employment. It was said that this year's crop of high school and college graduates will be afforded the best chance for placement in the business world in four summers.

Public utilities and railroads serving this area indicated substantial gains in volume over a year ago well maintained.

'STREAMLINED' TUB ANNOUNCED BY CHICAGO FIRM

A "streamlined" bathtub was announced yesterday. It will be exhibited for the first time at the national plumbing convention in Buffalo, N. Y., next week, the Crane company, its makers, reported.

The tub, which the company said was designed to "harmonize with modern types of construction and architecture," was developed as a stimulus to the bathtub business, already booming sufficiently to warant announcement of a $1.75 dividend on the Crane firm's 7 per cent preferred stock.

Charles B. Nolte, president of the company, said the increase in this year's volume of business has exceeded the upturn shown in the comparable 1935 period over 1934.

Insurance Company Stock Average Price Advances

New York, June 14.—(AP)—The average price of 20 insurance company stocks on June 12 was 28.76 compared with 28.64 on June 5, a compilation by Allen & Co. disclosed. The average prices for 18 bank and trust company stocks for the comparable dates were 96.63 and 94.04, respectively.

NET INCOME OF 1,709 CORPORATIONS IN '35 SHOWS 50 PCT. GAIN

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—Reports from 1,709 corporations, including industrials, rails and utilities, show combined net income for 1935 of approximately $2,477,032,000 compared with $1,649,545,000 for 1934, according to an analysis made public today by the Standard Statistics company.

This figure for total net income for the year represents an increase of 50.2 per cent over the preceding year, the analysis points out.

Broken down into three major classifications, the net increase of the industrial group was 61.6 per cent, utilities 13 per cent, while the railroads secured a small aggregate profit, against an aggregate deficit for 1934.

One of the most encouraging features of the corporate experience last year, according to the Standard Statistics analysis, was the marked recovery in earnings of heavy industrials. Building supply, machinery and electrical equipment lines, for example, reported total profits more than double those of 1934, while the steel trade operated profitably for the first time since 1930.

Commercial Credit Stock Offer Today

The Commercial Credit company of Baltimore announced yesterday that it will offer today $25,000,000 of 4¼ per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock in conformance with the plan to retire the 5½ per cent preferred.

Proceeds also will be used to increase working capital and to provide a larger proportion of the funds required to finance the company's increasing volume of business, according to the announcement.

The new preferred will be offered at $101.75 a share, with the offering underwritten by 38 banking firms throughout the country and headed by Kidder, Peabody & Co. and the First Boston corporation.

Exchange Right Granted.

Holders of the 5½ per cent preferred have been granted the right to exchange their present holdings on the basis of one share of the 5½ per cent preferred for one share of the new 4½ per cent preferred, plus 3-20 share of common stock. This right expires June 23, 1936. According to the prospectus, the 5½ per cent preferred is expected to be called for redemption on July 31, 1936, at $110 a share plus accrued dividends.

A maximum of $19,371,800 of the new preferred will be required for exchange if all stockholders exercise their exchange rights. The new preferred will be offered subject to the exchange rights.

The company has been engaged in specialized forms of financing for 24 years, and is one of the three largest finance companies in the United States.

U. S. Rubber to Retire Notes.

The United States Rubber company announced yesterday that on Sept. 1 it will complete the retirement of all its outstanding 6½ per cent serial gold notes by calling for redemption $4,000,000 in principal amount on that date. These are series N, due March 1, 1939, to be redeemed at 102½, and series O, due March 1, 1940, to be redeemed at 103½ and accrued interest.

These retirements on Sept. 1 will bring the total since 1929 to more than $50,000,000 and will result in annual savings in interest charges of more than $3,000,000, according to the announcement. This will also reduce total funded debt of the company and subsidiaries to approximately $54,000,000.

Public offering of a new issue of $1,750,000 Territory of Hawaii bonds will be made today by a group headed by Edward B. Smith & Co. The bonds will be dated July 20, 1936, and will mature July 20, 1941 to 1945, inclusive. They are priced to yield from 1.6 to 2.1 per cent, according to maturity.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES FURTHER; RATE NOW 68%

Demand Strong on Eve of Price Boost.

Steel works operations last week rose one point to 68 per cent of plant capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Strong demand for steel for immediate use, combined with an increasing amount of speculative buying against third quarter price increases, accounted for the boost, according to Steel.

"While new prices will become generally effective July 1, it is indicated that some orders now being taken will require an extension of shipments beyond July 1," the journal said. "An inclination on the part of some producers to book orders at current prices to the end of June has become apparent, which would result in shipments being made at second quarter prices for some time in July."

Auto Output Slightly Lower.

Automobile production last week declined slightly to 100,415 units, Steel said. Some manufacturers are continuing to place moderate size orders for current models in preparation for the new models, and many orders are being booked for machine tools, hand tools and dies.

Structural shape awards were up slightly to 17,420 tons, with unusual activity in the demand for plain structural material, Steel reports. Four pipe line projects are up for figures, requiring 25,000 tons of plates.

Tin plate producers experienced their fifth consecutive week at 100 per cent operation, with deliveries from some mills deferred six weeks to two months, the magazine said.

Pig Iron Shipments Steady.

"Pig iron shipments so far this month have held nearly equal to those in the comparable period in May, with producers confident of continued improvement," Steel said.

Ingot production in Pittsburgh district set a new 1936 high last week, rising 3 points to 65 per cent, according to the journal. Detroit was up 12 points to 100 per cent; New England, up 8 points, to 78 per cent; eastern Pennsylvania, up 1½ points, to 44½ per cent; while Chicago dropped 1 point to 69 per cent, and Youngstown was off 1 point to 76 per cent. Other districts were unchanged.

WHEAT PRICES MOVE SLIGHTLY IN DULL TRADE

Uncertainty as to Spring Crop Slows Action.

Wheat futures fluctuated idly over a narrow course on the Chicago Board of Trade last week in one of the dullest periods of activity in many months. Volume of trading was about half that of the same week last year. Price changes were negligible as the week closed.

Uncertainty over the outcome of the growing spring wheat crop tended to restrict aggressive operations, while the Republican convention at Cleveland served to reduce speculation in all markets. Grains felt the full reflection of this hesitancy in common with other commodities and securities.

Recent rains in the northwest brought needed relief and effectively broke the drouth which had existed in the spring wheat area for weeks, although in some localities extremely light precipitation occurred.

Crop Condition Below Normal.

On Wednesday the government issued its June 1 report on condition of the crop—66.9 per cent of normal. This was considerably below expectations and the lowest on record for that date, with one exception. With data on acreage lacking, no accurate estimate was available as to what the condition figure represented in probable harvest.

The official report commented that an outturn of 200 million bushels might be realized. Private forecasts ranged from this figure to 225 million bushels. Admittedly, breaking of the drouth has bettered the outlook for the crop, but making all reasonable allowances for improvement most observers agreed that spring wheat this year is off to one of the poorest starts in its history.

Likewise, most grain statisticians thought the official estimate on winter wheat of 482 million bushels was pessimistic.

Weather Better for Wheat.

Better growing weather has prevailed since the figures on which the report is based were compiled. Current arrivals of new wheat at southwestern markets indicate improved conditions in Texas and Oklahoma, although receipts have not come from an area wide enough to furnish a yardstick for the crop as a whole.

Canadian and European crop conditions are more favorable. Danubian countries promise to have a substantial exportable surplus this year. India shipped its first wheat of the season to the United Kingdom—48,000 bushels—which is believed to be the forerunner of sizeable exports in 1936.

Continental stocks of wheat are small but European millers do not appear to be alarmed over prospects and as a result considerable indifference has been shown toward offerings of Canadian wheat.

Traders Expect Quiet Market.

Traders see little hope of an increase in speculation nor do they expect any wide changes in prices for the present. Hedging pressure will soon become heavy as harvesting of new crop wheat gets actively under way in the southwest and this will act as an offset to buying based on changing conditions in spring wheat, which is now the biggest market influence.

Narrow price fluctuations have also dominated the corn market. Farmers have been making too much money by using their corn in feed lots to be willing to market their supplies freely. Commercial demand continues to absorb all current offerings.

Trade in oats has not been sufficient to change the market in either direction. Demand for rye received some impetus last week from unfavorable reports for both domestic and Canadian crops.

VALUE OF LISTED BONDS LOWERED BY WITHDRAWALS

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—The aggregate market value of bonds listed on the New York Stock exchange declined in May from $41,524,856,027 to $39,648,252,468 due to the removal from the list of twenty-two issues of foreign governments for failure to register under the Securities and Exchange act. The delisted issues had a par value of $1,890,844,974, but many of them, including the obligations of Great Britain, were selling at substantial premiums.

As the result of the shrinkage in listed issues from 1,456 to 1,413, the market value of all listed foreign government bonds dropped from $4,330,761,890 to $2,240,612,452, a decline of $2,090,149,438. This drop was accompanied by a decline in average price per bond of foreign governments from $82.81 on May 5 to $67.10 on June 5.

The average price per $1,000 bond was $938.30 at the beginning of the current month compared with $939 at the beginning of May.

STORES REPORT GAIN IN SALES AND COLLECTIONS

St. Louis, June 14.—(AP)—Nearly all of 58 cities reporting collections and credit sale trends to the National Retail Credit association here told of increases in May over the same month a year ago and gave as the reason "general improvement in business conditions," the association reported today. More than 16,000 retail stores were represented.

LOW YIELD BOND GROUP RISES TO NEW HIGH LEVEL

Pressure of Idle Funds Advances Prices.

New York, June 14.—(AP)—A record high for low yield bonds distinguished the bond market last week.

Investment circles agreed that the upthrust of these loans was primarily attributable to the plight of idle funds with no place else to go. The movement of funds into this sector was accompanied by an expansion of $110,000,000 in excess reserves to $2,950,000,000.

Money Rate Outlook.

The spectacle of this upturn in unemployed money served to high-light the sharp debate in bond circles on the outlook for money rates. Last week brought additional predictions that low yield obligations uncomfortably high might be confronted with the arrival of higher money rates.

Investment circles said the present week would bring a heavier crop of new issues, most of them for refunding. On the other hand, it was stressed that the new batch would include some railroad equipment trust certificates which represent a call for new money.

Carrier Liens Advance.

In the domestic corporate group medium and low priced carrier liens were the most aggressive on the advance. Issues of Boston and Maine, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, and Missouri Pacific were occasional brisk performers. The industrial sector had a few scattered bright spots, mainly in the medium price brackets. Utilities were generally quiet.

Japanese loans had a brisk jump on limited buying late in the week as unsettlement over far eastern disturbances abated.

Several Dividend Meetings Scheduled for This Week

Important dividend meetings scheduled to be held today include Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, Gotham Silk Hosiery, Philip Morris, Ltd., and Universal Leaf Tobacco; tomorrow, Keystone Steel and Wire, Link Belt, National Biscuit preferred, and Public Service of New Jersey 6% preferred; Wednesday, Alpha Portland Cement, H. L. Greene company, and Pullman; Thursday, American News, Cluett, Peabody, Continental Insurance, Fidelity-Phoenix Fire Insurance, and Pacific American Fisheries.

ENGLISH EXPECT VAST ECONOMIC SHIFT IN WORLD

See Rise in Prices, Trade After Devaluation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 14.—An informative survey of the causes and future prospects of Great Britain's economic recovery was contained in today's issue of the Economist which indicates that the summer of 1936 may be a period of significant changes in the general economic structure of the world.

By midsummer, it is pointed out, the domestic recovery in Britain, which followed the introduction of cheap money and the release of the pound sterling from overvaluation, will have lasted four years almost without interruption. In September, 1932, the Economist's index of business activity first turned upward after sharply declining for two and a half years.

Revival Still Progressing.

The tempo of the revival, which has provided employment for 1,687,000 additional insured workers in Britain since the lowest point of the depression, is held to be still undiminished but some commentators recently found cautionary significance in the flattening curve of increased exports, the congestion of the gilt edged securities market and other recessive pointers.

Before the end of 1935, the Economist observes, the British government economic advisers were prophesying a recession, beginning possibly in 1937. Various constituents in the present movement, notably the building boom, apparently have reached a peak and the international political background in the last few months has dangerously deteriorated.

Unemployment Is Analyzed.

The Economist devotes considerable attention to the unemployment problem as a criterion for economic efficiency. It analyzes present unemployment in Britain in three categories: first, normal unemployment due to regular labor turnover, seasonal fluctuations, etc.; secondly, cyclical unemployment arising from ups and downs of industrial activity as a whole; thirdly, special unemployment due to permanent shrinkage of certain industries such as coal mining, cotton, and textiles.

The survey suggests broadly that the total of 1,933,000 unemployed last July was made up of 695,000 normal, 164,000 cyclical, and 1,074,000 special. The preceding three years of economic revival saw a reduction in cyclical unemployment of 730,000, but only 120,000 in special unemployment.

Forecast Larger World Trade.

The Economist's survey in this direction tends to be reassuring for it suggests that once the European gold bloc countries have completed the process of devaluation, which is now regarded as inevitable, prospects will be opened for an extensive rise in world prices, which would weaken the economic motive for high protective tarifs and stimulate international trade.

In the last six years the world stocks of monetary gold have increased from 553,600,000 to 734,300,000 ounces. Assuming that ultimately world currencies will be devalued on an average to two-thirds of their former gold value—the dollar, it is emphasized, has been devalued to 59 per cent and sterling has been depreciated to around 60 per cent—monetary stocks in 1935 were worth $23,400,000,000 against the 1929 figure of $11,765,000,000.

Forsees Sharp Price Rise.

The annual production of gold for monetary uses, valued the same way, will reach nearly $1,025,000,000 by 1940, against an average of $222,500,000 between 1925 and 1929. This increased monetary basis, if associated with the psychology of expansionism, offers the prospect for a great—possibly even a dangerously large—price rise in the course of the next ten years.

Economically the survey indicates many reassuring factors in the long term outlook. At the same time the disastrous effects of any future European war on world trade are not overlooked. The scope and effect of favorable influences, it is commented, depend on the policy of the world's rulers more than on any other single factor.

CITY OF GARFIELD PUTS FINANCES IN BETTER SHAPE

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—The program to rehabilitate the finances of the city of Garfield, N. J., has resulted in the refunding of the city's entire floating debt and the placing of the municipal budget on a permanent cash basis, according to Dr. Charles B. Bleasby, mayor. Pointing out other benefits resulting from the completion of this program, Dr. Bleasby stated that there has been a reduction of 22 per cent in the tax rate, from $7.54 in 1934 to $5.84 in 1936. The gross debt has been reduced from $6,590,633 on Dec. 31, 1933, to $6,020,284 on Dec. 31, 1935.

In addition, a cut of 26 per cent in the annual levy, from $1,583,771 in 1934 to $1,162,938 in 1936, has been accomplished in spite of a reduction of over $1,160,000 in the assessed valuation in that period.

CURB MARKET OF LAST WEEK GAINS SLIGHTLY

New York, June 14.—(AP)—Last week's curb market participated to a modest extent in the improvement noted in the stock exchange.

Prices of the major groups hardened, although gains were comparatively narrow, with the exception of some of the closely held industrial specialties and certain of the mining issues.

Utilities came into favor again, and most of the leaders achieved fair progress. Apparently buyers were attracted by the assumption of a favorable technical position growing out of recent periods of selling in connection with the government's power program.

Bunker Hill and Sullivan was the best performer in the mining section, although some others in this group also enjoyed a trading following and ended the week at better levels.

Industrials like Sherwin Williams and American Cyanamid B were given consistent support, while Aluminum company moved irregularly within a fairly wide range.

Oils were subject to periodic pressure, but leaders like Gulf and Humble moved toward recovery near the end of the period.

Depositors of Rock Island Bank Will Get $171,355

Rock Island, Ill., June 14.—[Special.]—Depositors of the State Bank of Rock Island tomorrow will receive $171,355, which is 25 per cent of deposits waived when the bank was reopened after the bank holiday in 1933. With this payment, 87½ of total deposits of the institution as of its closing date will have been returned to depositors. Since the reopening of the bank deposits have doubled, now aggregating $5,600,000.

South American Gold.

Investors' Guide: Please send me information regarding common stock of Sou. Am. G. & P.—J. D.

Answer: South American Gold and Platinum company, incorporated in 1916, is a holding company whose subsidiaries operate gold and platinum properties in Colombia, South America.

Production of platinum had been substantially greater than that of gold until the price of gold was increased by devaluation in 1933 and it became profitable to dredge deposits where gold content was greater. The Colombian government's prohibition of export of gold and restrictions on foreign exchange necessitate carrying a large amount of funds in pesos, subject to variable discount in the foreign exchange markets.

In 1934 the company mined 38,812 ounces of crude gold and 26,090 ounces of crude platinum. In the first half of 1935 it mined 25,398 ounces of gold and 15,619 ounces of platinum.

The 1935 income statement is not available, but earnings over the years have been consistently small, a high of 30 cents a share being reported in 1926. Losses occurred in 1930, 1931, and 1932. Net income was $91,000, or 5 cents a share, in 1933, and $504,000, or 29 cents a share, in 1934.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $2,146,000 and current liabilities were $155,000.

Outstanding capitalization is 1,760,000 shares of $1 par common stock, a majority of which is owned by four development concerns. An initial dividend of 10 cents a share was paid Dec. 12, 1933, with 30 cents paid in both 1934 and 1935. A 10 cent disbursement was made March 30, 1936.

The stock is speculative.

K. Taylor Distilling.

Investors' Guide: The writer would be interested in receiving a report about the common stock of the K. Taylor Distilling Company, Inc.—A. J. S.

Answer: K. Taylor Distilling Company, Inc., is a Kentucky whisky concern. Production for 1936 is estimated at 36,000 barrels, compared with 23,359 in 1935.

In the 11 months ended Dec. 31, 1934, net sales were $208,000 and net income was only $637. In 1935, with operations accelerating, sales rose to $1,057,000, and net income was $131,000, or 39 cents a share, on the 340,000 $1 par common shares outstanding. Net in the first four months of this year was $190,000, or 56 cents a share.

An initial dividend of 5 cents a share was paid Dec. 16, 1935.

Current assets were $447,000 and current liabilities were $220,000 on March 31, 1936.

COSTS AND TAXES OFFSET BETTER HOTEL BUSINESS

Operate at Loss Despite Increased Occupancy.

Hotel business in Chicago is definitly improving, but higher costs of supplies and operations and mounting taxes are offsetting the benefits profitwise, Leonard Hicks, vice president of the greater Chicago Hotel association and managing director of the Morrison hotel, said yesterday.

Volume of business in the first five months of the year was 15 per cent ahead of 1935, he said, but, despite the gain, Chicago hotels are operating in the "red" and have been unable to show profits since 1929. One reason he advanced was the excessive amount of hotel building from 1924 to 1930. During that period the number of rooms increased from 13,000 to 19,910.

Occupancy Only 43 Per Cent.

Last year average occupancy was less than 41 per cent, and this, Hicks said, has increased to only 43 per cent this year. Because of the greater number of rooms available, hotels have been unable to advance rates in commensurate ratio with increased costs, he said. He estimated the average daily rate per room is now 60 cents lower than in 1932.

"Higher rates are vitally necessary if the Chicago hotel industry is to operate at a profit," he asserted. "But when this can be brought about depends on the volume of business we get. We have no chance of operating at a normal ratio unless business gains sharply from present levels."

Hicks cited the heavy tax burden as one of the principal reasons for heavy operating costs. Hotels in Chicago, he said, pay 43 separate taxes and fees of various sorts, ranging from corporate profits and income taxes to taxes for operating revolving doors, electric signs, canopy taxes, and a bar ice cooler inspection fee.

Taxes Over $100 Per Room.

He told of the case of one large loop hotel last year which paid $179 per room in taxes, only $2 of which was federal. While this figure is considered high, the average tax per room in Chicago is above $100.

"The investment in hotels is heavy," the executive continued. "A recent survey by Cornell university of 340 leading hotels in the country disclosed an average investment of $6,571 per room. To earn a 5 per cent return each room would have to produce $325 annually, or nearly $1 a day."

Residential hotels, Hicks said, have been benefiting from lack of home building in the last few years and occupancy in establishments of this type ranges from 85 to 90 per cent. He said Chicago's hotel facilities are more adequate than any other city in the world, with the exception of New York. Hotels in the city and Cook county exceed 1,450.

BRAZILIANS MAY BOOST EXPORTS OF COTTON IN '36

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 14.—(AP)—Estimates by officials today were that Brazil may export 800,000 bales of cotton during 1936 in comparison to the 610,000 bales exported last year. The record, they said, would be reached only if Germany purchased 352,000 bales and Japan 150,000, both of which purchases are in prospect.

The year's Brazilian crop was estimated at 1,577,000 bales as compared to 1,196,000 in 1935.

Sales to Germany are negotiated under the "compensated trade" accord by which Germany will dispose of coal, steel, and manufactured products in Brazil. Motto Ohno, general manager of the Nipponese-Brazilian Economic society, said Brazilian sales to Japan should ultimately eliminate from Japan's markets the cotton now sold by the United States, India, and Egypt.

FEDERAL FARM CONCERN REPORTS $15,280,716 PROFIT

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—Net profits of the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation from its organization to March 31, last, amounted to $15,280,716, the corporation announced today. This sum has been set up as a general reserve against mortgage loan losses.

The profit and loss statement of the corporation, published in the first issue of the Farm Credit Quarterly, shows that the organization held, as of March 31, first mortgages on farm real estate amounting to approximately $308,000,000, second mortgages valued at $510,000,000, and consolidated federal farm loan bonds bought from the Federal Land banks amounting to about $759,600,000.

Outstanding bonds of the corporation on March 31 totaled $1,047,256,900.

Contract Let on Monsanto Chemical Plant Addition

New York, June 14.—The Stone & Webster Engineering corporation announces that it has received a contract from Monsanto Chemical company, St. Louis, covering design and management of the construction of an extention to the chemical company's power plant facilities at Monsanto, Ill. Engineering work on this phase of the project will involve an estimated $550,000.

Sale of Electrical Supplies Gains 8 Per Cent in April

New York, June 14.—(AP)—Net sales of electrical supplies during April were 8 per cent ahead of March sales and 28 per cent above April, 1935, "Electrical Wholesaling" reported today. The magazine's survey was based on reports from wholesale distributors.

ROOSEVELT TAX DEMANDS PERIL ADJOURNMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 14.—[Special.]—Congressional leaders expect President Roosevelt to take a hand in the deadlock between senate and house conferees over the tax bill when he returns tomorrow, but are doubtful that an agreement can be reached in time for adjourning congress by Saturday.

After a week of daily meetings the house conferees have not budged an inch from their drastic tax on undistributed corporation earnings, reaching a maximum of 42½ per cent, and a majority of the senate conferees are just as determined that their own tax bill, with a flat 7 per cent levy on undistributed corporation earnings, shall prevail.

Blocked on Two Other Points.

The conferees also are deadlocked on the corporation income tax rates, ranging from 15½ to 18 per cent, as provided in the senate bill, the house having repealed this tax altogether. Neither have the conferees reached an agreement on the senate's 1 per cent boost in the individual surtax rates in the brackets from $6,000 to $50,000.

If President Roosevelt demands that the undistributed earnings tax, which he proposed, be carried out in a much more drastic form than the senate bill's experimental provision, the senate may have to vote again on the question of instructing its conferees to recede. No amount of pressure from the White House or elsewhere will induce a majority of the senate conferees to accept the house rates, or even the in-between Black-La Follette substitute, they declare.

Fear Prolonged Session.

The President would have to persuade a good many senators to change their position on the undistributed earnings tax even to secure agreement on the Black-La Follette compromise, reaching a maximum of 30 per cent, for it was withdrawn on the senate floor in the face of overwhelming defeat.

The conferees will resume deliberations tomorrow, while both the senate and house will be in session after a week's recess.

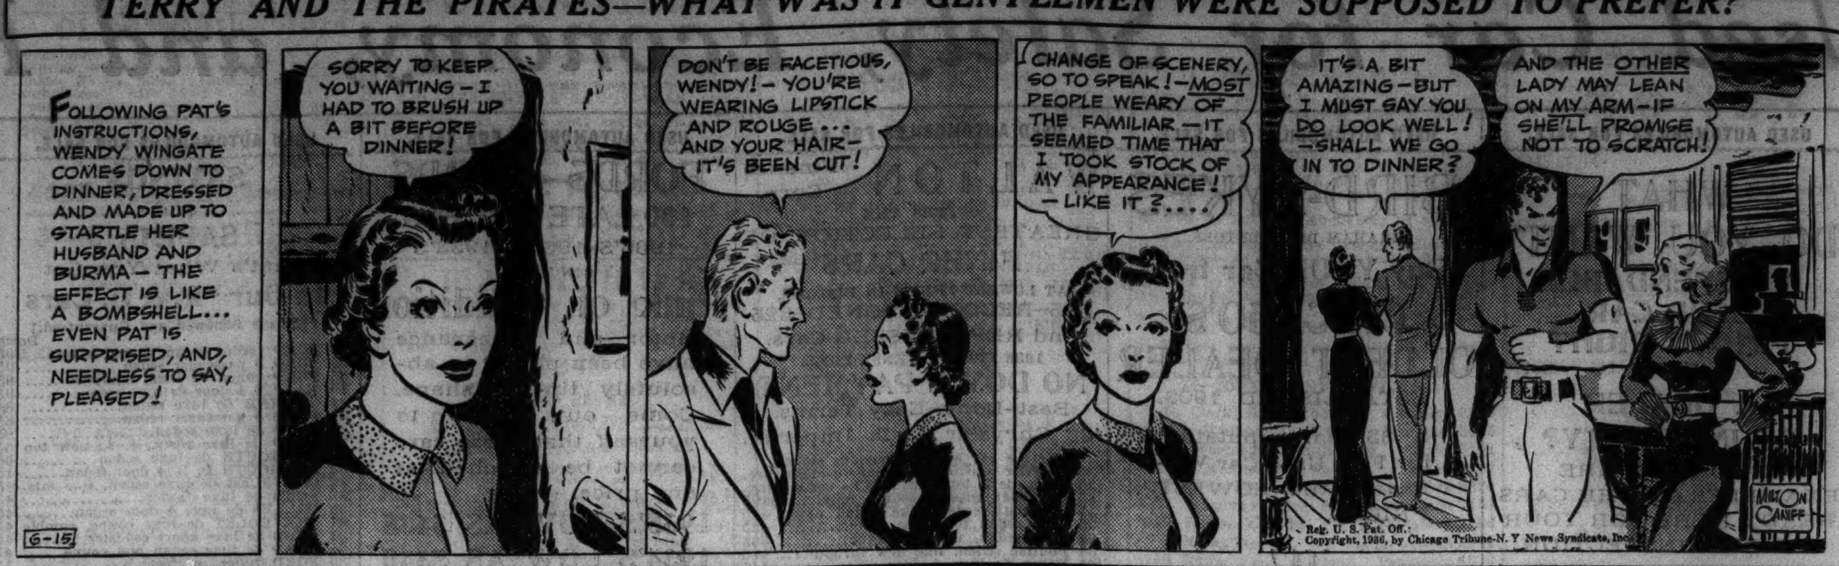
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—WHAT WAS IT GENTLEMEN WERE SUPPOSED TO PREFER?



FOLLOWING PAT'S INSTRUCTIONS, WENDY WINGATE COMES DOWN TO DINNER, DRESSED AND MADE UP TO STARTLE HER HUSBAND AND BURMA — THE EFFECT IS LIKE A BOMBSHELL... EVEN PAT IS SURPRISED, AND, NEEDLESS TO SAY, PLEASED!
6-15
SORRY TO KEEP YOU WAITING — I HAD TO BRUSH UP A BIT BEFORE DINNER!
DON'T BE FACETIOUS, WENDY! — YOU'RE WEARING LIPSTICK AND ROUGE... AND YOUR HAIR — IT'S BEEN CUT!
CHANGE OF SCENERY, SO TO SPEAK! — MOST PEOPLE WEARY OF THE FAMILIAR — IT SEEMED TIME THAT I TOOK STOCK OF MY APPEARANCE! — LIKE IT?....
IT'S A BIT AMAZING — BUT I MUST SAY YOU DO LOOK WELL! — SHALL WE GO IN TO DINNER?
AND THE OTHER LADY MAY LEAN ON MY ARM — IF SHE'LL PROMISE NOT TO SCRATCH!

Compare These Rates

On loans secured by automobiles this bank charges the same rate whether the car is new or used. So far as insurance is concerned, Fire and Theft is all we require, although we strongly urge that every car owner insure himself against collision hazards. In all cases we want the insurance placed with the borrower's own broker or agent. Premiums may be added to the loan account, the broker is paid in full, and the borrower settles up with us in monthly installments. These are typical costs and terms:

Amount You Want.	Total Yearly Charge.	Total Amount of Note.	12 Monthly Deposits.
$ 100	$12.08	$ 112.08	$ 9.34
200	19.00	219.00	18.25
300	23.04	323,04	26.92
400	29.00	429.00	35.75
500	35.08	535.08	44.59
600	41.04	641.04	53.42
700	47.00	747.00	62.25
800	53.08	853.08	71.09
900	59.04	959.04	79.92

How You Can BORROW at HOUSEHOLD

1. Whether or not you have furniture or a car you can borrow here if you can make regular monthly payments.
2. Payments are small. For example, the first payment on $100 is $8—the last payment is $5.15 on a twenty month schedule. Other amounts in proportion.
3. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
4. You can secure the money quickly—the same day if you apply before 9 o'clock.
5. Rate on loans above $100 is less than the lawful maximum.
6. Repay at any time and reduce the cost.
7. Private offices. Your problem will have our sympathetic attention.
